Society's International Magazine

Palm Beach Life

AUGUST 30 1959

PRICE 50 CENTS

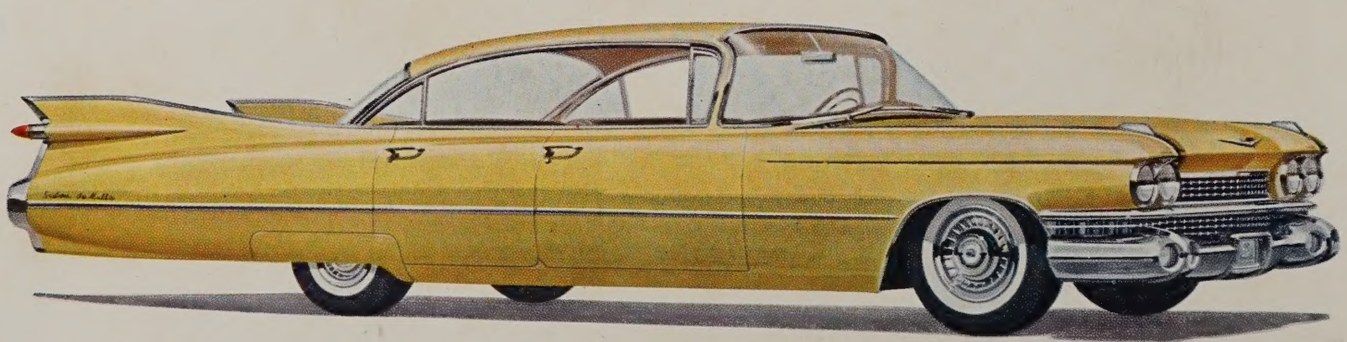
AMERICA'S OLDEST SOCIETY JOURNAL

gowns by Philip Hulitar

When a man approaches Cadillac ownership, he usually does so in full awareness of the car's great beauty and luxury and performance. And yet, he frequently assumes that he will have to forego the added virtues of economy and practicality. In reality, nothing could be farther from the truth. With regard to maintenance and efficiency—Cadillac is among the most frugal of motor cars. And from a standpoint of value received—and value retained—Cadillac is in a class of its own making. So if you are about to choose Cadillac—remember that you can do so not only for your pride and satisfaction, but without compromising your practical judgement in any way. You are invited to visit your Cadillac dealer—and listen to the full, wonderful story as you relax in the driver's seat.

CADILLAC MOTOR CAR DIVISION • GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION
EVERY WINDOW OF EVERY CADILLAC IS SAFETY PLATE GLASS

The choice without a compromise... Cadillac



Martha

Savoy Hilton Hotel • New York 230 Worth Avenue • Palm Beach Americana Hotel • Miami Beach

Ta-boó is one of America's truly notable places to dine

Jim Peterson

PALM BEACH LIFE

Volume LII Number 8

THURSDAY, AUGUST 20, 1959

CONTENTS

NARRAGANSETT	12-16
PALM BEACH	19-20
CONNECTICUT TO CAPE COD	21
WHITE MOUNTAIN TENNIS	21
"MARYMEAD"	22
BULLETS AND BALLS	23
NEW YORK SOCIETY	24-26
MARTHA'S VINEYARD	27
WASHINGTON SOCIETY	28-33
CARIBBEAN PREVIEW	34
CAT CAY TOURNAMENT	35-39
NANTUCKET	40
MIAMI	41
PONTE VEDRA	42-43
THE VICIOUS CYCLE	43
CAPE COD	44
BERMUDA'S THEATRE	45
EDGEWATER GULF HOTEL	46-48
FORT LAUDERDALE	49-50
NEWPORT	51-53
SARASOTA	54-56
SUMMER BALL AT CHICAGO	57-58
NEWPORT'S SCHOOLS	59-60
HOT SPRINGS, ARKANSAS	61-62
THE WIANNO CLUB	63
SEIGNIORY CLUB	64-65
PEE WEE GOLF	66-67
ISLANDS OF DESIRE	68-71
BELMONT SPRING BALL	72

THOMAS E. PENICK
Editor

DONALD S. GREENLIEF
Business Manager

The Cover — The Spanish Village at Pensacola, a part of Florida's Quadricentennial Celebration — See Page 9.

PALM BEACH LIFE is published and printed eight issues each season; two in Jan., two in Feb., two in Mar., one in July, one in August, by the Palm Beach News and Life, Inc., of Palm Beach, Fla. John H. Perry Jr., President and Chairman of the Board; F. W. Perry, Vice-President; W. W. Atterbury Jr., Treasurer; George Wm. Archer, Publisher. Copyright 1959 by Palm Beach News and Life, Inc. Entered at Tallahassee, Fla., Dec. 15, 1906. Entered as second-class matter, Feb. 8, 1915, at the Post Office at Palm Beach, Fla., under the act of March 3, 1879. Single issue 50c per copy. Season subscription (8 issues), $3.90. Postage paid in the United States, Canada, Alaska, Mexico, Panama, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Guam and the Philippines. Postage to other foreign countries, $1 extra. A class publication of society, chronicling news and views of Cottage Colony, Hotel, Club, Sports and cultural events of residents and visitors to Palm Beach and the Florida East Coast Winter resorts and the Northern Summer resorts.

Cherished Gifts

FINE JEWELRY

WATCHES

SILVERWARE

Edward Flanagan

JEWELERS

TELE. TE 3-6997

247 WORTH AVENUE PALM BEACH, FLORIDA

Open All Summer

Insurance

Your Hartford Agent

•

MORTGAGE LOANS

•

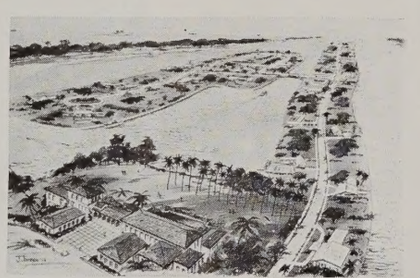
Wright & Seaton, Inc.

George O. Wright — Bill Orrison
Clyde H. Seaton — David Baldwin
Horton McCampbell — Howard Hanson

GUARANTY BLDG.

WEST PALM BEACH, FLA.

TE 2-6103



From the many unseen, but vitally important, engineering safety features to the careful placement of trees and shrubs, Point Manalapan is unfolding according to the master plan. Consider this exclusive Club community when you are determining your Florida address.

Seldom has a community been planned with so much concern for the lasting pleasure of its residents.

POINT MANALAPAN

For colorful brochure telling the story of Point Manalapan, write today.

POINT MANALAPAN

DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION
250 S. County Rd., Palm Beach

RICHARD'S BEAUTY STUDIO

we know a french secret!

Caryl Richards

Tiki DE PARIS

la permanente magnifique

Waves, Conditions and Shampoos the hair all in One operation!

Phone TE 2-8807

137 BRADLEY PL.

PALM BEACH

Summer Prices Now Prevail

There's only one

PBT

Palm Beach Towers

Palm Beach, Florida

In Palm Beach, TEmple 3-5761

STERLING COFFEE SERVICE

3-piece Sterling After-Dinner Coffee Service in a charming and highly favored design. Sugar and Creamer are gilt-lined . . . capacity of pot, 12 demi-tasse cups. $140

Plummer LTD

240 WORTH AVENUE, PALM BEACH

New York New Haven

Florida's Foremost Four Season Resort

PONTE VEDRA CLUB

★ THE INN
★ THE GOLF CLUB
★ THE SURF CLUB

See Your Travel Agent or Robert F. Warner, Inc.
New York • Boston
Washington • Chicago
Toronto

Ponte Vedra

PONTE VEDRA BEACH
FLORIDA

FOR OUTSTANDING TRUST SERVICES IN THE PALM BEACHES

We always welcome opportunities to explain how this institution may help you and your family with your estate problems and financial problems related thereto.

Experienced officers are always available for conferences at such time and place as may suit your own convenience. Inquiries by mail or telephone are invited.

ATLANTIC NATIONAL BANK of WEST PALM BEACH

CORNER DATURA AND OLIVE • WEST PALM BEACH, FLORIDA

Member Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation • Member Federal Reserve System

Telephone TEmple 3-2581

THE

Most-Talked-About Shop in Town

Anna Flower Shops
CHICAGO — PALM BEACH

Unique Gifts
Creations in Flowers
Distinctive Service

315A Royal Poinciana Plaza
TE 2-3702

You'll love this new lipstick shade . . . its clear, bright color; the beautiful sheen of all Miss Arden's lipsticks; the way it goes on and stays on; its soothing creaminess. You'll love the Pure Pink rouge, too . . . a little lighter, a little more delicate than the lipstick. The Pure Pink coordinated make-up includes: Click-Change Lipstick, 1.75; Rouge, 2.00; Nail Lacquer, 1.00; Veiled Radiance, 10.00; Invisible Veil, 2.75 to 5.00; Eyebrow Pencil, 2.50; Mascara, 3.00; Eye Liner, 1.00; Eye Shado, 2.00; Eyebrow and Eyelash Pomade, 1.25. All prices plus tax

Elizabeth Arden Salon

667 Lincoln Road, JE 2-2383, JE 8-1235 • 9592 Harding Avenue, UN 5-3586, UN 5-3547 • 2 Via Parigi, TE 3-5681

The Palm Beach Terrace
the complete resort hotel

Accentuating the Charm that is Palm Beach —

Palm Beach's Newest and Most Modern Hotel

OPEN ALL YEAR

- Hotel Rooms
- Studio Efficiencies
- Oceanfront Suites
- Complete Hotel Service
- Game Rooms
- Polo Cocktail Lounge
- Television
- Orchid Room For Dining
- Swimming Pool
- Putting Green
- Shuffleboard
- Private Beach

Convention and party facilities up to 200 are provided in The Cotillion Room. Ideal for your meeting.

Completely Air Conditioned

THE PALM BEACH TERRACE HOTEL

2830 So. Ocean Blvd.
JU 2-5381

R. Clarke Campbell
General Manager

Au Bon Gout
(THE HOUSE OF GOOD TASTE)

- Antiques
- Unusual Gifts
- Flying Saucers
- Flower Containers
- Table Accessories

15 Via Mizner

Phone TE 3-4159

Palm Beach, Florida

Douglas Lorie
INCORPORATED

Worth Avenue TE 2-1714 Palm Beach

Spanish Hog Fish
Sargent Major

Four Eyed Butterfly Fish
Banded Butterfly Fish

From our Collection of Royal Worcester Tropical Fish Designed and Modelled by
R. VAN RUYCKEVELT

"Nothing but the best for me Orkin keeps my home pest free"!

For the Best in

PEST CONTROL
TERMITE CONTROL
SANITATION SERVICES

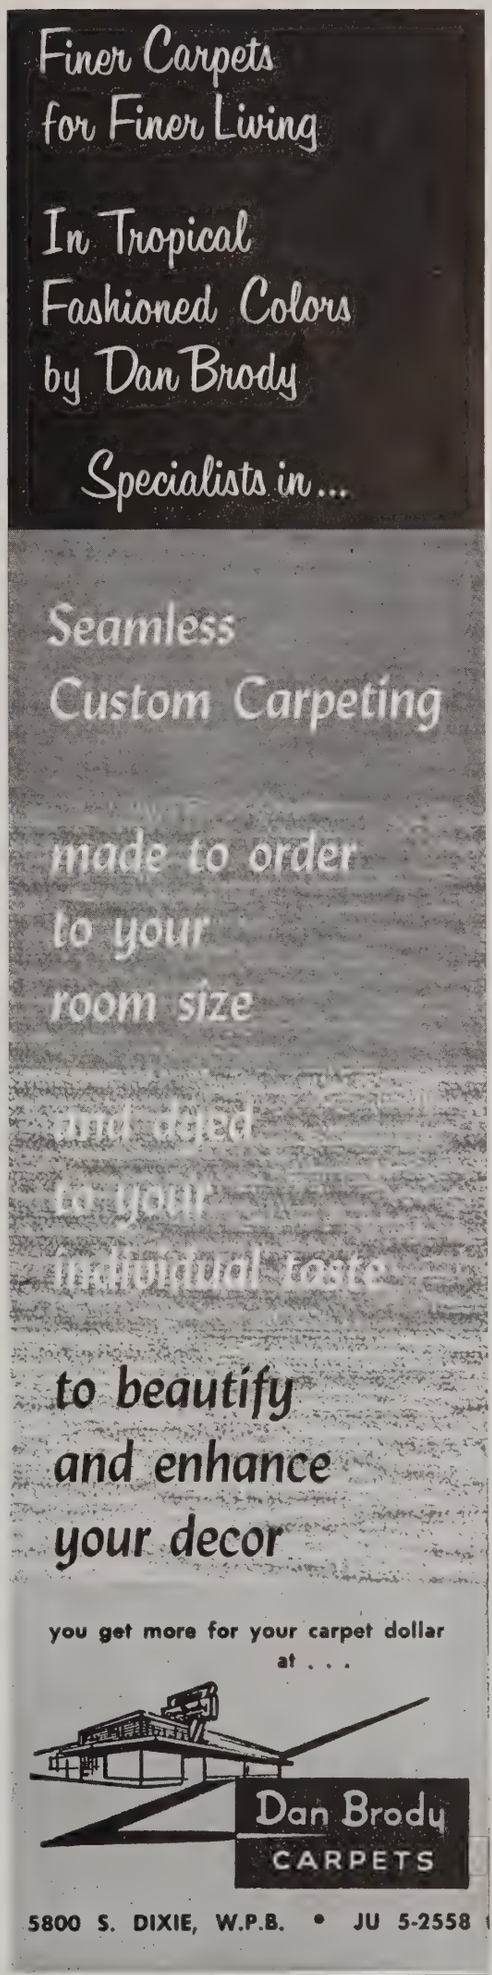
CALL "Otto" THE ORKIN MAN

SINCE 1901

CONSULT THE TELEPHONE DIRECTORY
FOR THE ORKIN OFFICE NEAREST YOU

Spanish Florida at Pensacola as State Celebrates "Quadri"

Florida is celebrating its quadricentennial, celebrations opening the seven-year-long festivities starting May 13 at Pensacola. There, exposition buildings were constructed on Santa Rosa Island, site of the colony established by Don Tristan de Luna for Spain in 1559. The cover picture is that of the Spanish Village of 1723, a feature of the Santa Rosa fort. It was prepared from sketches made 250 years ago by a traveling reproduced by architects and builders from paintings and sketches, studied in Cuba and Mexico for accuracy and detail. All 15 buildings are authentically furnished, including the fort, which has 16 guns. Pensacola is celebrating the Quadri through this year, with other Florida cities planning following celebrations. The observance ends at St. Augustine in 1965.



LA COQUILLE CLUB

Randsworth

SPORT COATS OF IMPORTED
100%
PURE SILK
Expertly Tailored and Available in Regular, Shorts and Longs in Blue,
Wine, Grey and Champagne Brown
$80.00

TRAVEL-REX
IMPORTED SLACKS
All Sizes and Colors
$40.00

Browning King & Co.
APPAREL FOR GENTLEMEN
SINCE 1822

264 South Country Road at Phipps Plaza

Enjoy...

the unmatched facilities of this spacious and luxurious hotel

SWIMMING POOL
BEACH CLUB
COCKTAILS DINING NAME BANDS
GOLF COURSE
TENNIS COURTS
BOATING
BINGO
SURF BATHING CONCERTS RACING

and Relax

in lovely air-conditioned rooms with twin beds, bath and showers

FORMAL GARDENS
COURTEOUS SERVICE
CARD PARTIES LECTURES
MOTION PICTURES
COCKTAIL HOUR
PRIVATE BEACH
PUTTING GREEN
PROMENADE
WEST INDIA ROOM
CABANA TERRACE
MODERATE RATES

For information write Manager, Reservations, PALM BEACH BILTMORE, Palm Beach, Florida or consult your local travel agent at the fashionable

PALM BEACH Biltmore

New York Office: Waldorf-Astoria, PLaza 9-7250

DANIEL E. TAYLOR, President JAMES J. FARRELL, General Manager

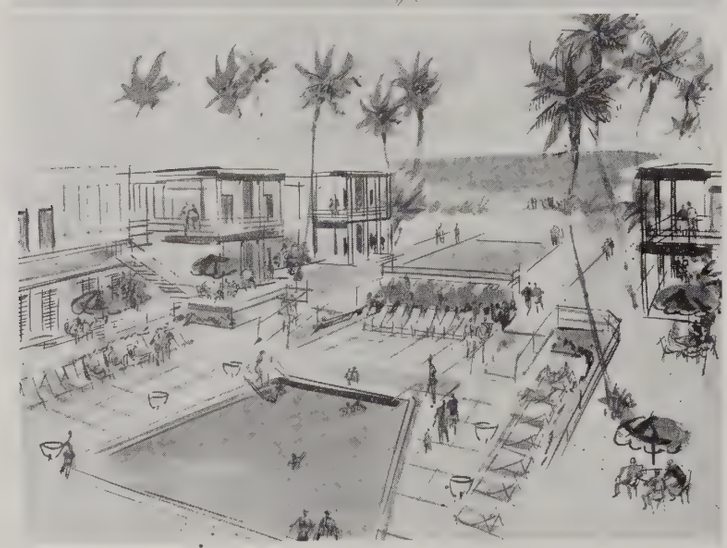
Pour les Connaisseurs



THE SEA BREEZE
HOTEL and VILLAS
ON THE OCEAN
Palm Beach

Maurice B. Frank
President

Frank Williams
General Manager

Bradford Bachrach

Mrs. Richard Buckner Jordan, the former Constance Burch Eddy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Potter Eddy of Providence and Narragansett, whose marriage to Mr. Jordan, of Fresno, Calif., was a late spring event in Providence. The couple are residing in Fresno.

Bradford Bachrach

Miss Jane Elizabeth Shevlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Shevlin of Pound Hill Road, North Smithfield, R. I., and Narragansett, recently presented to society at the Colony Debutante Ball at the Hotel Somerset in Boston. Miss Shevlin is a graduate of the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart in Newton, Mass.

Narragansett

NARRAGANSETT AND ITS SURROUNDING RESORT communities got off to an early start this season. By July 4, activities had been in full swing for several weeks. The July 4 weekend saw the town crowded and because of the demand for accommodations in Newport by Jazz Festival patrons over its four-day period, many came by bridge and ferry as far as Narragansett for the nights of the festival.

Center of social activities was the Dunes Club where, for the three nights of the July 4 weekend there were three parties for members and their guests. On Friday night, a buffet dinner was topped off with dancing, and an extensive program of fireworks started at 9. A formal dinner dance took up Saturday night and another buffet dinner was set for Sunday night.

Repeating a plan that found favor in two recent summers, the club, instead of having a resident orchestra, alternated each week with a variety of musicians from Boston as far south as Fort Lauderdale, which was represented by the Bob Delphia orchestra. Most Fridays had dinner dances for the juniors.

The little fishing village of Galilee, near Point Judith in Narragansett, again took on the title of tuna-capital of the world this month when 140 sports fishing boats from 40 Atlantic Coast clubs gathered there for the 17th annual U. S. Atlantic Tuna Tournament, the seventh consecutive out of Narragansett. Last year, 122 boats were entered, the record number to date. This year's 140 were record-shattering.

Point Judith Country Club has been a busy place with a varied program of tournaments which will end on Labor Day with play for the Granville Kane Cup.

The Narragansett area, annually having present and past Rhode Island Governors, lost one of its regulars this year when U. S. Senator and Mrs. John O. Pastore did not return to their Clark Road cottage. Still, former Governor Dennis J. Roberts was at his cottage on Ocean Road, former Governor J. Howard McGrath opened his summer home off Old Point Judith Road on the short of Salt Pond, and former Governor Norman Stanley Case was in nearby Wakefield.

Mrs. Eugene Allen Noble of New York City returned to Villa Nostra on Ocean Road for the summer. Her sons, Albert E. Lownes and E. John Lownes Jr., both of Providence, and their families, are at their nearby summer homes on Ocean Road.

Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Goddard of Providence are at their Ocean Road cottage but their son, R. H. I. Goddard Jr., and Mrs. Goddard have not opened their summer home on Ministerial Road in South

Available at

BERGDORF GOODMAN JULIUS GARFINCKEL

TRIBUTE SHOP JOHN WANAMAKER

ORVILLE BULMAN

RECENT PAINTINGS

October First through October Fourteenth

GALLERIE ANDRE WEIL
PARIS

Holland-American Line

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Philo Perkins of "Garden Court" in Narragansett, aboard Holland-American line Nieuw Amsterdam just before sailing for Europe.

Eileen McClure

Miss Gail Regis Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Douglas of Pawtucket and "Fairlawn" in Narragansett, who have announced her engagement to Robert James Richard, son of Mrs. Henry L. Richard and the late Mr. Richard of Pawtucket. A Sept. 26 wedding is planned. Miss Douglas attended Salve Regina College in Newport and Mr. Richard attended Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

Kingstown. With their sons, Robert H. I. Goddard III, William H. D. Goddard, Thomas P. I. Goddard and Moses B. I. Goddard, they sailed in June for three months in Europe.

Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Potter Eddy III of Providence are at their Ocean Road home with a depleted family as two of their daughters —who were married in June—are now living in California.

Mrs. George Peabody of Westport, Conn., is occupying "The Barnacle" on Boston Neck Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stevenson, whose winter home is in Delray Beach, Florida are at their home in Wildfield Farm Drive, on the Cliffs.

Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, who was her plantation on Wadmalow Island, S. C., during the winter, is spending the late summer at her cottage on South Pier Road, after returning from an African cruise.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Vare of Merion, Pa., are at their cottage on Boston Neck Road.

Philip S. P. Randolph of Southern Pines arrived in June for the summer.

Judge and Mrs. Harold C. Arcaro of Providence opened their summer home on Boston Neck Road in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Bigler of New York City are occupying their Boston Neck Road cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Little of Providence are at their beachfront cottage in the Dunes Club area.

Dr. and Mrs. Francis L. Burns of Providence are at "Little Barnacle" on Boston Neck Road for another season.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred I. Brown Jr., and their daughters of Cincinnati, Ohio, arrived in June to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spain Shy at Sea-Winnochs in Cowessett. Mrs. Brown and the children are spending the summer there.

A wedding of interest to Narragansett and Peace Dale folk took place in the spring in Oak Park, Ill., when Miss Margaret Caroline Houck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Elmer Houck of Oak Park became the bride of Eric Robert Coats Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Parsons Smith of Stone House, Peace Dale. Mr. and Mrs. J. Vaughn Merrick of Matunuck and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis B. Brooks of Narragansett were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Warren Pershing were June arrivals at their cottage, "Quarter Deck," on Ocean Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Tracy of Coeyman's Hollow, N. Y., have the Peabody cottage on Boston Neck Road for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm E. Read of Providence are at their cottage on Newton Avenue, near the Cliffs.

Presenting

300

SOUTH OCEAN BOULEVARD COOPERATIVE APARTMENT HOMES

IN THE TIME-HONORED TRADITION OF PALM BEACH

300 South Ocean Boulevard Cooperative Apartment Homes provides unexcelled facilities for gracious living—so very much in keeping with the revered atmosphere of Palm Beach. Ideally located at Brazilian Avenue and South Ocean Boulevard, they overlook the Atlantic Ocean with its ever-changing colors and moods.

Elegantly planned for the most luxurious tastes, forty 5-room and 6-room apartment homes occupy the first five floors with five magnificent penthouse homes atop the structure.

Heated fresh or salt water pool is made even more enjoyable by adjoining lounge, heated and air conditioned, card rooms, pool-side dressing rooms, showers, etc.

Magnificent Spaciousness Characterizes Each Apartment Home.

ELEGANCE UNLIMITED IN THE PENTHOUSE HOMES

The 300 South Ocean Boulevard Apartment Homes, crowned with penthouses of stunning elegance, are collectively, a monument to the great traditions of easy and gracious living so inherent in Palm Beach.

Consider these Unique Features:

- Located on the Ocean in the center of fabulous Palm Beach, with a magnificent view from all apartments.
- Property will be held in fee simple by corporation. There will be no mortgage on land or buildings upon completion thereof.
- Soundproof, hurricane and fireproof construction from the finest materials available.
- Sliding interior doors throughout the building.
- Spaciously planned apartment homes and penthouses with maximum exposure to the gentle, cooling Atlantic breezes.
- Enclosed terraces that add an extra room—and open terraces as well.
- Two luxurious passenger elevators and a service-freight elevator.
- Each apartment with its own individually controlled heating and air conditioning system.
- Attractive entrance with day and night doorman.
- A staffed lower level garage giving 24-hour service. Receiving clerk.
- Heated fresh or salt water pool with poolside dressing rooms and showers, heated air conditioned lounge, card rooms, private lockers for each owner.
- All-electric kitchens fully equipped with the finest modern appliances including dishwasher, clothes washer and dryer.
- Walk-in closets of sufficient size to accommodate your wardrobe.
- 9-foot ceiling with cross ventilation in all apartments.
- Lush tropical landscaping.
- Conveniently located to the shopping, dining and entertainment centers of Palm Beach.
- One million eighty thousand dollars worth of apartments were sold before construction was started.

Prices are based on size and location of each individual apartment home. All prospective owners must be approved prior to acceptance. Operation will be controlled by a Board of Owner-Directors. Each owner will share in the general expense of operation, being responsible only for the assessment of his individual apartment.

It is planned that these apartment homes will be ready for occupancy during the month of December, 1959.

For more detailed information write Corporate agent, 111 Brazilian Avenue, Palm Beach, Florida for brochure, or Call TEmple 3-4300, Palm Beach.

Mrs. Drexel Cromwell of New York City is at her cottage on Earle's Court for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thurber of Providence have the Watts Cottage on Central Street for the summer.

Summer registrants at Green Inn, on Ocean Road, included Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Allen of Naugatuck, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Talbert and family of Brooklandville, Md., and Mrs. Lester Noble of San Francisco, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Leo McGinn of West Warwick, R. I., are there for the month of August.

Mrs. David Baker of Greenwich, Conn., is at her cottage on Whale Rock Point.

Mrs. Drexel Cromwell of New York City has a cottage on Earle's Court Road for the season.—HENRY S. WHEELER.

Mrs. Horton Quinn of "Riverview", on Boston Neck Road in Narragansett, at left, president of the Rhode Island League of Women Voters. She was hostess at dinner at the League's state convention to Mrs. John G. Lee of Farmington, Conn., at right, at the Muenchinger-King Hotel in Newport.

Billy Marshall, well-known band leader at the Everglades Club in Palm Beach each winter, leads band in serenading Mrs. Charles Comiskey, Mrs. Horace H. Cobb and Mrs. Warren Barr at the Summer Ball at the Arlington Race Track.

When You Come To - - -

PALM BEACH

NEXT SEASON

Open Your Account With This Friendly Home-Owned Bank

Wiley R. Reynolds Jr.
President

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

IN PALM BEACH

264 South Ocean Blvd. 255 South County Road

Oldest and Largest Bank in the Palm Beaches

What makes Rolls-Royce the best car in the world?

"There is really no magic about it—it is merely patient attention to detail," says an eminent Rolls-Royce engineer.

1. "At 60 miles an hour the loudest noise comes from the electric clock," reports the Editor of The Motor.

2. Every Rolls-Royce engine is run for seven hours at full throttle before installation. Each car is test-driven for hundreds of miles.

3. The car has power steering, power brakes and automatic gear-shift. It is very easy to drive and to park. No chauffeur required.

4. The finished car spends a week in the final test-shop, being fine-tuned. Here it is subjected to ninety-eight separate ordeals. For example, the engineers use a stethoscope to listen for axle-whine.

5. The coachwork is given five coats of primer paint, and hand rubbed between each coat, before fourteen coats of finishing paint go on.

6. The Rolls-Royce is guaranteed for three years.

7. By moving a switch on the steering column, you can adjust the shock-absorbers to suit different road conditions.

8. There are two separate ventilating systems, so that you can ride in comfort with all windows closed. Air conditioning is optional.

9. Gasoline consumption is remarkably low and there is no need to use premium gas.

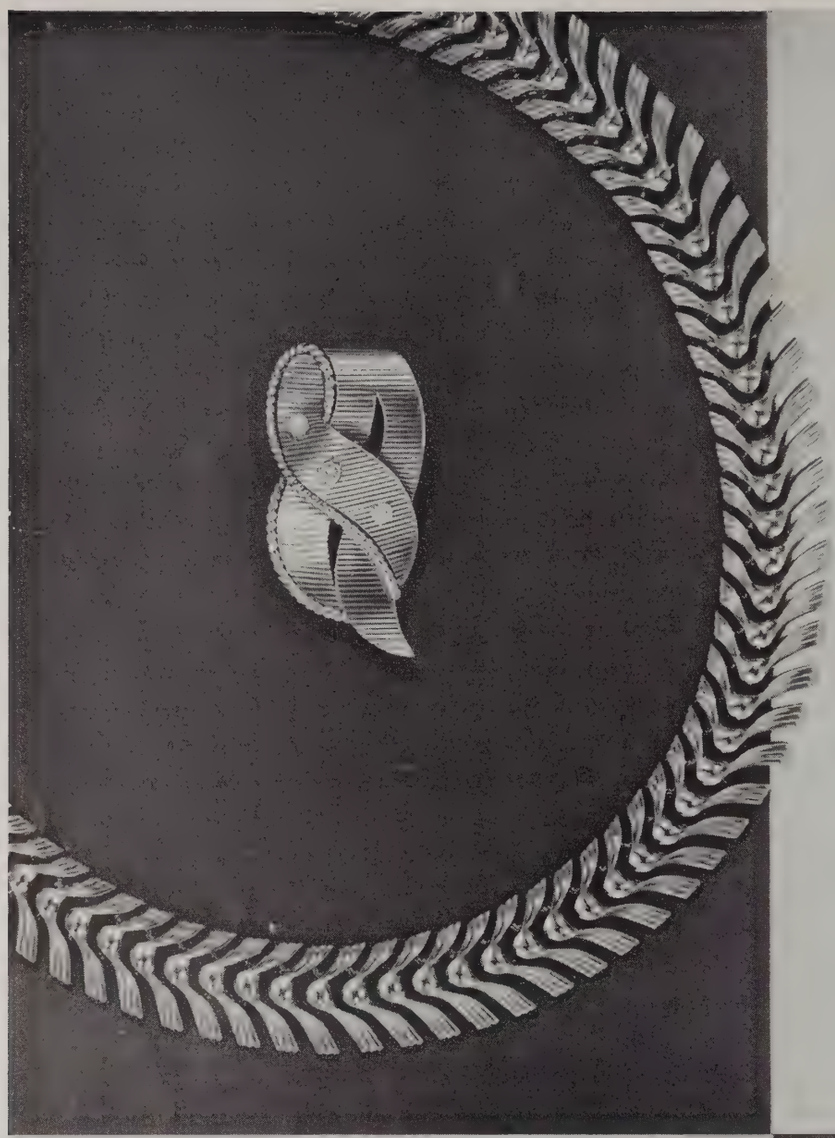
10. There are two separate systems of power brakes, hydraulic and mechanical. The Rolls-Royce is a very safe car—and also a very lively car. It cruises serenely at eighty-five. Top speed is in excess of 100 m.p.h.

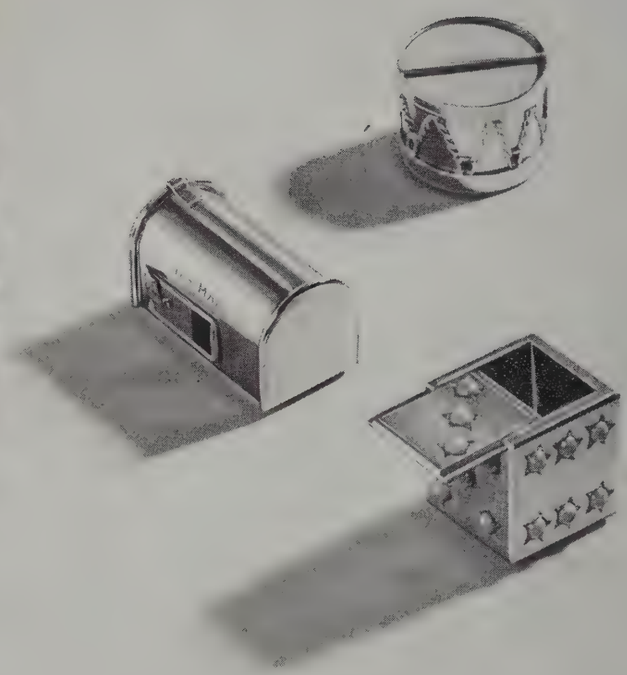
11. The Bentley is made by Rolls-Royce. Except for the radiators, they are identical, manufactured by the same engineers in the same works. The Bentley costs $300 less, because its radiator is simpler to make. People who feel diffident about driving a Rolls-Royce can buy a Bentley.

If you would like the rewarding experience of driving a Rolls-Royce or Bentley, call us today.

TAYLOR IMPORTED MOTORS

1314 South Dixie TE. 3-1738 West Palm Beach, Fla.





Cartier

INTERNATIONALLY RENOWNED JEWELLERS SINCE 1847

Gifts in 14kt Gold...

(Shown clockwise)
Fluted clip with diamonds, $300;
herringbone necklace, $540; U.S. Mail pillbox, $95; drum pillbox with rubies, $185; dice pillbox with turquoises, $300; link bracelet, $190; jewelled lovebird tag, $285; coral and turquoise hearts tag, $225; Zodiac tag with five diamonds, $165; turtle scatter pin, $280.

Shown actual size. Federal Tax included.

FIFTH AVENUE AND 52 STREET, NEW YORK 22, N. Y. PLaza 3-0111

Palm Beach in the Summer

By EMILIE KEYES

IN MID AND LATE SUMMER, Palm Beach presents a scene as shifting as the ocean sands. Almost everyone encountered at beach club, card foursomes or one of the much anticipated large parties falls into one of three classes: Poised on the verge of departure, just back from somewhere, or they're visitors. No one's static these days. Even the few who are staying down all summer in the main have some special purpose behind them.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Tripp, for instance, have passed up all idea of Europe to devote their time to remodeling their interesting garden home on Peruvian Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. George Boutet, only members of the Gubelmann clan around except for the 96-year old patriarch, William S. Gubelmann, Mrs. Boutet's father, are having a wonderful time putting last minute touches on the reconstruction job they've done at "Malmaison", in which they expect to move shortly. The Boutets bought this one-time "El Mirasol" teahouse from Mrs. Ross J. Beatty and are turning it into their dream house while living just across the street in the Lake Way home they bought from the estate of the late Dr. Harry Moses.

The rest of the family is scattered. After a fishing trip to Norway, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Gubelmann are at their new home at Centre Island, near Oyster Bay, L. I. Mrs. Norman Field (Mildred Gubelmann) is also at her Oyster Bay home while her sister, Mrs. Gerhard Wagner is at her New York apartment. The two sisters plan a trip to the Orient in the fall. The senior Mr. Gubelmann celebrated his July birthday at Mrs. Field's home on Jungle Road, where he resides.

Bert and Richard Morgan Studio

Mrs. Dodge Sloane of Palm Beach and John W. Hanes, president of the New York Racing Association, at the Belmont Spring Ball.

Among those staying well into July were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sanford, who didn't leave "Los Incas" for their summer place in Locust Valley until mid-July. They plan to go to Saratoga for the racing season, and it wouldn't be too surprising if they turned up in the fall for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. George E. Vigouroux Jr., on Nantucket. Mr. Vigouroux went abroad in early summer before he and his wife opened "Blue Waters" at Nantucket, in the interests of both the art gallery he opened on the Island under the name of "Lobster Pot" and the one he plans for Royal Poinciana Plaza here next winter.

Mrs. Granville Fortescue is one who likes winter trips and summers in Palm Beach. She is at her house on Island Road, and with her is her granddaughter, Vikki Visknisski, who celebrated her birthday with a party for young friends the same week she got her new job with the Royal Poinciana Playhouse Summer Workshop. Mrs. Fortescue's daughter, Mrs. Helene Reynolds, has been in the Orient during much of the summer.

Mrs. Larry Waterbury, who leaves Palm Beach only for late summer trips, and her son, Reginald Boardman, took off for California in mid-July on a trip to the Orient. Her brother, Charles Munn and his wife, closed "Amado" in the early summer and will be abroad for some time, while Gurnee Munn is at "The Lodge." Gurnee Munn Jr., has been busy with the house he bought here.

Among those going to Europe early were Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Phillips, who returned in July to their home on Sea Breeze Avenue after travels in England, France and Italy. Mrs. W. Ambrose McGee sailed in May for several weeks on the Continent, returning to New York July 13th on the "United States." She was met in Holland by her daughter, Miss Martha McGee, who had been studying and traveling since last September in Europe. The two were met in New York by Dr. McGee on their return, and the three with young William McGee, had the first family reunion in almost a year at the home on Bahama Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray S. Foster, missing for the late winter season, returned in early summer from Cuernavaca, Mexico, before going to Maine for the summer.

Another couple who prefer winter trips and Palm Beach summers are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Pardridge. After their daughter, Pamela, went to Camp Greystone, in Tuxedo, N. C., they remained with Debra at the family residence on Sea Breeze Avenue until time for an August stay in North Carolina before returning with Pamela.

The Italian line strike had some effect on summer plans for a few Palm Beachers. Mrs. A. Parker Bryant and young daughter, Leslie, finally flew to Italy instead of sailing, to meet Miss Bernita Bryant, who has been in school in Florence. Mr. Bryant later flew to join the family for some traveling.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert K. Allard got as far as a "bon voyage" party aboard the "Gulio Cesare", but when it became evident it could not sail, they decided to pass up San Remo for an American vacation at a camp at Saunderstown, R. I., overlooking the Pettaquamscutt Sound.

Mr. and Mrs. Mario de Tullio are spending the late summer in Italy.

Bert and Richard Morgan Studio

Mrs. Robert L. Wicker.

Bert and Richard Morgan Studio

Mrs. Messmore Kendall.

Miss Barbara Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams of Palm Beach, a senior at Rosarian Academy.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hollingsworth remained late before leaving for a few weeks in New York, with a salmon fishing trip for Mr. Hollingsworth and a stay at Maine Chance for her, before flying for another African trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Marron went to Brielle, N. J., before leaving in July for a month of fishing in Spanish waters at the invitation of the Spanish government.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Sinclaire reversed their usual schedule and went to Elkhorn Ranch in the Gallatin Valley of Montana before leaving for Europe.

Mrs. Frederick Morrish accompanied her daughter, Miss Olivia DeBlen Morrish to Italy, but returned in July, leaving Miss Morrish in Italy. Mr. and Mrs. William E. Feek Sr., sailed in June from Port Everglades for a global tour lasting until mid-September.

Mrs. William R. Borough sailed August 5th from New York, accompanied by her daughter, Gail Gorton, and Laurie Harding, daughter of Mrs. Richard Newhafer of Palm Beach. Laurie is to enter school in Italy and Gail in Switzerland, while Mrs. Borough completes her travels before returning to this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Letts flew July 18th on a flight sponsored by the Atlantic Branch of the English-Speaking Union, for a month in England and Scotland.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Battin have been in Europe since mid-June. Mrs. Urban Harris, who plans to return to Palm Beach in time for The Breakers opening December 20th, sailed in June for Europe, accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Judy Kersting.

Mrs. John H. Perry Sr., sailed in June on the "Liberte" for a European summer. LeRay Berdau was among the earliest departees for the Continent, sailing in mid-May.

Two couples who took a Bahama island cruise were Mr. and Mrs. James dePeyster and Mr. and Mrs. George S. Rasmussen. The former later went to Paradise Ranch in Wyoming, and the latter to their home in New Hampshire. Mrs. Rasmussen's father, William Watt Jr., took an automobile trip to New England, then to the Far West.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Markham Langham remained until late July before going to Lake Placid Club. They were joined at the Club by Mr. and Mrs. Allan B. Lane, who had spent the mid-summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Williamson went to Paris, Ky., where on August 1st they attended the wedding of Mrs. Williamson's son, Charleton Clay Cox, to Miss Bonnie Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chauncey altered their usual summer routine to make a first trip to Nantucket Island, especially to attend the reunion of the Macy family, of which Mr. Chauncey is a descendant, held during 300th anniversary activities there.

North Carolina and New England drew many, while others like Dr. and Mrs. Younger Staton and son, Jimmy, chose a long Western motor trip. Frank T. Quigley spent some time in Washington before he and his wife took off for Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Falk omitted Europe to visit Sapphire Valley, N. C., then the Homestead. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Fuller and daughter Ellen, went as usual to Buck Hill Falls.

Arda and Drew Johnston IV, who with their mother Mrs. Nancy Johnston of Washington, were guests for several weeks of their grandmother, Mrs. Drew Johnston.

Henry C. Engels Studio

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward McNeill Jr., of Montclair, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence Bama McNeill (above), to Daniel Upton Livermore Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Upton Livermore of Blacksburg, Va. Miss McNeill, a graduate of the Kimberley School in Montclair, is a Junior at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va. Mr. Livermore, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of William and Mary, will attend Law School there next year. A September wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice B. Frank of the Sea Breeze and Ambassador Villas, also the Beach and Tennis Club. Mr. Frank acquired the properties last spring, and Mr. Williams is manager.

Bert and Richard Morgan Studio

John Lane, Mrs. Frank Kemp Quigley, Mrs. Alexis Obolensky Jr., Gordon Copp, in front of Royal Poinciana Plaza.

Connecticut to Cape Cod

By GEORGE WARREN

SEA, SAND, AND SALT AIR this summer blended with the gay lilt of resort life, as the sun sashayed across golden beaches, and summer resorters, following the habits of yore, headed for their favorite haunts from Connecticut to Cape Cod during July and August.

There is a network of large and small resorts throughout this entire seacoast area. Most are closely linked with residential areas, and among the outstanding are three distinguished resorts, all strikingly different, with definitive personalities of their own, located in such divergent spots as Pine Orchard, Conn., and on the South Shore of Cape Cod at Osterville and West Harwich-by-the-Sea.

• THE SHELDON HOUSE •

One of the many pleasures of visiting the Sheldon House will unveil itself when you meet Carl Graves, who has managed it for over ten years, and his lovely wife, Helen Graves. The Sheldon House then becomes more than a charming century-old New England inn by-the-sound, and takes on the atmosphere of a private home. Carl and Helen Graves are the proof that "old-fashioned innkeeping is still in keeping," and even sing and dance for their guests at an informal cocktail party which they host on the lawn every Sunday evening.

Situated 14 miles east of New Haven at Pine Orchard, The Sheldon House is only for resorters looking for a quiet haven, and you have to want to really find it, for there are few signs to indicate that Pine Orchard even exists. Once you do, it will be a love affair at first sight.

The Pine Orchard Yacht and Country Club adjoins the Sheldon House property, and guests of the hotel have privileges on the excellent 9-hole golf course and tennis courts, of which there are many, and all in excellent condition. Saturday evenings, traditionally, there are dances at the Club to which guests of the Sheldon House are invited.

This was the busiest summer in Sheldon's history, and many of the guests returned not for the second season, but for the tenth and twentieth season. In fact, in many instances the now married children of Sheldonites have taken up the custom.

• OYSTER HARBORS CLUB •

The Oyster Harbors Club lies but a half-hour from the Bourne Bridge at Osterville, between Falmouth and Hyannis, and is in what can be considered the most enchanting area of the Cape, from a civilized viewpoint, so to speak. The Club is centered on its own private estate of exquisitely-groomed homes, beautiful lawns, rose gardens, and pine trees reaching to the sky. Managed by Don Church, The Club is the epitome of perfection in the resort world, as is the Belleview Biltmore in Belleair, Florida, which he operates for Bernard Powell, owner, in the winter.

It is also the most complete seacoast resort in New England, south of Boston. No other resort can boast of its own 18-hole golf course, with golf club house right at the door. In addition, it has a wonderful salt water bay swimming and a white sands beach on its other side, which in this instance cannot be described as the "back door", since lowely lawns completely surround the club.

It is also the most complete seacoast resort in New England, south of Boston. No other resort can boast of its own 18-hole golf course, with golf club house right at the door. In addition, it has a wonderful salt water bay for swimming, and white sand beach on its other side, which in this instance cannot be described as the "back door", since lovely lawns completely surround the club.

An air of gracious living pervades the Oyster Harbors Club, but at the same time informality in the most pleasant sense of the word, reigns supreme. If you don't want to change for luncheon, the golf course club house serves active sports enthusiasts.

• THE BELMONT •

This year The Belmont is being managed by Kenneth Arnold, popular international hotelier. Its newest addition is a $150,000 cocktail lounge, which is circular, and has a view of the sea from almost every place in the room.

It is set in luxurious gardens, and has a beach that is unique on the Cape, in that it really fulfills the promise given to the Cape's beaches by the Norsemen, who were its first resorters in 1003, and named them "wonder strands." The beach has a very gentle slope into Nantucket Sound, and never an undertow. The crystal-clear waters average a comfortable 72 degrees all summer.

Centered on the beach is a smart Beach Pavillion, with its celebrated Ocean Grille, scene of informal lunching and lounging. The Belmont's cuisine is outstanding and exciting. It features Cape Cod's own delicacies—lobsters, clams, and fish fresh from the nets of Cape Cod's own fishing fleets.

Evenings Mr. Arnold schedules a full program of events and entertainment, with cocktail dancing in the new lounge becoming the popular "thing."

White Mountain Tennis Championships

AT THE WAUMBEK JEFFERSON, NEW HAMPSHIRE

THE WAUMBEK, which bills itself as a true "north woods inn", unquestionably is in the real north woods at Jefferson, N. H. replete with dynamic and contemplative scenery all in one package, but it is also a complete luxury resort in every sense of the word.

Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Kenyon, and open until Columbus Day so guests can enjoy the beauties of the flaming foliage season, the Waumbek this year is celebrating its 99th season of operation. It would be in for its 100th Anniversary Year, but it was closed one season during World War II. Shortly after this it was bought by the late popular resort owner, Herbert Malcolm (also of Hillsboro Club fame in Florida) because he liked to climb Waumbek Mountain. Mr. Malcolm also liked to play tennis, which accounts for the fact that it has the finest tennis courts in northern New England.

Golf too is extremely popular at the Waumbek, and a favorite sport of Mr. Kenyon, who keeps this 18-hole course in top-notch condition.

It was the White Mountains Tennis Championships which kicked off its social season over Fourth of July weekend, to a record number of contestants and guests.

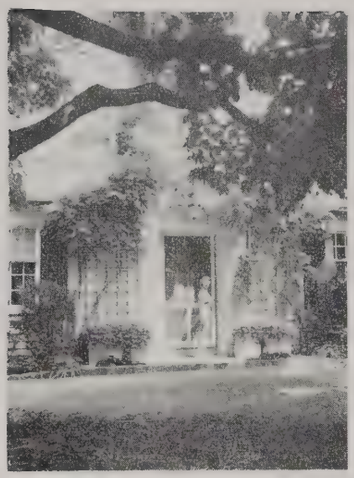
Miss Lois Felix of Meridan, Conn., won the Women's Singles Championship besting Miss Kay Hubbell 4-6, 6-0, and 6-2. Both Misses Felix and Hubbell were among the seeded players as well as Mrs. Arklay Richards of Waban, Mass., and Miss Lois Rockwell of Conway, N. H., who came through to the quarter finals.

William Power took the Men's Singles Championship scoring 6-4, 6-3, and 6-0 over Paul Sullivan.

The Men's Doubles was won by H. Salaun of Cambridge, Mass. and William Power of Newton, Mass., with a score of 6-8, 6-4, and 7-5 defeating Don Manchester of Waban, Mass. and Al Everts of Newton, Mass.

The Mixed Doubles Championship was carried off by Miss Lois Felix and M. Blanchard scoring 6-2 and 8-6 over Mr. and Mrs. Arklay Richards.

Recent guest arrivals at The Waumbek include Mrs. William Osborn Baker of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Lewis B. Ballantyne of W. Orange, N. J.; Mrs. I. W. Bonbright, Englewood, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Max Borges Jr., of Havana, Cuba; Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Crowe of Larchmont, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eastman, Greenwich, Conn.; George Howe, Chappaqua, N. Y.; Leroy H. Martin, Greenfield, Mass.; Alfred Morell and Ewing Morell, New York City; Mrs. J. J. Morsman and E. Kimball Morsman of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. William T. Plummer, Villanova, Pa.; Mrs. Edmund A. Prentis, Dr. Grieg Taber and Mrs. Walter Worrell of New York City; Mrs. Manley A. Raymond of W. Waterford, Conn.; Mrs. S. W. Schmedes and Miss Marie Mayer of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. Elizabeth J. Sherman, Brookline, Mass.; and Frank Smoyer of Allentown, Pa.



Front entrance to "Marymead", which is shadowed by an enormous beech tree, one of the oldest on Long Island, part of which can be seen here.

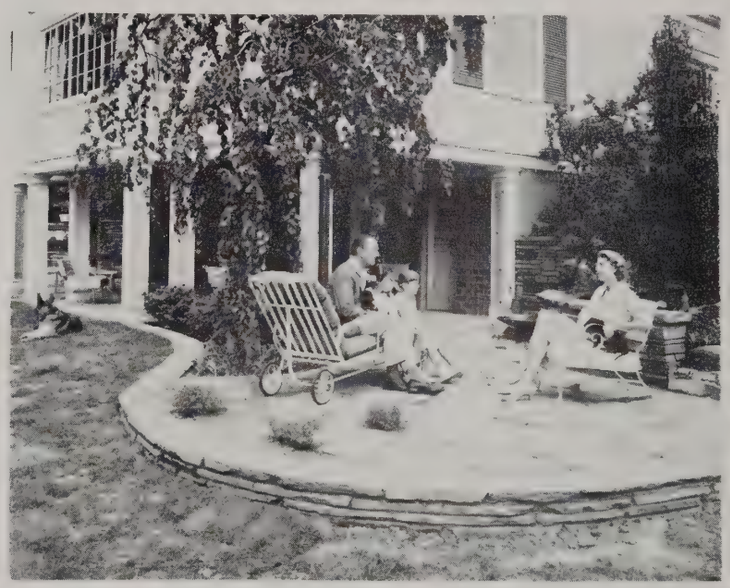
Mrs. Michael de Hulitar, widow of the late European diplomat, photographed at "Marymead" during a recent visit. Although 91 years, she continues to create the paintings for which she is famous, and signed Cosmy, an abbreviation for her name, Cosminia.

"Marymead" at Glen Cove, L. I.

Seated on wall of Outdoor Terrace alongside the new wing is Mrs. Hulitar and her two daughters, Stefani and Renee.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hulitar have added a new wing to their home, "Marymead" in the North Country Colony, Glen Cove, L. I. which contains a game room for recreation, play and informal living on the main floor, which adjoins the Solarium. On the upper floor is the children's playroom. On the lower level, are dressing rooms, shower rooms, and a bar which faces the covered outdoor terrace of this imaginative wing.

Mrs. Hulitar in the Outdoor Patio with "Leda", their German shepherd relaxed on the stone floor.



View of the Outdoor Terrace fronting the new left wing with Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hulitar and the children relaxing with their two dachsunds and German shepherd to the left.

All photos Werner Wolff from Black Star

From the left: Upper floor of new left wing is children's playroom. Second, the Game Room is 35 by 55 feet and contains every conceivable facility for recreation. The floor of random width oak pegged with mahogany is entirely free of any covering, making dancing here an easy diversion. Old timbers and beams grace the ceiling, and an inlaid brick herring-bone pattern may be seen above the fireplace. Third, this view of the Game Room faces the entrance into the Solarium of main house.

Bullets and Balls at Forest Hills

By LOUISE DU TEL

A CHARMED COUNTRY—an unspoiled land of titanic mountains, rolling meadows, pine-scented woodlands, small villages, and resort estates was the setting as Independence Day weekend speeded the summer social season in the White Mountains on its way with a roar that would have done justice to the gallant men who started it all with musket fire at Lexington and Concord.

In our present peaceable kingdom, however, the shots came from the trap fields at the Forest Hills Hotel in Franconia, N. H., as well as from its sporty nine-hole golf course and tennis court.

It was a weekend to please even the gods, for the mountain peaks were cradled in a golden cloak of sunshine as they looked down in towering splendor on the expanse of green lawns at the Forest Hills Hotel, scene of the 13th Annual Forest Hills Vacational Trap Shoot.

The Forest Hills Trap Shoot was the biggest in its history, and has taken its place as the social event which opens the season. This year there were one hundred and twenty-three entrants in the shoot as compared with eighty-four last year. Electric traps had been installed in the field beyond the hotel, which is surrounded by woodland. Here the Gun Club was headquarters for the shoot which began on July 1st and ended on the 5th.

The 100 — 16 Yard Registered Event on July 2nd was taken by Calvin L. Stinson Jr., of Birch Harbor, Maine, who broke 97 targets, with Alex Hochner of New York City runner-up with 96. In the Class A event Mr. Stinson Jr., topped the field with his 97; H. Willsie of Montreal, Canada took Class B with a 92; Mr. Hochner won Class C with a 96; Henry Pulsch of Fort Monmouth, N. J. was high in Class D with a 92.

In the 100 — Handicap Registered Event No. 2 on July 2nd, Mr. Hochner and Walter Peterson of Charlot, Vt., both broke 92 targets, while Mr. Hochner broke 25 in the shootoff to make him high man over Mr. Peterson with a 23 in the shoot-off. In the yardage groups, Mr. Hochner took the 18-19 yardage group with a 92; H. Willsie the 20-21 yardage group with a 91; and Mr. Stinson Jr., the 22-27 yardage group with an 89.

In the Forest Hills Singles Championship, 200 — 16 Yard, Registered, on July 3rd, Mr. Stinson Jr., was high with a 196, while Harry Barr Jr., of Riverside, Conn., was second with 194. A, B, C, and D classifications were taken respectively by Mr. Stinson Jr., 196; Mr. Hochner, 192; John Johns of Greenwich, Conn., 190; and T. Fawcett of New York City, 183.

Dr. Frederick A. Bowdle, Wilmington, Del., about to sink a putt in one of the Forest Hills golf tournaments at Franconia, N. H.

On the same day the Forest Hills Ladies' Championship was captured by Mrs. Louise Stimets of Woodstock, Vt. with a 95; while Mrs. W. Hochner won in her event with a 91; and T. Fawcett Jr., took the Junior Championship with a 93, and Fred Crory of Dover, N. H., won the Veteran's Championship with a 94.

July 4th the Forest Hills Doubles Championship 50 prs. — Doubles, Registered, was run off in the morning with Richard Shaughnessy of Dedham, Mass., as high man with a 91, while C. Frank Jobson of Mamaroneck, N. Y. placed first in Class I with an 83 and Happy Felton of New York City took Class 2 with a 78.

In the afternoon, Richard Shaughnessy broke 95 targets to win the Forest Hills Handicap Championship, 100 — Handicap, Registered with a 95, and 23 in the shoot-off; while Mr. Hochner placed second with a 95 and 22 in the shoot-off. Yardage trophies went to Mr. Hochner with a 95 in the 18-19 yard class; L. McCaffrey of Cherry Valley, Mass., with a 92 in the 20-21 yard class; and Richard Shaughnessy with a 95 in the 22-27 yard class.

The Forest Hills Hotel, which this year is celebrating its 75th Anniversary Year, owned by George W. Collier, one-time Wilmingtonian and Cat Cayer, and managed by Henry C. Petteys, is a delight to behold. Its white ionic columns glisten in the sun, and frame a fabulous landscape of Mt. Washington, Mt. Lafayette, Cannon Mountain, with Mt. Liberty visible in the far distance.

This year the season will end over Labor Day weekend with the second Trap Shoot of the summer, and with a Diamond Anniversary Ball on September 5th, which will be attended by many of the distinguished dignitaries of the hotel and resort world.

Recent arrivals at Forest Hills include Edward J. Fries and daughter Paula, Garden City, N. Y., who are making their fourth visit; Monsignor Robert P. Barry and brother, Lawrence, of West Somerville, Mass., who have not missed a summer since 1953; Orrin Brown of Arlington, Mass., well-known amateur golfer; S. Scott Stewart of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Campbell, the Misses Beryl and Shirley Campbell of Scarsdale, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Kerr, Chatham, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas C. Young, Fresh Meadows, N. Y.; F. Douglas Ripley, Syosett, L. I., N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Kirchner of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Badenhausen of Short Hills, N. J., were among other recent arrivals at Forest Hills, which also included Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Anderson, Manhasset, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Royal C. Kenny, Needham, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Mitchell, Ashland, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McKendrick, Needham Heights, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. George Lahey, Roslyn Heights, N. Y.; Howard F. Tyson and the Hon. Francis T. Murphy, New York City; Miss Thelma Dunn and Mrs. Theodore Dunn, Hackensack, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Sloane of New York City arrived this week for the sixth annual visit to Forest Hills, while other arrivals included Mr. and Mrs. Alfred W. Ingalls of Santa Barbara, Calif.; William C. Downing, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Leverett F. Hooper, Essex Falls, N. J., who have been visiting Forest Hills since 1952; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kriech, Staten Island, N. Y.; Mrs. Grace D. Wright, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Pierce, Edgewater Park, N. J.; Mrs. Franklin C. Bush and Miss Henrietta Gullett of Coral Gables, Fla.; Dr. Frederick E. Woodruff of St. Louis, Mo., who visited Forest Hills 20 years ago and is returning for an extended visit.

Mrs. Edith Lovett Walsh of Philadelphia has returned for her fifth visit, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren M. Boudreau are making their fourth visit to Forest Hills. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Ferriter of Springfield, Mass. were among other recent arrivals at the Forest Hills Hotel and Franconia, N. H.

Will Weissberg

Mr. and Mrs. William Paley at the Waldorf-Astoria.

New York Society

By HENRY O. DORMANN

THE NINETIETH ANNIVERSARY BALL in glamorous setting depicting a spring night at Estoril, a seaside resort near Lisbon, was held in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-East Hotel, which many of us remember as the old Ambassador, for the benefit of the New York Foundling Hospital under the Honorary Patronage of Francis Cardinal Spellman, H. E. Luis Esteves Fernandes, Portuguese Ambassador to Washington and Mme. Fernandes, and H. E. Dr. Vasco Vieira Garin, Portugal's Envoy to the United Nations, and Mme. Garin.

The Infanta Maria Antonia of Portugal, a sister to the Pretender to the throne, was chairman of the Ball, and the guests of honor were the Archduke and Archduchess Josef Arpad of Austria, who arrived at Idlewild via Lufthansas Airlines for a two-week visit to New York.

The entire Ballroom suite was transformed by Mrs. James Currie, who was in charge of the decor, into a scene of regal splendor, the addition of valuable antique articles valued at $30,000 lending an added note of elegance to the scene. These included beautiful chairs for the guests of honor lent by French and Company, additional candelabra from Charles Winston and other objects from Dino & Levy.

The Ball opened at 9 p.m. with a formal reception in the Diplomat Suite, with each guest being presented to the young Archduke and Archduchess by Baron Theo von Roth, who was in charge of arrangements for the Ball. The Archduchess wore her wedding dress of white satin, trimmed with silver lace which formed the short puffed sleeves, and heirloom jewels including a tiara of diamonds and large baroque pearls, a wedding present from her family, as well as a ruby necklace with earrings to match, which were a wedding present from Emperor Franz Josef to a great aunt of the Archduke.

In the receiving line also were The Infanta Maria Antonia, who wore a Mageva gown of pale beige satin, with a tiara and other jewels of diamonds and emeralds valued at $100,000, lent by Cartier for the occasion, and the two Portuguese Ambassadors and their wives.

The Archduchess, who is a direct descendent of General La Fayette, escorted by six maids of honor, all dressed in white floor-length ball gowns. They were the Archduches Elisabeth of Austria, Princess Ann Louise von Anhalt-Dessau, Countess Susan Szechenyi, Barness Katerina de Szentpoly, Countess Elisabeth Foscari and Baroness Inge Bechtner von Reith. The Infanta was escorted by a group of young women wearing historic Portuguese costumes representing the various regions of the country, lent by the Portuguese government. They were the Misses Priscilla Alden, Nicole Graham-Johnston, Elizabeth C. Cowles, Linn Howard, Verne O'Hara and Barbara Knowlton.

Will Weissberg

Miss Wendy Vanderbilt and Emanuel Baron Pereira at the Waldorf-Astoria.

At their table in the Rotunda, the receiving party was joined by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bancroft Jr., Baron Charles de Than and Baron Max de Clara.

Before the Ball Mr. and Mrs. James Currie gave a cocktail reception at their residence, 200 East 66th Street, in honor of the Archduke and Archduchess, their guests included Peter Prebenson, son of Per Prebenson, a former Norwegian Ambassador to the Court of St. James, now stationed in Rome, and Mrs. Prebenson; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. William Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Carron Greig, Marchesa Nadia Sakkal de Villa Rosa, Countess Bunny Esterhazy, Miss Catherine Harris and Maurice D. Cooper and William Curtis. Later the entire party went to the home of Mrs. Joseph H. Moran II, a vice chairman of the ball, and Mr. Moran, for a birthday party for Mrs. Currie, where they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. J. Randall Creel, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Long, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Coumantaros, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tenney, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cavanagh, Mr. and Mrs. John R. A. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Isles, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Buch, Mrs. Andre de Coppet and Mrs. Lillian Gahagan.

Among the hosts at the ball were Robert D. L. Gardiner, whose guests included Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Lanier, Mrs. Morton Henry, Mrs. A. Hamilton Rice and Baron de Voe.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schrafft and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Schmidlapp were joint hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cartier, Mrs. Richard Ney, Mrs. John Baruch Bove, and Gregg Juarez and Mario Braggiotti. Mrs. Clark Williams was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bernatschke, H. H. The Maharani of Kapurthala and Harrison Blair and Wilder L. Burnap.

The guests of Mrs. Douglas McReynolds included Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Child and Mr. and Mrs. Winston S. Fliess Jr., Lord and Lady Foley had with them Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holt Haywood Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Stitzer, Mrs. Ileana Bulova and Myles Lowell.

Bela Cseh

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Porzelt, members of the committee for the Piarist Ball which is held annually at the Sheraton-East, and prominent members of the smart Hungarian colony of New York.

Stanley W. Gold

The noted Spanish artist, Salvador Dali, dinner host in the Embassy Club of the Sheraton-East, shown with Miss Hilda Kruger, Mrs. Dali and Carlos Alemany.

In the party of Mrs. J. Nomi Glassell were Princess Henrietta von Auersperg, Viscountesse de Frise, Mrs. Gertrude Astor, Mrs. M. Zukor Loew, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Markley, the Misses Angela Munemann, Daphney Bagley, Baron Gottfried von Meyern-Hohenberg and Richard Cowell, Ronald P. Boardman, Kurt Kaznar and Fernando Gallo.

With Miss Margaret-Louis Santry were Mrs. Katherine R. Talbot, the Misses Liza Dietz, Beatrice Ammidown, Sylvia Steifel, Binky Massitt and Mark Miller, William Heichig, Dominico Gnoli, James O. Russell, Paul Keenan Jr., Joseph Wittman and Kassimir Korybruth. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ulrick and Frederick T. Winship had with them Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Vargas-Becerra, Mrs. Phoebe W. Andrews, Countess Margarita Berga de Lema, Miss Susan Gullia and Gustavus Ober III and Rene Varlay.

John Bradley was host to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sharp, the Misses Eugenia Thayer, Jessica Alexander, Claire Dierrex and John Bliss and Robert P. Linderman III. The guests of Miss Ann Dana were Miss Mimi Vignos, Jacqueline Hewitt, Sandra Seagram, Tania Grantzeva, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Javits and Peter Ausnit. Baroness de las Boullerie had with her Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ory, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Olcott Stearns, Miss Nancy Olson and Norman Gamble. Mr. and Mrs. Huber Boscowitz's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. David Mahony, Mrs. Lillian Steel, Miss Virginia Warren and Earl Blackwell and Robert Kerdasha. The Hon. Camilla Gage had in her party the Misses Jennifer Barrows, Caroline Lumley and Bohdan de Rosset, Alton Peters and Peter Forrestal.

Baron Theo von Roth had with him Mrs. Mary Roebling, Miss Faye Emerson, Miss Ann Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Le Roy Robertson II, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Wallis, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart B. Clifford, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Newhouse, Prince Machael Obolensky of London, Dr. Ciro Amellini, Mac Vickar Snow, Huntington Hartford, Roy G. Cole, Jerome Zerbe, Francis X. Maguire and J. Taft Potter. The guests of Wolfram L. Ertinger were Mr. and Mrs. Eric de Kolb, Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Bentien, Mr. and Mrs. F. von Schwier, Mrs. Hilda Kruger, Mrs. Duncan Fraser and Otto Mach.

With Mrs. June Blossom were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Van Rensselaer Strong, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gay, Mrs. Hamilton K. Lamar, Mrs. Dorothy Ives Rogers, Mrs. Cleveland S. Bacon, Colonel Hamilton Fish, and Richmond Lisle Cannon and Norman Armour. The guests of Miss Helen Rich were Mrs. E. Tubman Dietrich, Mrs. James Kiernan, Mrs. Wilson Le Caille and Jack Coles, Paul Doyle and Edward Donohue. Miss Verne O'Hara's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Miron Appehemian, Miss Florence Greer and Rudie Woodward and Peter Moraites. With Martin Fabry were Mrs. Alma Carr, Mrs. Jane Bagley Long, Jeremiah O'Connell and Dr. Wilfred Brewer.

A buffet supper was served continuously from 10:30 p.m., and Meyer Davis and his orchestra with Lord Foley at the piano contributed the music for dancing.

* * *

Kind hearts and gentle people showed up with New Jersey's Governor Robert B. Meyner at the Plaza's Grand Ballroom for the Fourth Annual Heart of America Ball.

Every time Governor Meyner sounded his gong the dancers had to change partners in a game of dancing musical chairs. Mrs. William Woodward Sr., danced with Henry Fonda who in turn danced with Denise Lawson-Johnston. The idea came from Mrs. William C. Langley who we all know as the charming Jane Pickens.

There was a traditional Chinese Auction which was also the brainchild of Mrs. Langley.

The Guest of Honor, Mme. Jacelino Kubitcheck, Brazil's First Lady and her two young daughters were present chatting with Peggy Bancroft who had just returned from India. Also Mrs. Preston Davie, Melissa Weston, Mrs. J. Russell Forgan, Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jean Clark, Mrs. Bruce Gimbel, and Myrna Loy.

* * *

In talking of hearts we should mention the Hearts and Diamonds Ball of which Mrs. Cortwright Wetherill was chairman. She had moved into the Grand Ballroom of the Plaza Hotel from her Happy Hill Farm in Newton Square, Pennsylvania to work on the final preparations for the event, with her co-chairman William I. Mirkil. The party benefited the heart research program of the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons. Jeweler Harry Winston once again contributed a dazzling prize and the Meyer Davis orchestra played. Assisting Mrs. Wetherill was Mrs. Morton Bowyer and Mrs. Helen Briggs-Miller.

* * *

But the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and Orin Lehman were not to be outdone and their gala JOB May Festival Ball in the Grand Ballroom made the champagne beat really spectacular. Ellen Lehman McCluskey, the decorator sister of Orin Lehman, had re-decorated the Grand Ballroom in a cozy manner while Chauncey Gray and his orchestra played to the dancing of Eleanor Searle-Whitney, Chandler Cowles, Lord and Lady Foley, Anita Vanderbilt, Polan Banks, bejeweled Vala Byfield Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Akers, Mrs. T. Markoe Robertson and, of course, Orin Lehman who founded the Just One Break Organization.

It was officially titled the Sixth Annual May Festival Ball and Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller was the honorary chairman with Mrs. Francis L. Kellogg, chairman of the Woman's Special Events Committee.

The Waldorf-Astoria was also agog with cocktail parties prior to the Ball and it was quite a task going from door to door and visiting with Mrs. C. Richard McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Aronsohn, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman C. Bloomingdale, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beigel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wills Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hiram S. Gans, Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Louis, Mrs. Evelyn S. Lehman and Mrs. Palmer Baker Jr.

Orator Woodward, Charles Hirson, Miss Wendy Vanderbilt and Oscar De Molinari at the gala champagne pool party given in Mr. Molinari's honor by Mr. Woodward at the Seven Arts Center.

Among the other glamorous socialites attending the Ball were, Sir Kenneth and Lady Cole from Australia, Mr. and Mrs James Cromwell, Mr. and Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wanamaker, Mrs. George F. Baker, Miss Sharman Douglas, General and Mrs. Joseph Battley, Mr. and Mrs. Spyros Skouras Jr., Mrs. Gertrude Gretsch Astor, Dr. and Mrs. Howard A. Rusk, Mr. and Mrs. Serge Semenenko, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bancroft Jr., Richard Cowell, Vicomte and Vicomtesse Paul de Rosiere.

* * *

Hope Hampton always said, "When bigger, merrier and bubblier parties are given, I'm going to give them," and Hope Hampton did the other evening at the Stork Club at a cocktail "dansant" for hundreds of her friends.

The scene was the newly decorated main room of the Stork Club with the affable and charming Sherman Billingsley making the evening even more at home.

Amid the soft lights, silver-blue draperies and iridescent blue balloons, Miss Sparkle Plenty looked stunning in a white satin bouffont dress, with a halter neckline designed by Traina-Norell. The guests came in from Hollywood too. Among them Ginger Rogers, and Hermione Gingold, Faye Emerson and Lisa Farraday. John Astor chatting with Mr. and Mrs. George Schrafft while Mrs. Mary Woodward was listening to the wonderful voice of Metropolitan Star Robert Merrill in another section of the room. Among the early guests we spotted Miss Beatrice Andrews, Miss Phoebe Warren Andrews, Baron Riber de Budai, R. Borhari, Mrs. David Bonner, Edward deBecker and

Will Weissberg

Mrs. Jack Heinz III and Ambassador Herve Alphand at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Traver Briscoe, Mrs. Emilio Bove, Miss Kathryn Cravens, Mrs. Frances Carpenter, Miss Susan Dadolle, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Dalva, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Doane, Count Jose Dorelis, Miss Jean Dalrymple, James Farley Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Godfrey, Barness de Grandcourt, Mr. and Mrs. Huntington Hartford, Prince Leone Jaresco Ghike, Duke and Duchess Umberto Pini di San Miniato, Prince and Princess Vladimer Romanoff, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Luben Vichey, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Strelsin and Marquis and Marquise Raoul de St. Cyr.

* * *

But for sheer fun and for a chance to run through the grass in your bare feet the biggest fun party of the season was given by Mr. and Mrs. George E. Zauderer of real estate and racing renown for their debutante daughter Cheray. The family's Apple Blossom Farm in Mount Kisco was the scene where more than 500 friends filed through the sprawling white house on the hilltop above a lighted pool into a huge pink nylon tent constructed on the grounds and gayly decorated with pastel clusters of pink and blue balloons. The red carpet under foot stretched half a football field long. It was last used for Queen Elizabeth's reception at the Seventh Regiment Armory. On the tables were tiny fountains among flowers which sprinkled while capon and champagne were served to the rhythms of Emil Coleman. At 1 o'clock in the morning a red shirted calypso band took over and the youngsters kicked off their shoes for some dancing on the grass.

Debutante Cheray wore a dress of white chiffon, full skirted and appliqued with white satin roses. Mrs. Zauderer wore embroidered pink and white organza. Wendy Vanderbilt, Marilla van Beuren, Natalie Pierrepont, Peggy Hitchcock, Priscilla Tilt, Ruth Havemeyer, Bea Ammidown, Sandra Sinclair, Flockie Harcourt-Smith, who will soon return to her London home, and Priscilla Alden, were all present and having the most wonderful times of their lives. We also spotted Michael Rockefeller, Governor Rockefeller's son; Charles Rumsey, nephew of ex-Governor Harriman; Baron Noni Pereira, Randolph Owlsley, Diego del Vayo, David Oliphant, Jack McLean, Henry Sage.

It was a memorable evening, the weather was perfect, and so was the champagne, the music, the dancing, the food and Miss Cheray Zauderer; and among other guests Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Amory, Mr. and Mrs. Valerian Rybar, Dick Cowell, Mrs. Gertrude Astor with Sonio Coletti, Baron and Baroness Neumann de Vegvar, Mrs. Clyde Newhouse, Freddie Eberstadt, Count and Countess Paul de Rosiere, Mrs. Diane Eristavi, Mrs. Eugene Ong, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Saucier, portraitist Michael Werboff.

Also Portuguese envoy to the UN, Vasco Garin with Mme. Garin, Senator and Mrs. Jacob K. Javits, back from London, Mrs. Eunice Oakes, Europe-bound in a few days; Mr. and Mrs. Eric de Kalb, Pierre Bultinck, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cox, Mr. and Mrs. George Schrafft, George and Louis Ehret, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Orrsich, Mrs. Kay Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peto, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Strelsin, Duke and Duchess Pini di San Miniato, Bunty Lawrence.

Will Weissberg

Mrs. Adam (Sophie) Gimbel and Horace Flanagan at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Oscar De Molinari, Miss Peggy Scott Duff, Miss Cynthia Cunningham and Luis Felipe Herrera at the Orator Woodward champagne pool party at the Seven Arts Center.

Martha's Vineyard

By FRANCES ROGERS

MID-VACATION TIME on the island of Martha's Vineyard finds attention centered on the big weekend of racing when the Edgartown Yach Club holds its annual regatta and the Venona Trophies Ocean Race. It is an attraction that each year fills Edgartown's quaint harbor with visiting yachts of all sizes and designs, representing clubs from the mainland as well as this island and Nantucket.

This marks the 36th regatta and the 18th Ocean Race around Martha's Vineyard, a course of 77 nautical miles that takes two days to complete. For the regatta, 37 Cruising Yachts have been entered with last year's total of 48 expected to be reached before deadline time. The Ocean Race has drawn 15 entries, including the sleek 57-foot yawl Temptation owned by T. Kenneth Boyd of Wianno who will be seeking to defend the laurels won last year. James A. Farrell Jr.'s yawl Impala, a member of the Edgartown Yacht Club fleet, also will be back hoping to repeat as a winner in Class A. regatta events. Another returnee expected to provide plenty of competition is Seabury Stanton's yawl Caribbee from the New Bedford Yacht Club.

Race Committee chairman and former Commodore Alexander M. Orr and Race Committee Secretary Ralph Martin have worked arduously to have everything ready for the sailing extravaganza, traditionally the largest along the entire East Coast, with the possible exception of the program held each year at Marblehead, Mass.

The Ocean Race, with a five-hour advance in starting time this year so that the large craft may take advantage of a fair tide on the usually slow run around Chappaquiddick Island and down the long South Beach side, still is not expected to be completed until the following day, even under ideal weather conditions. This race often finds yachts arriving across the finish line well into Monday as skippers try to figure the tricky tides and currents that play havoc with craft at nearly every turn along the course.

Cruising yachts registered for the regatta together with the owner's name and home club include the following: Enchanta, Richard Steigier, American; Caribbee, Seabury Stanton, New Bedford; Temptation, T. Kenneth Boyd, Wianno; Impala, James A. Ferrell Jr., Edgartown; Xanadu, B. Allen Rowland, Wianno; LaLaitiere, David Kwinn, Corinthia; Tango, P. F. Mackey Jr., Falmouth; Sea-Star II, Karl R. Schoettie, Edgartown; Vixen, Albert J. Diesinger, Corintha; Xanadu, E. Bates McKee, New York; Fair Lady, Dr. I. A. Getting, Eastern; Belle One, John E. Kiley Jr., Wianno; Criterion, H. H. Villard, Edgartown; Daeira, James P. Purtell, Shelter Island; Sprig, Francis C. Keil Jr., New York; Tia Maria, H. B. Clark, New Bedford; Pellegrina, Rose B. Dolan, New York; Ho-Tai, Edgar P. Berry, Storm Trysail; Sable, Albert Wilson, Woods Hole; Gannet, William J. Jensen, Shelter Island; Vanona, E. Jared Bliss Jr., Edgartown; Sally, William A. McAfee, Vineyard Haven; Si Bon, William H. Snow, Seawanhaka; Touche, John T. Potter, Edgartown; Adele, Richard Burnes, Osterville; Mabuhay, B. Marshall, Providence; Gumdrop, J. H. White, Barrington, R. I.; Tantallion, G. W. Swope Jr., Woods Hole; Princess, J. F. White Jr., Boston; Lapwing, H. M. Wilcox, Manchester, Mass.; Alcyone, H. N. Hartstone, Cohasset, Mass.

Still other craft which will be participating in the racing program are: Quinta II, Charles B. Erdman Jr., Edgartown; Mimmy, Robert H. Pierce, Duxbury, Mass.; Holly Gee, J. Holland Beal, New Bedford; Stardust, C. F. Loutrel, Hyannisport; Quartette, Russell W. Field Jr., Barrington, R. I., and Mary G., Robert A. Green, Watch Hill, R. I.

All the Vineyard towns are well-filled with summer visitors, some here for a brief respite from city life and other for a season-long stay.

Among those vacationing at Edgartown are: Mrs. Seavey Battell of Cocoanut Grove, Fla., staying at Charlotte Inn; Mr. and Mrs. Steven Barker and family, Madison, N. J.; the Ward Berrys of New York; Mr. and Mrs. A. Loring Rowe and children, Chicago. Missing from the colony this summer is Mrs. Paul Runyan of New York, who with her daughter, Mary, is traveling in Europe.

At Oak Bluffs, summer guests include: Mrs. S. Inez Phillips, Providence, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Crossley, Plainfield, N. J.; the Thomas Ashleys of Belmont, Mass.; Mrs. Robert B. Lee and her sons from Pelham, N. Y.; Mrs. Raymond Farland and two children from Providence with Mr. Farland joining them on weekends; Mrs. Salim Matta and daughter, Helen, Hot Springs, Ark; Mrs. Gertrude Stearns, White Plains, N. Y.; the John Carnies of Milton, Mass.; Mrs. James H. Chase, Providence; Mr. and Mrs. William Nerney and two sons, Attleboro, Mass.; Mrs. Emma Crowell, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Page Stephens and their three sons, Roselle, N. J.; Mrs. Richard Horton accompanied by her children, from Hartsdale, N. Y.; Mr. Horton making frequent trips to the island to be with his family.

Chilmark is the vacationing choice of these off-Islanders: Mrs. Robert Sunlay, New York; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Bitler, Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Francis West of New York, with two grandchildren; the Edward Bacons, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Englander of Croton-on-Hudson, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Landmanson of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Luce and children, Ridgewood, N. J.; and the following at Menemsha Inn, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wittner, New York; Miss Mary McLaughlin, Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robinson, Colonia, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pavon, New York; Lt. (j.g.) and Mrs. Robert B. Watts, Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jacobs Jr., Greenlawn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. S. Treves, Little Neck, N. Y.

At other island locations are: Mr. and Mrs. Barton Cohen, Proux Village, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Joslow and daughters, Newton, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Al Goldsmith, Schenectady, N. Y.; the John Saltonstalls, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lewis, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jones and their daughter, Louise, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Prof. and Mrs. Theodore Hoffman and their two little girls, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Prof. and Mrs. William Dunham, daughter Stephanie and son Lee, from New Haven, Conn.; the Walter I. Badger Jr.'s of Boston; Mrs. Halford W. Park, Savannah, Ga., and Woodrow Wilson Sayre, grandson of the late President Woodrow Wilson and son of Francis Bowes Sayre of New York and the Island, accompanied by his wife and family.

Martha's Vineyard comprises several towns and to each one every summer come a large contingent of vacationists to make this time of year a gay, busy one for all concerned. Much of the island's ancient beauty has been retained but all of the facilities here are in the most modern manner.

One of the first summer events was the opening in late June of the Edgartown Summer Theater with Stanley Young of Newton Center, Mass., returning as the producer. Presenting their weekly productions in the Town Hall, the company will perform for 10 weeks. "Hotel Paradise" was the first offering with "The Rose Tattoo," "Gigi," "Separate Tables" and "Green Grow the Lilacs" some of the other plays listed.

Many Vineyard residents viewed with interest a recent television interview of noted Gay Head summer resident Max Eastman. an author, was questioned by Dave Garroway on the "Today Show" about his latest book, "Great Companions". The book is an account of Mr. Eastman's personal relationships with such well-known men as Albert Einstein, Charles Chaplin, Ernest Hemingway and Bertrand Russell. Currently affiliated with Reader's Digest, Mr. Eastman has been a longtime seasonal resident of Gay Head.

Another of the island's many famous summer residents, Miss Katharine Cornell, has opened her home. The celebrated stage star maintains a summer residence in Vineyard Haven which she calls "Chip Chop."

At Oak Bluffs, the James Armstrongs of Providence, R. I., have rented a house for the season. Before taking up summer occupancy, the Armstrongs' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Lodge of Rumford, R. I., were hosts to a group of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barnes of Mansfield, Mass., are back for another year and Mrs. Reuben Phillips will have her grandson, George, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips of Lake Worth, Fla., with her for the summer.

Washington

By HAZEL MARKEL

The British Embassy was the scene of two of the season's most spectacular events, the observance of Queen Elizabeth's birthday and the elegant Opera Ball.

The annual party saluting Her Majesty is always THE garden party of the year. Held on the big, shady green lawns of the Embassy which are ringed with refreshment tables under marquees, guests find sparkling champagne and the English favorite of ice-cold strawberries and Devonshire cream among an array of party foods and drink. This year, as always, the many guests were out in their best garden party finery.

Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia with Lady Caccia and their pretty blonde daughter, Clarissa, received on the terrace overlooking the gardens. Lady Caccia wore filmy green and copper chiffon and carried a dainty matching fan.

Among well-known guests were the Diplomatic Dean Ambassador Sevilla-Sacasa heading a huge contingent from Embassy Row, the Postmaster General and beauteous brunette Mrs. Summerfield, Justice and Mrs. William O. Douglas, Defense Secretary and Mrs. McElroy, Mrs. Lyndon Johnson with the Robert LaBarons, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, former U. S. Minister to Norway; General and Mrs. Lyman Lemnitzer (new Army Chief of Staff), Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, Mrs. Morris Cafritz in a huge blue garden hat and Mrs. Robert Low Bacon wearing handsome blue and white organdy.

Native costumes of many of the diplomatic corps added to the scene—Pakistani Ambassadress Mme. Aziz Ahmed's glamorous sari of apricot chiffon, the Ghana Ambassador's colorful multi-striped robes and Nigeria's Mme. Ukeban's deep red-velvet gown printed in the royal insignia of Elizabeth II.

The Opera Ball the night after the Garden Party, also at the Embassy, was the season's stand-out formal event. Given by the Opera Society of Washington, which provides the Capital with a top-flight program of opera, it had Her Majesty's Ambassador of Great Britain and Lady Caccia as first patrons and a glittering group of socialite guests.

Mrs. James Pomeroy Hendrick, wife of the Assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury, and Mrs. Polk Guest who were co-chairmen of the Ball entertained at dinner at the 1925 F Street Club before heading the receiving line at the Embassy. There they were joined by Opera Society President and Mrs. E. R. Finckenstaedt, among others, to greet some five hundred guests.

The handsome Embassy was gay with colorful spring flowers; tables were set on the terrace beneath a luxurious white silk awning; choicely-stocked buffets and champagne bars awaited guests in the dining salon and small drawing room, and Henry Marchard's Boston orchestra provided dance melodies in the spacious ballroom.

A kilted bagpiper at the Embassy entrance, who "piped in" arriving guests, and attendants in British "Beefeater" costumes, who lined the broad stairway and entrance corridor, added a charming British note to the scene.

Dining and dancing were Sir Harold and Lady Caccia, Italian Ambassador and Signora Brosio, who were patrons for last year's ball, the Norwegian Ambassador and Mme. Koht, the Ambassador of Luxembourg, the Austrian Ambassador and Mme. Platzer who wore a dashing red gown, the Ambassador of Uruguay and Senora de Lacarte, Chile's Ambassador and Senora de Mueller, and the Ambassador of Canada and Mrs. Heeney. Sir Michael and Lady Denny, Lord and Lady Hood, British Counselor and Mrs. Garran and Norway's Elovious Mangor were there.

Justice and Mrs. Harlan, Air Force Secretary and Mrs. James Douglas, Senator and Mrs. Prescott Bush, Senator and Mrs. John Sherman Cooper, Representative and Mrs. Clark Thompson, Assistant Treasury Secretary and Mrs. Laurence Robbins, Assistant Defense Secretary and Mrs. Perkins McGuire, the Special Assistant to the Defense Secretary and Mrs. Oliver Gale and Judge and Mrs. Homer Ferguson were among those from official circles.

Out-of-town guests included former Attorney General and Mrs. Herbert Brownell and former Navy Secretary and Mrs. Charles Thomas all of whom came from New York and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould in from Hollywood.

Robert Striar

A gala send-off for the new U. S. Ambassador to Israel and Mrs. Ogden Reid (right) was given by Israel's Charge d'Affaires Yaacov Herzog (left) and Mme. Herzog at their Myrle place residence in Washington on the eve of the Reid's departure for Tel Aviv.

Hessler

One of Washington's prettiest debutantes Miss Theresa Julienne Frost Powell was presented to Capital society at a large garden tea given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Royce Powell, at their historic Georgetown residence "Volta House," formerly owned by Alexander Graham Bell. From the left: Mrs. Powell, blonde debutante "Julie" wearing filmy pale blue organza; Mr. Powell, and the deb's two sisters, Lissante and Kevi.

Gowns and jewels were among the most elaborate of the season. White was favored by Lady Caccia, Mme. Pierre Pelen, Mrs. Clark Thompson and Mrs. Gustave Stewart all of whom highlighted their ball gowns with glistening diamond jewelry. Summer prints were popular with chic Mrs. Edwin D. Graves in a sweeping turquoise-toned gown, Mrs. Percival Brundage in green and white, and Mrs. William C. Foster in a gay orange print.

At the stroke of midnight a grand march was led by the "Beefeaters" followed by a Viennese waltz. Good-looking twirlers included former Chief of Protocol and Mrs. John F. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Josselin Bodley, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hayes, Colonel and Mrs. Albert Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Foley, Mr. and Mrs. Prentiss Coonley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll Glover Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Guy Martin, and titian-haired Dorcas Hardin partnered by dashing Julio Heurtematte.

Among those hosting dinners ahead of the brilliant event were Mrs. Poe Burling who is heading plans for the International Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cafritz, Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Krock. An especially attractive group from the young set included the Neil Carothers III, the Arthur Gardners, the Stephen Halseys, the Pierre Beauregardes, the Lewis Ellises, and the Poli Sheahans.

Those prized "extra men" included Clayton Fritchey, Hardinge Scholle, Wilson Trimmer who danced with Mrs. Randall Hagner, Retiring Army Chief of Staff General Maxwell D. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor were honored by the Secretary of the Army and Mrs. Wilbur Brucker at a farewell review and reception at Fort Myers, Va. Here the Secretary of Defense (right) and Mrs. McElroy greet General Taylor, Mrs. Taylor and the Taylors' son, John, a cadet at the U. S. Military Academy. Earlier in the day, General Taylor received the Distinguished Service Medal, which he is wearing, from President Eisenhower at a White House ceremony.

U. S. Army

Colonel Fred Roy who squired Mrs. Jorje Zalles, George Williams and Behrend Drybar.

Mme. Perle Mesta, who is noted for her gay supper parties for theatre great, entertained for the celebrated American ballerina Maria Tallchief on the opening night of her guest star engagement with the successful young Washington Ballet Company.

Miss Tallchief, a native of Mrs. Mesta's home state of Oklahoma, came on from the ballet performance at Carter Barron Amphitheatre with her good-looking husband, Chicago Industrialist Henry Paschen. Also from the ballet were dancer Frederic Franklin and his co-director of the Company, Miss Mary Day, and Henry Mazer, orchestra conductor.

Mrs. Mesta met guests on the terrace of her plush French home "Les Ormes". She was gowned in a filmy white dotted net with diamonds glistening in necklace, earrings and bracelets. Candelabra-lighted tables ringed the terrace, Tex Alexander's orchestra entertained and an elaborate supper of both hot and cold dishes was set in the main dining room with a table in the small dining room devoted exclusively to luscious desserts of cakes, ices and fruits.

Senator and Mrs. John Sparkman, Senator and Mrs. Frank Church, Senator Jacob Javits and former Senator Henry Ashhurst were among guests.

From residential circles came Colonel and Mrs. Curt Schiffeler, Mrs. Clarence Dodge, gowned in Italian-designed blue brocade highlighted with diamonds, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dodge Jr., Colonel and Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, Drucie and John Horton (she's the former Drucie Snyder), Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Patterson, Dale and "Scooter" Miller, Betty and Lew Ellis, Glade and Les Biffle, Philip and Margaret Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Riddell and Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston.

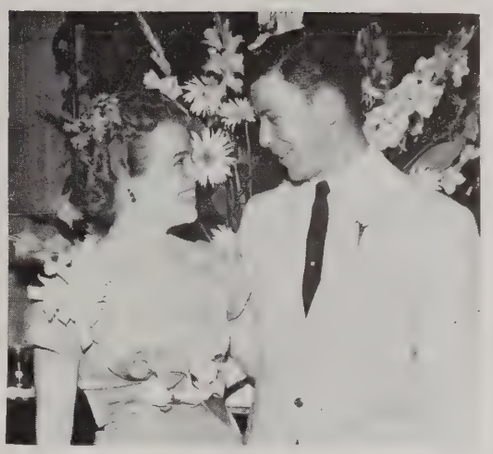
Several dashing bachelors included Cabinet Secretary Bob Gray, Representative Bill Hull, Representative Paul Rogers, Colonel Fred Roy, James Mann, Scott Kirkpatrick, and Mrs. Mesta's oft-time escort Dr. Anthony Sindoni of Philadelphia. Another special guest from Oklahoma was Mrs. Virgil Brown who was an overnight houseguest at "Les Ormes".

Guests sipped, supped and vocalized to the Alexander tunes until a wee hour, not only in the warmth of the Washington summer night but in the warm welcome of top hostess Mesta.

Two Wyoming Avenue fetes spotlighted the calendar – British Commercial Counselor and Mrs. Peter Garran's housewarming and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foley's at home.

The Peter Garrans' new residence is the former home of Senator and Mrs. A. S. "Mike" Monroney who were among admiring guests. It is an attractive town house which the Garrans have decorated with handsome British chintzes in soft green and ivory tones, glittering chandeliers, British wall prints, and British furniture. There's a comfortable, brick walled garden where guests found an inviting refreshment bar. The Garrans' very pretty daughter Rosemary, called "Posey" by her parents, assisted in welcoming guests who included the Ambassador of Austria and Mme. Platzer, former Ambassador and Mrs. Jefferson Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lee, big-game hunter Ralph Scott and Mrs. Scott back from an exciting hunt as the guests of the King of Nepal. Mme. Vera Petschek was telling friends goodbye before her take-off for an African safari.

Two embassy charmers Senora de Pedrosa and Senora de Ceballos chatted on a garden



Capitol Photo Service

Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Robert Charles Diefenbach at a reception given in their honor by the bride's parents, Captain Allen Ingram Price, U. S. A., (Ret.) and Mrs. Price at the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel. The bride, who is the former Miss Mary-Stuart Montague Price, was co-chairman of the British-American Debutante Ball in London in June.

Robert Striar

At the Congressional Club Breakfast in the Sheraton Park Hotel honoring Mrs. Eisenhower, Mrs. Hale Boggs, wife of Louisiana Congressman and Chairman for the event (left) welcomes the First Lady. Second, at the Breakfast were Mme. Alphand, wife of the French Ambassador (left) and Mrs. Robert Anderson, wife of the Portuguese Ambassador; Former Director of the Budget, Percival Brundage and Mrs. Homer Ferguson, wife of the well-known Judge, at the Symphony Ball.

Doris Jacoby

Washingtonians were among notables who flew to Dallas for the opening festivities of the new Sheraton-Dallas Hotel. From the left, Robert L. Moore, Board Chairman of the Sheraton Corporation; Mrs. Randolph Sevier; the Hon. John A. Burns, delegate to Congress from Hawaii; Mrs. Moore and Mr. Sevier, President of the Matson Steamship Lines.

bench. Senora de Ceballos is the well-known Gaelic singer Ann Moray and was being congratulated on her successful new album "The Love Songs of Robert Burns". Export-Import Bank President and Mrs. Samuel Waugh were among guests, Mrs. Waugh wearing a stunning gown of blue oriental brocade. We said "hello" to the William Fosters, the John Simmons, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Thomas Kelly, Ralph Becker, Gwen Cafritz, Peggy and Roy St. Lewis and many more.

Former Under Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Edward H. Foley are charming hosts whose guest invariably are an intriguing cross section of social and official Washington. At a recent afternoon party, around the rooms of the Foley's Wyoming Avenue residence and on the broad terrace opening onto a formal garden, were such well-knowns as former Justice and Mrs. Stanley Reed, French Ambassador and Mme. Alphand, F.D.R.'s famous secretary Grace Tully, Senator Clinton Anderson and wife Henrietta, Atomic Energy Chief and Mrs. John McCone, N. Y. Senator Kenneth Keating, White House Assistant and Mrs. David Kendall, Banker Bob Baker, India and Herbert Edwards, Mrs. Clark Clifford and Britain's Lady Caccia.

Enjoying cocktails and tasty party canapes were former Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Walter Robertson, Bill and Beulah Foster, Mrs. Laurence Wood ("Evie") Robert, General and Mrs. Franklin Hart, Mrs. Rodgers Denckla, and Mrs. Robert Guggenheim clad in beguiling black chiffon with black ostrich touches.

Mexico's new Ambassador Carillo Flores and his pretty Senora were among embassy guests who included Turkish Ambassador and Mme. Urguplu, Danish Ambassador and Countess Knuth-Winterfeldt, Australia's Ambassador and Mrs. Beale, and Lord and Lady Gordon-Lennox. More enjoying the Foleys' gay hospitality were Senator and Mrs. Albert Gore, Senator and Mrs. Ralph Yarborough, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burling, the Newbold Walmsleys, Presidential Assistant and Mrs. Homer Gruenther, Marny and "Skee" Arnold and many others.

* * *

Mrs. Earle T. Smith, (TV's Florence Pritchitt) wife of the former U. S. Ambassador to Cuba, was luncheon hostess during a week in the Capital, at La Salle du Bois. Among guests were Mrs. Sutton Topping and Mrs. John F. Simmons.

Robert Striar

Miss Myrto Liatis, pretty daughter of the Greek Ambassador and Mme. Liatis, became the bride of George Cochran Denby of Washington at a large traditional Greek wedding followed by a reception at the Royal Greek Embassy. Here she is being congratulated by another pretty ambassadorial daughter Sylvia Platzer (right) of Austria.

Gardens are the favorite for Capital summer parties and this season's al fresco fetes crowded the calendar.

Admiral and Mrs. Robert Carney entertained "outdoors" at their charming Georgetown home where guests entered via an artistically landscaped and hurricane-lighted alley into a formal garden with terrace. Best-dressed Grace Carney was wearing a blue-belted white sheath as she greeted guests.

The gay throng included Portuguese Ambassador and Senhora Esteves Fernandes, Italy's Envoy and Signora Brosio, New Zealand's Lady Munro, Japanese Ambassador and Mme. Asakai, Norway's Envoy and Mme. Koht, and Finland's Ambassador and Mme. Seppala. The Robert Woods Blisses were in the company, Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, the James Lawrence Houghtelings, former U. S. Ambassador to Greece and Mrs. George McGhee up from their home in Warrenton, Mrs. Albert Bowley, former Justice and Mrs. Stanley Reed and Westinghouse V.P. James Jewell.

Cocktails were served on the terrace and one of Mrs. Carney's choice buffet tables was set in the dining room featuring a delicious Malayan beef dish, and many other specialties. Enjoying same among the military, were General and Mrs. Wade Haislep, Admiral and Mrs. Arthur Radford, General and Mrs. Franklin Hart, Major General and Mrs. Conger Pratt, Major General and Mrs. William Rose, Major General and Mrs. Leigh Wade, and Colonel and Mrs. Albert Cox.

From residential circles we saw the James Orr Denbys, the Emerson Bigelows, the William MacCrackens, the Robert LeBarons, the Ray Henles, Ralph Becker, Fred Roy, Mrs. Nancy Mann squired by George Doole, the Preston Sutphens, and many more.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Simmons said goodbye to friends in their study garden before exiting to their summer home in Southwest Harbor, Maine. The tall, blond, good-looking family was all on hand—Caroline and John and sons Huston, John Jr., and Malcolm. Mrs. Simmons, in a pretty pink print dress, received in the drawing room with the family pet "Pacey" at her feet. The snow-white terrier sported a blue party ribbon atop his head. The rest of the Simmons circulated in the garden.

A large group from Embassy Row who came to greet the popular former Chief of Protocol and Mrs. Simmons included Russian Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, Australian Ambassador and Mrs. Beale, Ceylon's Sir Senerat and Lady Gunewardene, and the new Ambassadors of Czechoslovakia and Thailand with their attractive wives, among others.

Senator and Mrs. Mike Monroney were in the garden, Smithsonian Secretary and Mrs. Leonard Carmichael, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll Glover Jr., Mrs. Paul Magnuson, Mrs. Alben Barkley, former Justice and Mrs. Reed, the Walter Robertsons, Mme. Pierre Pelen, Representative and Mrs. Walter Judd and many more.

Most Unusual garden gathering was a typical German "bierabend" given by Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Patterson at their Georgetown home. Mrs. Patterson is H.R.H. Princess Victoria Marina, granddaughter of Kaiser Wilhelm.

The Pattersons, and their three charming children Marina, Berenger and tiny Dohna Maria, were dressed in authentic Bavarian costumes and they asked guests to come in informal or German costume. The result was a colorful, gay company – Ambassador and Mme. Platzer in Austrian national dress, former U. S. Ambassador to Uruguay and Mrs. Jefferson Patterson in south-of-the-border attire, Nancy Werlich in German country dress and carrying a large, live white goose!

There was music by a Bavarian clad accordionist. Kegs of beer were handy in the torch-lighted garden, and guests went back for "seconds" of the mouth-watering German potato salad, sausages and sauerkraut. The informal evening drew such well-knowns as Brazilian Ambassador and Mme. Peixoto, Swiss Envoy and Mme. Torrente, Portugal's Ambassador and Senhora de Esteves Fernandes, Princess Rudi Voravan of Thailand, Britain's Lady Denny, Major General and Mrs. Howard Davidson, Richard Howland, Mrs. Julius Wadsworth, Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Carmichael, Mrs. George Maurice Morris, Mrs. Conger Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Cowen, Elovius Mangor, Mrs. William Ritchey, and many more.

Her Highness scored a top party hit!

* * *

Mrs. Richard Nixon was saluted by GOP ladies at a Capitol Hill Club luncheon with Mrs. William S. Culbertson as chairman. Pretty Pat was entertained at the capacity-attended event by a fashion showing with well-known ladies modeling – Mrs. Everett

Marine Corps

U. S. Marine Commandant and Mrs. Randolph McC. Pate were hosts at a sunset review at the U. S. Marine Barracks and a reception at Commandant's House for new Secretary of the Navy William B. Franke. Here the Secretary (left), signs in as General Pate (center) and Marine Barracks commanding officer Colonel Jonas Platt look on.

Reni

Florida Senator and Mrs. Spessard Holland entertained their many friends at a gala reception at Washington's popular Sulgrave Club. From the left: Senator Holland with Rep. A. S. Herlong Jr., and Rep. Paul Rogers, both of Florida.

Dirksen, Mrs. Richard Simpson, Mrs. Peter Gibson and glamorous Mrs. Carl Shipley, among others. Head table guests included Mrs. Frederick Seaton, wife of the Secretary of the Interior; Mrs. Malcolm McIntyre, wife of the Air Force Under Secretary; Mrs. Gordon Gray, wife of the Presidential Assistant; Mrs. Elwood Quesada whose husband is the noted ace who now heads the Federal Aviation Agency, and Mrs. Howard Coffin.

Following luncheon Mrs. Culbertson introduced the Vice President's wife as "The lady we're going to give a promotion in 1960" while Mrs. Dirksen put a bouquet of sweetheart roses into Mrs. Nixon's arms.

Mrs. Jorje Zalles was Independence Day hostess to friends at dinner, at the Chevy Chase Club just before her departure for summer abroad. Dining with the dashing hostess and viewing the city's fireworks display from the fashionable club's terrace, were Senator and Mrs. John McClellan, former Senator and Mrs. George Malone, Representative and Mrs. Clark Thompson, Mrs. Randall Hagner, Dr. Milton Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. James Purdy and Colonel Fred Roy.

Mrs. Zalles flew to Ireland where she visited friends, attended the Galway races, visited Lake Erne and enjoyed the gala Horse Show Week in the Irish Capital as a member of the Dublin Horse Show Society of America that annually treks to this world-famous event in the Emerald Isle. Mrs. Zalles guested at J. Stuart Robertsons's old Connaught Club for the thrilling week and went on to the Continent for an extensive tour which will keep her away from Washington until mid-October.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Akers were hosts to Capitalites at their "Little Hunting Creek Lodge" in the Catoctin mountains for a Sunday afternoon of swimming, shuffleboard, horseshoes, dancing, dining and, for the anglers, fishing in the stream where President Eisenhower often hooks a trout.

Enjoying the cool shady retreat with its long swim pool, huge barbecue pit, and the big pavillion for dancing, were a group from Embassy Row, the Saudi Arabian Ambassador Sheikh Al-Khayyal, South African Ambassador and beauteous Mme. du Plessis, and the popular Finnish couple, Ambassador and Mme. Seppala.

The Postmaster General and Mrs. Summerfield were guests, the Chief Justice's daughter, Virginia Warren, the Marine Commandant and Mrs. Pate, General and Mrs. Ira Eaker, Admiral and Mrs. Robert ("Mick") Carney, Assistant Defense Secretary and his glamorous blond wife Mrs. Murray Snyder, the good-looking Robert Corrigans. He is Deputy Protocol Chief. Former Assistant to The President John Steelman and Mrs. Steelman were among guests.

Chic Mrs. Akers did hostess honors in cool, white linen. Her pretty daughters Tomajean Jobe and Shirley Sheahan were there with husband Howard and Poli. Bob and Polly Guggenheim chatted with the William Culberstons. Assistant Defense Secretary and Mrs. Floyd Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. Struve Hensel were among those doing a turn to the music of Don Martino along with Britain's Peter Garrans, Vice Admiral and Mrs. Harold Baker, Jean and Walter Bryte, the Dale Millers, Tom and Virginia Kelly and Hunter and Betty Drum.

Maurice Cafritz and Garfield Kass had a spirited round at horseshoes, Mrs. Charles Delmar played a real sharp game of shuffleboard with her handsome young son Andy

Reni

Among the many celebrity guests at Miss Marta Miller's debut at the elegant Washington Club was the Speaker of the House of Representatives Sam Rayburn. Here he poses with his fellow Texans, from the left: Mead Miller, Marta's brother; Mrs. Dale Miller, mother of the deb; Mr. Rayburn and Marta.

1, 2, 3—Robert Striar; 4—Washington Newsfoto Syndicate

Secretary to the Cabinet Robert Gray, Actress Celeste Holm and Protocol Chief Wiley Buchanan at the Symphony Ball at the Sheraton Park. Second, Mrs. Wiley Buchanan twirls with Ambassador of Iran, Dr. Ali Gholi Ardalan at the Ball. Third, from the left are Mme. Alphand, wife of the French Ambassador; Mme. Eban, wife of the just retired Ambassador of Israel, and, Mrs. Nixon, wife of the Vice President at a dinner given by Ambassador of Nicaragua and Sra. de Sevilla-Sacasa for the Nixons. Fourth, Mrs. Robert Bacon receiving the Italian Star of Solidarity from Italy's Ambassador Manlio Brosio.

while Bob Baker and Samuel Kauffman "kibitzed". Former Labor Mediator Cyrus Ching held court. His popular wife, Vergie, was introducing her handsome father Harry Vergosen visiting from Connecticut.

Dining on sizzling grilled steaks and delicious roasting-ears dipped in butter were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin McKelway, Mrs. William Hermann, Major General and Mrs. Leigh Wade, the good-looking Herbert Bluncks, Neal and Helen Mack, the James Purdys, Helen and Burks Summers, Mary and Edgar Morris, Mrs. Clarence Dodge, the Ralph Pittmans with daughter Shirley and many, many more.

The gay, warm hosts always "hit the jackpocket" at "Little Hunting Creek". No one would miss it!

* * *

A DUET of parties was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morris on consecutive weeks for houseguests. The first fete saluted Mrs. Morris' mother, Mrs. Andrew Jergins of Los Angeles and San Antonio and Mrs. Edward Modine of Los Angeles. The second invitation read "To honor Miss Mary Morris", the host's sister from Pickens, South Carolina.

Many guests were seeing, for the first time, the French blue redecoration of the big, hilltop residence on Linnean Avenue. Mrs. Morris was taking many bows on the spacious rooms which are carpeted, walled and draperied in the same lush, blue tint.

Among the many guests enjoying a tour of the house, cocktails on the veranda or the hearty buffet in the chandeliered dining room were fellow Californians of the honor guests, the Chief Justice and Mrs. Warren with daughter Virginia, Senator and Mrs. Thomas Kuchel and Princess Pignatelli also of the Movie Capital. Senator and Mrs. Strom Thurmond, Representative and Mrs. Clark Thompson and Representative and Mrs. Albert Thomas were also in the Congressional group.

Other big-name guests included Hostess Perle Mesta, Mrs. Alben Barkley squired by Lawyer Henry Depping, Herbert Hoover's longtime aide Larry Richey and U. S. Indian Commissioner and Mrs. Glenn Emmons.

We saw Mrs. Robert Garner, Mrs. Thurmond Chatham, Helen and Lee Murphy, Les and Glade Biffle, Virginia and Jimmy Parks, Miss Madeleine Austin, the Gordon Bennetts, Dorcas and "Jumpy" Jackson, the "Dutch" Bergmanns, the Gabriel Murphys, Mrs. Rose Zalles, Spencer Waters, the Wilmer Wallers, George Williams and on and on.

Among diplomats were the Japanese Ambassador and Mme. Asakai, Italy's Ambassador and Signora Brosio and Philippine Envoy and Mme. Romulo. The Diplomatic Dean Ambassador Sevilla-Sacasa came also to greet Miss Mary Morris, who is a Washington favorite.

General and Mrs. Graves Erskine were among a large military contingent which included General and Mrs. Wade Haislep, Vice Admiral and Mrs. Murray Royar, Major General and Mrs. Conger Pratt, Major General and Mrs. Leigh Wade, Lieutenant General and Mrs. John Coulter, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Basil Rittenhouse, Colonel and Mrs. John Lally and former White House Aide Colonel Ralph Zahrobsky and his pretty wife, the former Ann Mattingly.

A group of inveterate travelers with heads together were exchanging gadabout plans, we suspect—Marjory Hagner, Mamie Dodge and Bessie Sweeney. Commissioner and Mrs. Alvin Welling were guests, Mrs. Bruce Smith, the Raymond Wires, the Bill Presses and ever so many others.

A delightful party touch was the greeting at the front entrance by the hostess' two little sons, Chris and Michael, who besowed continental kisses on the hands of the ladies!

* * *

THE WALCOTT WAGGAMAN'S garden soiree, in celebration of their eighth wedding anniversary, was given at the Georgetown residence of the host's mother Mrs. Alexander Legare. Lillian Waggaman in cool black and white print and Mrs. Legare in her favorite blue shades welcomed guests on the patio while "Doggie" Waggaman escorted them to refreshment bars and tables in the terraced garden. To add to the pleasant occasion Devron serenaded with his accordion. Among the many well-wishers were Mr. and Mrs. Meade Fletcher, Miss Cornelia Bowie, Donald Downs, Claire and Meade Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. George Cole Toomey, Mrs. Katharine Byron, the Munro Hunters, the Judson Bowles, Jack Cochran, Decorator Ed Adams and his titian-haired wife, Ken and Virginia Watson, Mrs. Kathleen Watson, Jerry Chase, Miss Creel Dorrance squired by her good-looking father, the Royce Powells, and many more.

* * *

ARGENTINE AMBASSADOR Cesar Barros Hurtado was honored by a longtime friend and countryman, Jorje Carnicero, Executive Director of Trans-Continental Airlines, and Mrs. Carnicero at a gay fiesta in the garden of their 52nd Street residence.

Brunette Mrs. Carnicero received in a luscious Mollie Parnis gown of American beauty chiffon with matching satin slippers.

An elaborate buffet was set on long tables in the big, split-level garden and Devron and his musicians provided Latin melodies. Among some 200 guests who enjoyed such delicacies as squab in aspic, cavair canapes and pink champagne, were the Diplomatic Dean Nicaragua's Sevilla-Sacasa, Assistant State Secretary and Mrs. Roy Rubottom, Uruguayan Ambassador and Senora de Lacarte, the new Cuban Ambassador Ernesto Dihigo, Panamanian Envoy and Senora de Arias, Chile's Ambassador and pretty Senora de Mueller, the Mexican Ambassador and Senora de Carillo Flores among others.

Colonel and Mrs. Stephen Fuqua were enjoying the Carnicero hospitality along with former Cuban Ambassador Luis Machado, Floyd and Irma Akers, Pat Chatham, Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, Robert Rodenberg and many more.

Ambassador Hurtado turned host at a delightful summer buffet supper party at "Glen-Ora" in Middleburg, Virginia, with a large number from the Capital journeying to the "Horse Country" for the evening event.

* * *

THE JUDSON BOWLES introduced their houseguests, the hostess' mother Mrs. Martin Griffin and Mrs. Bowles' sister Mrs. Calvin McGowan to the Bowles' friends in the second floor drawing room of their smart Garfield Street town house. Cocktails and dainty party tidbits were served on the brightly awninged patio and in the green garden. Guests all knew each other and immediately were enjoying themselves – the Ecuadorian Ambassador Jose Chiriboga, Brigadier General and Mrs. Joseph Cranston, Jack Logan, Colonel and Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hill, Munro and Isabel Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. James McSherry Wimsatt, Mrs. Rose Zalles, Phyllis and Bernard Gallagher, Robert Schenck, the William MacCrackens, Colonel and Mrs. Walter Bryte, Miss Madeleine Austin, the James Purdys, Commander and Mrs. John Paul Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Werlich, Mrs. Michael O'Connor (Molly Malone) who was escorted by Julio Heurtematte, Lee and Helen Murphy, Mrs. Leo Brison Norris, Iwo Jima sculptor Felix de Weldon and his glamorous wife Margo, John and Tanya Shields and a number more.

* * *

DEEP BOWS to Mrs. William P. Rogers, wife of the Attorney General, elected to Cornell University's Board of Trustees . . . to Mrs. Walter Judd steering YWCA committee for Hannah Harrison School newly furnished with modern equipment for home nursing training . . . to Turkish Attache Altemur Kilic on his fine new volume "Turkey and the World" . . . to Mrs. Poe Burling, heading International Ball plans, on her top Special Committee boasting five U. S. Ambassadresses . . . to George Gordon Moore, grandfather of Ellen Doud Moore, who flew all the way from Galveston, Texas, despite his 82 years, to see granddaughter Ellen, the First Lady's niece, graduate with honors from Holton Arms School in Washington . . . to Mrs. Perle Mesta for hostessing a gigantic garden buffet, for the National Woman's Party, with the entire U. S. Senate and their wives invited, to observe the 111th anniversary of the historic Seneca Falls meeting . . . to Mrs. Norman Paul for pampering guests with a choice all-French buffet supper complete to fine French wines, preceding the opening night of her talented daughter Mimi's appearance with the Washington Ballet Company . . . and a double salute to Mrs. John Sherman Cooper for a beautiful garden brunch at her handsome Georgetown residence and to her honor guest Mrs. Wiley Buchanan who spoke so delightfully to guests on her experiences as wife of the U. S. Chief of Protocol.

Robert Striar

At the fashionable Opera Society Ball given at the British Embassy, from the left: British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia and his pretty blonde daughter, Clarissa, who became the bride of David Pryce-Jones in London in July. Second, Lady Caccia, wife of the British Ambassador, twirls with the Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas Jr. Third, Mrs. Kingdon Gould of Washington with her nephew Jay Gould and Mrs. Gould visiting from Hollywood.

Caribbean Preview

By MARGUERITE ALLEN

ISLAND-DROPPING, the new social sport which has replaced "name-dropping" is great fun in season from Elba to Iviza, from Tenerife to Ischia, from Raiatea to Tongatabu, but nowhere in the world is there a more fertile field for the "island dropper" than in the turquoise Caribbean in the winter season.

The Caribbean not only can boast the world's finest winter climate for the winter social season visitor, but it has islands galore to "drop" from Barbuda to Bonaire, from Saba to St. Maartins, from Cozumel to Carriacou, many of which have enchanting hotels and inns.

The social resorter in the know, however, knows that if he wants the real thing—that casual luxury with all the creature comforts from superb accommodations to a fabulous cuisine, his or her best bet still is to be found on the better-known islands of Jamaica, Puerto Rico, and St. Croix, with a happy combination of real luxury in a beachcombing paradise on Grand Cayman.

• JAMAICA •

Jamaica, perhaps the most beautiful and spectacular island in the sun, with mountains ranging up to 7,000 feet and intimate palm-studded beaches dotting its 500 miles of coastline, also can boast of possessing some of the most attractive club-type resort to attract the international set.

Sunset Lodge, fore-runner of this type of casual resort, was sparked by Carmen Pringle in Montego Bay after World War II, to become the most chic resort in Jamaica, and has always retained its edge on many of the newcomers.

This year Sunset Lodge, which is enchantingly located near the scene of all activity in Montego Bay, but in a special little world of its own, is being overhauled from stem to stern. All its lovely balconied guest rooms, which face the sea, are being completely redecorated and air-conditioned.

The dining room and outdoor dining terrace, always the most glamorous evening and luncheon spot in Montego Bay itself, is likewise having its face lifted, and will operate under the supervision of Europe's finest chefs.

Round Hill, the brain-child of John Pringle, son of the fabulous Carmen, is more beautiful than ever, if that is possible. Eight miles west of Montego Bay, this cottage and club-type resort colony has attracted the great and near-great of both continents since it opened in 1954.

Nowhere in the world is there a resort with more delightful joie de vivre than can be found at Round Hill—and in a setting of tropical flowers, turquoise sea, with the blue Jamaica Mountains stretching along the coastline as far as the eye can see. This ninety-eight acre peninsula, jutting out into the sea, is the haven of such resorters as Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tiaks, Mr. and Mrs. Kingman Douglass, Viscount Ednam, Mr. and Mrs. G. Garvin Brown, who are among the cottage owners at Round Hill.

Sir Howard Trott, of Bermuda, a member of the Legislative Council there, photographed at Montego Bay, Jamaica.

East of Montego Bay but a few miles near the Rose Hall estate is the Royal Caribbean, going into its third season under the ownership of George Poag and Larry Paul. The Royal Caribbean has added new guest rooms this summer, and air-conditioned all of the Rooms.

The Royal Caribbean can be said to have everything, but in particular it is the only resort in Montego Bay to have a Sea Club, with cruisers for deep-sea fishing or just cruising available to guests for charter. Likewise its evening entertainment is sparkling, with dancing every night of the week.

In Montego Bay itself, two favorites with divergent appeal are the Casa Blanca and the Casa Montego—the former rich in mellow charm, right on Doctor's Cave Beach, hub of all Montego Bay activity. The latter, the Casa Montego, is as modern as tomorrow, was designed by New York architect William Ballard, and overlooks the beach. Its rooms are entirely air-conditioned, and stunningly appointed in gay, colorful contemporary styling.

• PUERTO RICO •

Resorts and hotels have been burgeoning on this easily reached island, a delightful potpourri of mountains, seashore, verdant tropican foliage, the flower of old Spain, and a modern new world.

La Rada, in the Condado Beach section of San Juan, provides the perfect setting to capture the spirit of the island. It's intime, has beautiful guest rooms designed by none other than its owner, Jose Alegria, who in his own right is a superb interior decorator, and is noted for its fabulous continental cuisine.

Water-skiing is another feature of life at La Rada, not found at all San Juan hotels, for La Rada is located on the lagoon, which provides excellent waters for this sport. Golfers who visit LaRada will have privileges arranged at the new Dorado Beach Club, but will have the convenience of living near town at La Rada, to better enjoy the night life in Old San Juan.

• ST. CROIX •

This island, so reminiscent of Nantucket but with a string of sugar loaf mountains stretching from one end to the other, can boast of several luxury hotels, but for the resorter who wants to combine beach and golf, there is nothing more satisfying than Estate Carlton.

Carlton, as it is fondly called, is a club-type resort in every sense of the word, and is the only resort in the Virgin Islands to have a nine-hole golf course. Once the largest sugar plantation on the island, it is in a grove of tamarind trees on the site of the original great house. There's a new swimming pool, completed this summer, right beside the main building and cottages, and enclosed by the adobe walls of the one-time slave compound. There's also a crescent beach at Carlton, with a small beach house and another swimming pool, where al fresco luncheons are served everyday.

• GRAND CAYMAN •

Off-beat and definitely different, The Galleon Beach Hotel on Grand Cayman is a true luxury island hideaway beside the emerald and turquoise waters of the Caribbean, on a broad stretch of sandy beach.

This is the real thing, where pressures and telephones seem distant and vague; where friendly faces welcome you to the colorful native village; yet where Mr. and Mrs. Benson Greenall, owners of the enchanted paradise, have contrived to provide everything from perfect, modern accommodations, and a French cuisine to a really dry Gibson.

Bahamas' International Tuna Watch at Cat Cay

By CELIA ROSS

William Roberts

Mrs. William B. Leeds, New York City, listens while His Excellency the Governor of the Bahamas, Sir Raynor Arthur, K.C.M.G., C.V.O., (left) swaps tales with Louis Rice Wasey, owner of exclusive Cat Cay Club in the Bahamas. The Governor and Lady Arthur were on hand for the Bahamas International Tuna Match at Cat Cay. Mr. and Mrs. Leeds were hosts at a cocktail party to celebrate the Leeds' 23rd wedding anniversary.

William Roberts, Bahamas News Bureau

Mr. and Mrs. Albert van der Riet (left) owners of Cathedral Peak Hotel, Winterton, Natal, South Africa, with Thomas Arthur and (left) Erl Roman, Miami, Florida. Mr. van der Riet participated in the Second Annual Bahamas International Tuna Match at Cat Cay. Mr. Arthur, son of His Excellency the Governor of the Bahamas, Sir Raynor Arthur, K.C.M.G., C.V.O. and Lady Arthur attended the Tuna Match, with his parents. Second, on the yacht Karma, from the left: William Vass Shepherd, Coral Gables, Florida; Mrs. A. M. Whisnant Jr., New York City and Charlotte, N. C.; James F. McKillips Jr., Miami Beach; and, Earl Clawson, Miami. Third, comparing tournament notes, from the left: Charles F. Johnson, Palm Beach, Club commodore; Carlos Behrens, Caracas, Venezuela; and, Dr. F. G. Walton Smith of the Marine Laboratory of the University of Miami.

Roy Newbold Jr.

Winner of the Fifteenth Annual Cat Cay Tuna Tournament, with 3,331 pounds of tuna, was J. W. "Billy" Griffith (left) shown checking entry lists at Cat Cay Club with Mrs. Griffith (right) and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. "Ted" Naftzger (center) of Beverly Hills, Calif. The Griffiths live in Longview, Texas, and docked their yacht Bil-Pat at Cat Cay for two weeks. Mr. Griffith is president of Griffco. Mr. Naftzger is a rancher. Mr. Griffith caught eight tuna in the five-day event.

THE BLUE AND WHITE BURGEE bearing a black cat-on-a-key waved silently over millionaires' paradise Cat Cay in the Bahamas while giant blue-fin tuna swam offshore on their trek northward.

Nine teams, each representing a different country, battled the game fish for the Second Annual Bahamas International Tuna Match at Cat Cay.

Puerto Ricans jubilantly carried off top honors with nine tuna caught weighing a total of 3,899 pounds. As a result, the winners were dumped in the drink by less fortunate teams.

Halfway through the tournament Puerto Ricans got the party ball rolling when their captain, Esteban A. Bird handed out enormous stray hats at the club's International Party. Several guests remarked that they had been "sober" until they donned a Puerto Rican hat. Mrs. Rafael Figueroa and Mrs. Raymond Garffer passed out tiny souvenir straw hat lapel pins with the help of Mrs. Bird while their husbands introduced the Cat Cay Club trio to a rhythmic instrument made of a gourd.

1—William Roberts ; 2, 3—Roy Newbold Jr., Bahamas News Bureau

Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Bardin (left), Buenos Aires, chat with Mrs. Stafford L. Sands, wife of the chairman of the Bahamas Development Board, during a party for participants of the Second Annual Bahamas International Tuna Match, at the Cat Cay Club. The Argentina team, with Mr. Bardin captain, finished fifth with four fish caught weighing 1,723 pounds. Second, Venezuelans Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Behrens (left), Caracas, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener III, Palm Beach. Mr. Widener finished ninth in the Fifteenth Annual Cat Cay Tournament with four fish weighing 1,839 pounds. Third, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Godsey Jr., (letf), New Brunswick, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peck, Fort Lauderdale, Florida at the Cat Cay Club.

The genial Mexican team, runners-up in the tournament, arrived at the party in full regalia with Miguel Barrenechea, Louis Kaufer, Ignacio Zaragoza and team alternate Jorge Cuevas as ranchers. Their enormous hats and elaborate chaps were the envy of all tuna fishermen.

The United States team, Robert E. Maytag, captain, of Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., Elwood K. Harry of Bloomfield, N. J., and C. Dabney Thomson of Cincinnati, Ohio, showed their colors in red, white and blue outfits complete with star-studded top hats. One evening, Bob Maytag, who is noted for his African field trips, showed color slides of his 1958 visit to East Africa and Ethiopia. The week before the International test, Maytag placed third in the 15th Annual Cat Cay Tuna Tournament.

His Excellency the Governor of the Bahamas, Sir Raymond Arthur, K.C.M.G., C.V.O., and Lady Arthur, their son, Thomas, and their entourage flew to Cat Cay to be guests of jovial Louis Rice Wasey, "King of the Island". A very pleased Governor caught a sailfish and a tuna. Lady Arthur's Lady in Waiting, Allison Thorburn, caught a blue marlin.

They attended a cocktail party given at the club by Mr. and Mrs. William B. Leeds of New York City. Guests later heard that the party was given to celebrate the Leeds' 23rd wedding anniversary.

Lady Arthur was particularly interested in meeting members of the South African team. Mr. and Mrs. Albert van der Riet, owners of Cathedral Peak Hotel, Natal; team captain Walter van Rooyen of Zululand, and Trevor Derry of Darwendale, South Rhodesia were celebrities of the event, having come the farthest distance. Lady Arthur and her children spent a lot of time in South Africa during World War II.

Gallivanting South Africans came up from Peru, South America where they fished before coming to the Bahamas. Fishing only half an hour after leaving the plane in Bimini, Albert van der Riet caught a 355-pound tuna even before arriving at Cat Cay. However, the South African team's luck ran low during the match. They jokingly claimed they mistakenly used tuna repellent instead of shark repellent. Captain van Rooyen entranced listeners with stories of game fishing in African waters.

Popular Pablo Bardin, captain of the Argentina team, with his wife, Chola; Alfredo Vallebona and his wife, Elizabeth Taylor's look-alike; and Lorenzo Taylor, all of Buenos Aires, shared many jokes with attractive Venezuelans: Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Machado, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Behrens and his brother, Freddie, all from Caracas. Before leaving the island, the Argentine team presented lively Argentinian records to each team captain.

The Bahamas team spent their spare time on the skeet shooting range. Team member Mrs. Stafford L. Sands, wife of the chairman of the Bahamas Development Board, held her own in competition shooting with John Bethell and Captain James Robertson.

On several afternoons tuna fishermen and their wives gathered in the club cocktail lounge. Harry Santana of Miami, Fla., stole the show with a clicking spoon routine to the accompaniment of Miamian Dade Thornton's ukulele. Spanish Captain Louis Fernandez de Gamboa and his wife with team members A. G. Huerta and Alfred Pickman, all of Madrid, joined the Mexicans in lively "Rio Grande" singing.

The 70-foot ketch Traveler II slipped quietly into the Cat Cay docks with prominent Miami stags on board for what they laughingly called the "Seventh Annual O'Neil Invitational Tuna Tournament". Host to the group was Michael O'Neil.

1, 2, 5—William Roberts ; 3, 4—Roy Newbold Jr., Bahamas News Bureau

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Meredith, Des Moines, Iowa, at the Loft House Club in Nassau. He is vice president of Meredith Publishing Company, publishers of Better Homes and Gardens Magazine. Second, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rhodes Palmer, Lockport, N. Y., at the Coral Harbour Club. Third, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Lane, Richmond, Va., at the British Colonial Hotel. Fourth, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Wolff, London, England, who stayed at the May Fair Hotel. Fifth, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hess Jr., Rye, N. Y., who stopped at the Loft House Club.

Cruising with him were Ed McHale, James F. McKillips Jr., Dick Fincher, who is married to actress Gloria DeHaven; Jim Cernigglia, Bill Cahill, Joseph Fitzgerald, Tab Quintan, and Tom O'Neil. Others in the party were Earl Clawson, Clure Moshure, Mack Schaefer and the Rev. Lawrence Higgins.

Some of the men trooped over to yacht Karma chartered by Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Whisnant Jr., of New York City, and Charlotte, N. C., where perpetual afternoon parties were in progress.

On board for cocktails were Mr. and Mrs. Julio Sanchez of Sunset Island No. 2, Miami Beach, Fla., and Cuba, with members of the third place Chilean team, Diago de Castro, Luis Reyes and Eduardo Reyes, captain, all from Santiago. The Sanchezes visited Cat Cay on board their yacht Willow Dean III. Julio, rear commodore of the club, won the first Cat Cay tournament 20 years ago.

Some of the wives cruised to the island of Bimini for lunch one day as guests of Louis R. Wasey. His blonde aide-de-camp Iona Thornton acted as hostess for the trip aboard George Wasey's yacht, Gay Jane. George, from Connecticut, is the elder Wasey's nephew. Included in the party were Mrs. George Bass of Palm Beach, Fla., and Oxford, Mich., Mrs. Albert van der Riet, Mrs. John Rybovich of West Palm Beach, Fla., Mrs. Louis de Gamboa of Madrid, Spain; and Mrs. Elwood K. Harry of Bloomfield, N. J.

Flags were flying for presentation night and Nassau's R. H. "Bobby" Symonette, wearing a bright red blazer, held the floor as genial emcee. He had the help of club Commodore Charles F. Johnson of Palm Beach, Fla. Trophy cups in silver splendor were passed to winners. In addition, Bahamas Development Board participation awards were presented, and the Cat Cay Club gave "cat-on-the-key" sailcloth bags to each member. The women's each held a can of tuna and the men's carried liquid refreshment.

William Roberts

Cat Cay chatter was enjoyed by Mrs. William B. Leeds (left), New York City; Julio Sanchez, Miami Beach and Cuba, rear commodore of the Club; and Iona Thornton, secretary to Louis Rice Wasey, owner of Cat Cay.

The Fifteenth Annual Cat Cay Club Tuna Tournament preceded the international match. J. W. "Billy" Griffith of Longview, Texas, won the tournament. He and his petite wife celebrated that evening with Californians from Beverly Hills, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. "Ted" Naftzger.

Though they did not fish, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Godsey Jr., of New Brunswick, N. J., were much in evidence, Mrs. Godsey replete with dresses made from saris brought back from their trip to India.

Jovial C. Dabney Thomson and his blonde wife, Jane, played host and hostess to many cocktail and dinner groups. While Dabney fished during the competition, his energetic wife fished aboard their fabulous fishing cruiser, Rhino.

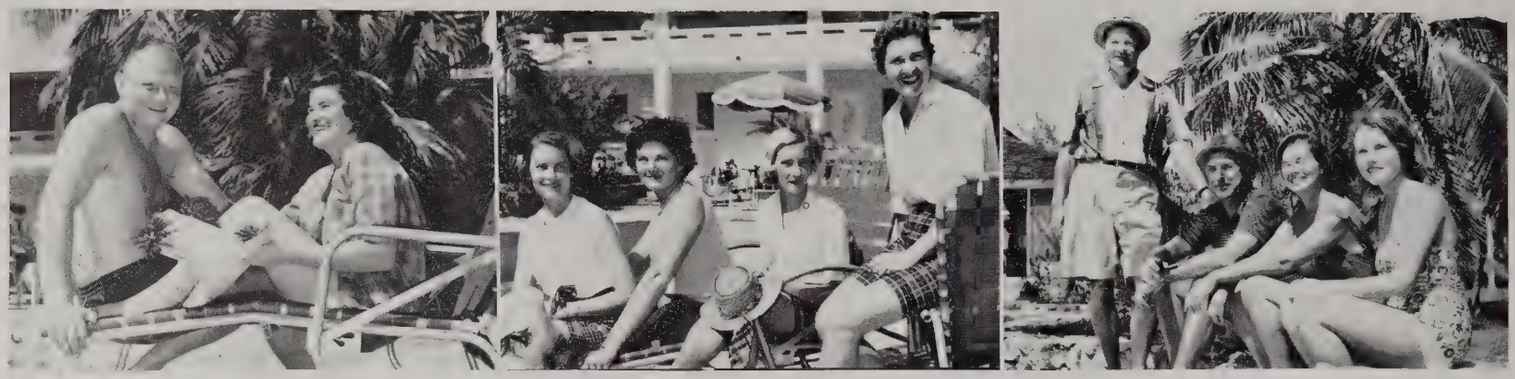
Often comparing notes were Mr. and Mrs. Elwood K. Harry of Bloomfield, N. J., with Mr. and Mrs. George Bass of Palm Beach, Fla. Mrs. Bass and Mrs. Harry formed the backbone of ladies luncheons and afternoon bridge games while the men fished.

Popular family group on hand for the event were Mr. and Mrs. John Ritchey with their attractive daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peck, all of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Mr. Ritchey, fleet commodore, used their yacht Samaki as the committee boat. The Pecks commuted from Fort Lauderdale to Cat Cay almost every weekend during the season to fish on their boat, Yitar.

Mr. and Mrs. William K. Carpenter of Fort Lauderdale spent most of their time at Cat Cay, but Mrs. Carpenter occasionally took advantage of the proximity to the mainland and flew to Lauderdale for a day of errands and shopping. Her expert fisherman

William Roberts

Seen at the Second Annual Bahamas International Tuna Match at exclusive Cat Cay Club International Night, from the left: Puerto Rican Team Captain Esteban A. Bird, Bayamon, Puerto Rico; Elwood K. Harry, Bloomfield, N. J.; a member of the United States team; Walter van Rooyen, captain of the South African team, of St. Lucia Estuary, Zululand; and C. Dabney Thomson, Cincinnati, Ohio, a member of the United States team. The Puerto Ricans caught nine fish weighing a total of 3,899 pounds to win the tournament.



1—Roy Newbold Jr. ; 2, 3—William Roberts, Bahamas News Bureau

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Spence Lyons, Toronto, Canada, at the Pilot House Club in Nassau. Second, relaxing at the Pilot House Club pool, from the left: Lizora Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clifford Miller Jr.; Mildred Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hayes Jr.; Susie Totten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Totten Jr., and, Mary Randolph Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hawes Coleman Jr., all of Richmond, Va. Third, at French Leave, Governor's Harbour, Eleuthera, from the left: E. T. Gardner Jr., Deer Park, Geenwich, Conn.; M. and Mrs. John B. Hulburd, Upper Black Eddy, Bucks County, Pa.; and, Mr. Gardner's daughter, Janet.

1, 4, 5—WilliamRoberts ; 2, 3—Terence Malone, Bahamas News Bureau

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edger, Montreal, Canada, who vacationed at the Balmoral Club. Second, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Daley, Dedham, Mass., at the Pilot House Club. Third, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Todd Jr., Nashville, Tenn., at the historic Royal Victoria Hotel. Fourth, Miss Gillian Sheen, fencing champion and dental surgeon, who was a guest at the Royal Victoria. Her hosts were Brigadier and Mrs. Thomas Robbins, formerly of England and now of Hope Town, Abaco, Bahamas. Miss Sheen is Olympic Ladies Foil Champion. Fifth, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Sledge, Memphis, Tenn., who stayed at the Royal Victoria.

1—French Leave ; 2, 4—William Roberts ; 3, 5—Terence Malone, Bahamas News Bureau

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hunter, St. Louis, Mo., at French Leave, Eleuthera Island. Second, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Yarnell, Birmingham, Mich., at French Leave, Governor's Harbour. They also stopped at The Lighthouse Club on Andros Island. Third, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Cashin, Kansas City Mo., with daughter, Betty, and son, Pat, at the Fort Montagu Beach Hotel. Fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Collins Jr., Ocklawaha, Florida, who honeymooned at the Fort Montagu Beach and later at the Pink Sands in Harbour Island. He is a cousin of Governor LeRoy Collins of Florida. Fifth, Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Fox, Baltimore, Md., at the Lighthouse Club on Andros Island.

1, 2, 3, 4—William Roberts; 5—Terence Malone—Bahamas News Bureau

From the left: Dr. and Mrs. Hiram S. Eggers, Louisville, Ky., with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rogers Gernert, Louisville, at Fort Montagu Beach Hotel. Second, Mr. and Mrs. Willard A. White, Lake Forest, Ill., at French Leave, Eleuthera. Third, Mr. and Mrs. David L. Cunliffe, Springfield, Mass., who stayed at the Royal Victoria Hotel in Nassau. Fourth, Dr. and Mrs. Edward F. Lewison, Baltimore, Md., who stopped at the British Colonial Hotel. Fifth, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pullman, Lake Forest, Ill., at the Lighthouse Club on Andros Island.

husband, Bill, caught his 300th tuna while fishing for fun during the international match.

Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Peter Widener III of Palm Beach, Fla., joined parties after he finished fishing in the club competition. Mrs. Widener is the former Mrs. Patricia Massie Tevander, daughter of Mrs. Joel White Massie of Palm Beach.

Singer Frances Langford and her husband Ralph Evinrude joined in the conviviality for a day and a night while their yacht Chanticleer was anchored in the blue-green waters just off-shore.

Sports car driver Eddie Crawford of Northfield, Ill., got a little off course for a landlubber and cruised to Cat Cay with his blonde sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Duval of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., aboard their luxury boat, Valcrest IV.

Jarvis Darville

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Swift (center) of "Shore Acres," St. Petersburg, Florida, after their wedding at Nassau. With them is the bride's son, James Best of Hialeah, Florida, Mrs. Best, and their daughter, Karen. Mrs. Swift is the former Mrs. Reve Fletcher Best of St. Petersburg. Mr. Swift is a member of the Swift and Company family. The wedding party, which included 21 people, cruised to Nassau aboard the S. S. Florida and returned to Florida after a weekend stay.

1, Roy Newbold Jr.; 2, William Roberts; 3, Roland Rose; 4-5, Terence Malone

From the left: at Nassau's exclusive Coral Harbour Club, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Russell and S. W. Raulerson, all of Miami Beach. Second, Mr. and Mrs. Conway Hamilton (left and right) and Mrs. Hillard Willis (center) all of Coral Gables, Fla., guests of Lindsey Hopkins, co-owner of the Coral Harbour Club. Third, Jim Wynne (seated), Miami; William Taylor McKeown, New York City, editor of Popular Boating magazine, and Pat Rosanna, Hialeah, Fla. Fourth, Mr. and Mrs. John N. McMath, Wilton, Conn., and their children, Gregory and Sandra, who stopped at the Nassau Beach Lodge. Fifth, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Motley, Bay Colony, Virginia Beach, Va., who were at the Coral Harbour Club at Nassau.

Nantucket

IN THE SUMMER to follow, they still will be talking about the wonderful season when the island of Nantucket celebrated its 300th birthday. Each day brings new and different anniversary events so that it can be said without exaggeration, "there's something doing every minute."

More than 40 feminine outfits ranging from the simplest bathing suit to an ultra-elegant shirred dinner dress with swirling ostrich feathers were modeled by 16 women and young girls at the Ruth Chagnon fashion show at the Sankaty Head Golf Club.

Mrs. Winfield Perdun and Mrs. Robert Clarke Hills, of the Siasconset section, were the co-chairmen. Mrs. Perdun and Louis Krauthoff were commentators; Maj. Gen. H. Conger Pratt and Ray Harley introduced the commentators; Mrs. J. B. Finnell was entertainment chairman and Mrs. E. C. Anderson, sales.

Debutantes and young women who modeled were: Miss Kathy Powers, Miss Jeanette Sanford, Mrs. William Newman, Mrs. Thomas McCabe, Miss Susan Goetz, Miss Chichi Sanford, Mrs. Carol Smith, Mrs. Edward Ashire, Mrs. Finnell, Mrs. Charles Goetz, Mrs. Judith Sanford, Mrs. James Fleming, Mrs. William Tuach and Miss Gaylon Lucas.

At the Oriental Bazaar, held on the porch and gardens of Wallace Hall, Madam Mitsu Ari won the highest award for arrangements and for her work in the advancement of flower club ideas. She is a member of the Greenwich, Conn., Garden Club and was responsible for the charmingly decorated scene. General chairman was Mrs. John Ralston assisted by Mrs. Hal Armstrong, Mrs. Alan Melhado, Mrs. Tuppency, Mrs. James Fleming, Mrs. Lawrence Nutler, Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Herzog.

A new art gallery on the Nantucket scene with a very unique name, "The Lobster Pot," is providing an attraction for art enthusiasts. Located alongside the row of scallop shanties on Old South Wharf, its proprietor is George E. Vigouroux Jr., with Miss Judy Sanford assisting him. Mrs. Charles Payson, sister of Jock Whitney, has collaborated with Mr. Vigouroux in selecting the objets d'art on display.

A steady stream of customers was in evidence the day that the Nantucket Garden Club held a three hour public inspection of nine charming Nantucket kitchens. Mrs. John Lucas showed her modern kitchen furnished with pink appliances and visitors delighted at her walled Chinese garden. A short distance away, Mr. and Mrs. Earle MacAusland's house with superb array of herbs, copper pans, casseroles and ramekins used for testing Gourmet magazine recipes was viewed. Mr. MacAusland is president of the Gourmet Cook Book and Magazine and the family home here has an exquisite view of Polpis Harbor.

Other equally attractive kitchens on the tour were those of Harold Beach, Mrs. John Ralston, the Misses Mary Elizabeth Walker and Margaret Prentice, Robert Epple, Miss Grace Brown Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Stokeley Morgan and Dr. and Mrs. Edward Shannon.

Of interest to the Nantucket summer colony was the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin W. Guy II of Washington, D. C., of the marriage of Mrs. Guy's daughter, Miss Julie Matheson Arnold to Whiting Russell Willauer of Nantucket and Washington, son of the United States Ambassador to Costa Rica and Mrs. Whiting Willauer of Nantucket.

The ceremony was performed in St. Alban's Church, Washington, by the Rev. John P. Gorsuch, and a reception was held at the Chevy Chase Club. William Potter Arnold gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was graduated from the Potomac and Madeira Schools and from Vassar College in 1956. She was presented to society in 1952 at the Washington Debutante Ball and at a dance in the Sulgrave Club. She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Matheson of Alexandria, Va., and Cocoanut Grove, Fla., and of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Arnold of Portsmouth, R. I.

Mr. Willauer was graduated from Milton Academy and from Princeton University in 1953. He is a grandson of the late Mrs. Stanley G. H. Fitch of Brookline, Mass., and Nantucket, the late B. F. W. Russell, the late Mrs. Roland Whitridge of Rye, N. Y., and of the late Arthur E. Willauer.

A second marriage of interest was that of Miss Carol Nation, daughter of Rear Admiral Milton A. Nation USN (Ret.) and Mrs. Nation of Los Angeles, and George Storer Baldwin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Storer Baldwin of Chestnut Hill, Mass., and Nantucket. Their vows were exchanged in St. Alban's Episcopal Church, Los Angeles. The couple honeymooned in Mexico.

In the wedding party were the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baldwin of Lincoln, Mass., Todd Baldwin and Wendell Baldwin, also brothers.

The bride was presented to society in 1953 and is a graduate of the Hewlett School, Hockaday School, Dallas, Texas, and the University of North Carolina. Mr. Baldwin prepared at Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass., was graduated from Princeton University in 1949 and was awarded his degree in chemical engineering in 1950 from the University of Colorado. He is a member of the Royal Curling Club and Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club in Montreal where the couple will make their home.

Vacationing on the island now are Dr. and Mrs. Walter F. Ballinger and sons, Jeff and Chris from Radnor, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. William Herbert and their children, Willy and Miranda, Grosse Pointe, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bickley and daughters from New Canaan, Conn.; Miss Joan Fennell, who will be the guest of Mrs. Linda Bassett and daughter, Susan; Mrs. I. M. Tarlov and the Misses Ann and Susan Tarlov from New York, guests of Mrs. Jane Heyburn. Mrs. Tarlov has recently returned from a trip to Russia and Dr. Tarlov and his son, Ed, will be with the other members of the family for a late summer vacation.

Brig.-Gen. and Mrs. William L. Ritchie and their two children, Louise and Bill, arrived from Washington and are at "The Dolphins," on the North Bluff at Siasconset; Mr. and Mrs. Christian H. Hecker from Detroit and daughter, Mrs. John C. Hodges and her four children are here. Mr. Hodges plans to join them later.

Misses Susan, Emily and Marian Young from Wilton, Conn., joined their mother, Mrs. George Young and sister Kathy. Visiting Colonel and Mrs. Frederick of Washington have been Mr. and Mrs. John Dregge, Washington. Miss Jackie Haroldson of Pompton Lakes, N. J., visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bjornson Haroldson. She is on a six-week tour of Europe.

Dr. and Mrs. Alex Zucker of Oak Ridge, Tenn., concluded a New England visit with a stay at Nantucket. Other vacationists have been: At "New Ocean House," Lee J. Levinger, Miss Leah Levinger, Mr. and Mrs. George Truran, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Eppler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Coe and Miss Francine Cohen; at "Sea Cliff Inn," Mr. and Mrs. John Lord O'Brian, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. T. R. Macy, Miami; Albert Macy, Lincoln, Neb.; Miss Helen B. Doonan, Boston.

At "Ship's Inn," Mr. and Mrs. Hans Barker, Vero Beach, Fla.; Miss Ruth Clapp, Miss Mary C. Powell and Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Miller, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Hagemann, Forest Hills, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris, Princeton, N. J.; Dr. and Mrs. Roswell Johnson, West Britain, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Masterson, Houston, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller, Stratford, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Nagel Jr., Palos Verdes Estates, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Wilson, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. MacLenon Farrell, New York City; Miss Marian Shelby and Miss Florence Brush, Teaneck, N. J. and the Harold M. Tague Jr.'s of Philadelphia.

Still other arrivals are: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ernst, Gladwyne, Pa.; the John L. Lymans, Sherburn, Mass.; Mrs. Buell P. Mills, Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Seldon S. Yates, Englewood, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Braff and family, Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Morgan and children, St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. and Mrs. Walter W. Boyd, Miss Josephine Boyd and John Boyd, Bethesda, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Taber, Sarasota, Fla.; Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Borneman and family, Montclair, N. J.

Also, Mrs. J. W. Rutter, Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y.; Mrs. Edward H. Townsend and family, Rochester, N. Y., who will be joined later by Dr. Townsend and son Jimmy; Mrs. John M. Taylor, Villanova, Pa.; the Morris Phinneys of Harrisville, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hecker Jr. and family from Miami; S. J. Thompsons of Glendale, Ohio.

—FRANCES ROGERS.

Tierney & Killingsworth, Inc.

Handing out favors at the Easter Lily Ball at the Surf Club are (left) Mrs. Wallace Gilroy and (right) Mrs. Robert Z. Greene, members of the Ball committee. Center is Robert M. Pentland, a co-sponsor. Proceeds from the annual Ball go to the Society for Crippled Children and Adults at Miami.

Miami

By HELEN WELLS

MIAMI'S "LITTLE SEASON" rolls along with verve and sparkle. For although many of the social set have flown East, West and over the "cookoo's nest" the summer colony is large and party-minded.

For instance, there was a bit of Miami transformed into jolly old England when personable David Crichton, Her Majestry's Britannic Consul in Miami, and his lady, entertained for cocktails. Occasion was to celebrate the official birthday of Queen Elizabeth II and the party locale was the Crichton's home in Cocoanut Grove.

Welcoming guests at front door was the Crichtons' eleven-year old daughter, Finella, who goes to England this fall to school. She performed her hostess duties with aplomb and grace.

Both Finella and her five-year old brother, Charles' contribution to the party was to dash in and inform Mrs. Crichton, "Mom, the food is ready!"

Frank White, vice consul of Great Britain and Mrs. White gave a helping hand with guests who included Bill Dickinson, retired commander of the Royal Navy. Mr. D. is in charge of the research vessel, Gerda, at University of Miami.

* * *

Winter colonist on Pinetree Drive, Nancy Greene, picks up her telephone in Darien, Conn., or her lavish apartment in New York, and calls her friends in Miami, any old time.

She and Bob, who went to Russia with a group of Miami business and professional men, gave a houseparty at their Connecticut home for a group of Miamians including Elsa and Bill Stubblefield.

They entertained at a huge dinner party for their guests on the terrace of their house. This fronts their private lake land and is a spot of breath-taking beauty.

* * *

James Sottile, of Coral Gables, whose interests range from Miami's Pan American Bank to vast holdings in the Keys and elsewhere, and his bride of 50 years celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

There was a mass at the Church of the Little Flower in the Gables followed by a family brunch at Riviera Country Club. Flying down from Grosse Point, Mich., for the event were their daughter, Mary Louise, and her husband, John R. DeHart. Sons James Jr., and William and their families were more in the party.

* * *

VPIs in aviation, law and civic life from all over the U. S. A. were dinner guests—225 strong—of Irma and Ted Baker at the Bath Club. Ted is president of National Air Lines and his Irma is a blonde extraordinary beauty. For the party she was wearing white eyelet over pink and had a new hair-do with provocative bangs.

With Cleo and Niles Trammell . . . he is an executive with a TV station in Miami and former head of CBS . . . was Eileen (Mrs. Lee) Hills. Pixie faced Eileen said she was exhausted from moving into their new home in Bay Point, also the residence of the Bakers.

Wilbur Morrison, v.p. with Pan American, was there with his blonde Jean who was in chic black with the new pale pink makeup. Another important figure was Edward Stodala, Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner from Washington.

* * *

From Chicago came news of Loretto and Fred Snite's great do for their 50th wedding anniversary. This gold and white dinner dance was held at the Elmhurst Country Club for 300 and many of their Miami winter friends flew to the Windy City for the celebration.

Fred is no novice at putting on a big whingding, with Loretto working behind the scenes. His St. Francis Hospital benefit Ball at the Surf Club each February draws anywhere from 500 to 700 and is one of the gala balls of the season.

Ray Fisher

William Rivas and his wife, Maria, the daughter of Marline Dietrich.

Tierney & Killingsworth, Inc.

From the left: Mrs. E. Roy Fitzgerald, co-chairman of decorations for the Easter Lily Ball, Mrs. Julio Sanchez, co-chairman of patrons and Mrs. Richard King Lackey, general chairman of the Ball.

Fred's brothers, Frank J. Snite of Oakland, Calif., and Albert P. Snite of Chicago were in the gathering as were Snites' daughter-in-law, Tessie, widow of Fred Snite Jr., and their daughter, Mary and her husband Terrence Dillon of Chicago.

Among Miamians who flew in for the party were Fran and George Obrecht of Baltimore who stayed on to visit their daughter, Nancy and her husband George Victor. The Victors have a winter home on Sunset Island II, and own a stable of racers.

Helen and Loren Berry of Dayton and the Surf Club, Virginia and Jim Gerity of Adrian, Mich., and the Surf Club, Hazel and Al Penn of Surfside and Goshen, Ind., Ida and Walter Olson of Chicago and Miami Beach were more of a Miami crowd.

* * *

There are two houseparties drawing Miamians to Colorado this summer. Dorrit Chalmers is inviting friends to the Garden of the Gods Club in Denver and Adele, Baroness Val von Poushental ditto to her beautiful summer ranch home outside of Denver, "Hacienda del Sol."

Connie and Clarence Hand, long-time winter residents at their vast estate on Pinetree Drive, write from the latter spot, that they are having a ball.

Yours truly has been a-traveling, too. A party composed of Ivah (Mrs. Neil) Miller, of Sunset Island II, Agnes (Mrs. Herrol) Bellomy of Coral Gables, and I, boarded the private plane of Vera and Larry (L. B.) Smith and winged away to Reno.

Mr. S. is a tycoon in aviation, oil, gold mines, automobile agencies and what-not. He and his good looking honey blonde Vera live on Sunset Island I, when in Miami Beach. They also have their ranch house in Reno, and elegant apartments in Washington and New York.

From the left: Mr. and Mrs. James G. Kennedy with daughter, Rita, and son, James Jr., from Larchmont, N. Y. Second, scene of the weekly fishing contest, held for all youngsters and presided over by the junior hostess. Third, Mrs. B. J. J. Mooney of Chicago.

Ponte Vedra

By HOPE WALKER

SUMMER SEEMS to be skimming along on wings! Upon waking one bright and sunny morning, you realize that it is suddenly the middle of summer and you begin to think about the coming fall. Only yesterday, so it seemed, you were embarking on the glorious summer months to come but time passes quickly only when a person is enjoying himself and having a good time. Here at Ponte Vedra, a "whirl-wind" of activities is provided to tempt even the most unenergetic person, thus ensuring a good time to be had by all.

Some guests visiting Ponte Vedra recently: A. B. Alexander of Spartanburg, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Alexander Jr., of Wayne, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brumback Jr., of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Burhoe of Westport, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Crutcher of Gainesville, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Eckles of Princeton, N. J.; Mrs. H. C. Henger of St. Louis, Ky.; and Dr. and Mrs. L B. Jester of Florence, Ala.

The Junior Hostess, Susan Perry, is often seen around Ponte Vedra (mainly at the pool) with a hoard of children in tow. Youngsters are entertained but also kept under a watchful eye. Summer time is family time . . . families find that each member may choose from a variety of activities and one is sure to appeal to the individual. Families that are enjoying a vacation together here at Ponte Vedra are: Dr. and Mrs. Winston Braun and family of Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Deyo and family of Anniston, Ala.; and Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Lentz and family, also from Anniston, Ala. Larchmont, N. Y., guests are Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kennedy and family; from Atlanta, Ga., we have Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morrissey and family; and, from Fort Smith, Ark., we have as guests, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Randall and family and Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Paul with their family.

The weekly guest cocktail party hosted by General Manager Luther N. Grimes, is an ideal atmosphere for bringing together new friends and new foursomes. Visitors who attended a cocktail party recently: Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Johnson of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Milligan of Greenville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Liddon McPeters of Corinth, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. George McBurney from Florence, Ala.; and, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. B. Young of Osceola, Ark.

When day dawns, in the still of the early morning, an ardent fishing fan may be seen silently stealing down to the surf or the lagoon to get a head start on filling up his creel with fish! Deep-sea fishing may also be a treat for many to try and boats leave the docks at Mayport and nearby St. Augustine daily. It's really a thrill to land your first big red snapper, king mackerel or best of all, a sail fish.

Of course, summer is at its height of gaiety and festivity on the fourth of July. The elaborate display of fireworks is always a thrill to young and old alike. Night is anxiously awaited and a crowd gathers to see the red, white and blue, whirly and brilliant figures in the sky. The fireworks were held on the beach in front of the Surf Club and the ocean made a perfect background for the lights to play upon the water.

On the Pitch and Putt course, guests find it is relaxing and fun to bone up on their golf game and get in shape for the 18-hole golf course here at Ponte Vedra. Our famous 9th island hole is not only the most talked about hole in all golfing circles, but it also one of the most beautiful. And in the Golf Club Lounge, you may refresh yourself after a grueling game and discuss with fellow golfers your score for the day. Golfing here recently: E. A. Camp Jr., of Birmingham, Ala.; Kilian A. Kirschner of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. Douglas Brooks, Chattanooga, Tenn.; F. H. Hahn of Bronxville, N. Y.; and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Alford of Havana, Cuba; O. H. Miller Jr., of Germantown, Tenn., and, Dr. H. K. Turley of Memphis, Tenn.

The ever popular dining and dancing under the stars at the Surf Club Patio every Thursday and Saturday evenings with sparkling entertainment is just one more escape for vacationers.

The Inn and surroundings are dedicated to gracious, comfortable living . . . and vacationing. Dancing, fishing, swimming, golfing, playing tennis . . . all, are conveniently concentrated for the year-round pleasure of every member of your family and summer only makes Ponte Vedra just that much more inviting!

From the left: Mr. and Mrs. Craig Culbertson Jr., of Louisville, Ky., on the West Terrace of the Inn. Second, Jamie and Michael Kane, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kane of Louisville, Ky. Third, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Grayson of Memphis, Tenn. Fourth, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Salisbury of Hamden, Conn.

All Photos—Ponte Vedra Club

From the left: a family group from Washington, D. C., includes Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wyble with their daughter, Mary Anne and sons, Tommy and Jimmie. Second, Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Sullivan with their granddaughters, Rocky and Pam Sullivan from Louisville, Ky. Third, Mrs. R. M. Kennedy and son, Frank Poynor of Birmingham, Ala.

Photos—Bert and Richard Morgan Studio

"Vicious Cycle" members ready for their ride up Lake Trail. From the left, Mrs. Lyon Boston (in wheelchair), George E. Vigouroux Jr., John Lane, Mrs. Walter Van Durand, Mrs. Frank Kemp Quigley, Mr. Quigley, Mrs. Messmore Kendall, Mrs. Raymond G. Emery, Mr. Emery, George Stinchfield.

The Vicious Cycle Just Pedals Along

ORGANIZATION HERE this spring of a bicycle club known as the "Vicious Cycle" has served both to revive interest in a once popular sport here and to bring to light tales of an earlier group, known as the "Pedal Club".

George E. Vigouroux Jr., is accredited with founding the "Vicious Cycle", primarily because he didn't like to bicycle alone and finds it excellent exercise. Accordingly each Sunday morning during the late season days, a group of congenial friends, including some of those who painted together on week-days up at the Messmore Kendall guest house near the Inlet, would gather at Bradley Park north of the Flagler Bridge.

Most of the times, the baskets on the bicycles contained a packed lunch for the objective was the Kendall guest house and patio, where the cyclists would gather for refreshment and a rest before starting back. Sometimes a station wagon would transport all the accessories for them, and bring any stragglers back.

Mrs. Raymond G. Emery, also known as Marta Linden the actress.

In one or two cases, an adult tricycle or a wheelchair would sneak into the cortege, but stream-lined English bikes were in the main the order of the day.

Though the current "Vicious Cycle", which plans to keep on next season, was a once a week affair, the "Pedal Club", organized about 1934, was much more strenuous. Members, according to Mrs. Miriam Graham, were committed to daily rides up to the Inlet and back, and tardy members were fined $1. The fines at the end of the season were donated to the Brownie Girl Scout Packs to help send some of the little girls from Belle Glade to the Marjorie Daniel Girl Scout Camp for a week's outing.

Another welfare activity that received aid from the "Pedal Club" was the Tuberculosis Fund Raising Campaign. At the suggestion of the late Hugh Dillman, four of the members staged a race around the dog track late one spring. Mrs. Gracie Hall, now Mrs. Albin Jansik of the Virgin Islands, came in first; Mrs. Miriam Graham was second and Mrs. Byron Chandler, was third.

Cape Cod

By FRANCES ROGERS

THE LATTER PART OF AUGUST is regaining its position as the favored vacation period on Cape Cod. All resort sections report heavy registrations for the weeks just preceding Labor Day and there are indications that the Indian Summer season enjoyed on the peninsula from September through October may prove equally as popular.

The Commodore's cocktail party at the Wianno Yacht Club highlighted the opening of the season for about 200 summering or visiting at the exclusive resort. Commodore Stanley Bodell and his wife, Pat, spent a busy time trying to get everyone acquainted. Assisting them were other officers of the club, H. Cameron Morris, John Madden, William Danforth Jr., Gordon L. Wheeler, Edward N. Wilkes and Mrs. Joan Gill.

Among the many members present were the Vincent Baileys, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kiley Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mattison, Mr. and Mrs. A. Felix duPont Jr., Mrs. Thomas Gates, Mrs. Joseph Bodell, the John Whites, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Schaefer Jr. and the Byron Ramsings.

The board of governors of the Wianno Club invited all members and their families to a cocktail party also as an opening event. Present chairman of the board is H. Donald Campbell and Robert W. White is the president. Other members include Nathaniel V. Davis, James G. Hinkle, George R. Walker, B. Allen Rowland, George R. Rowland, Arthur O. Wellman, Frank A. Day Jr., Byron K. Elliott, Sigurd S. Larmon, Donald K. David, Gladeon M. Barnes, Joseph Mattison Jr. and Vincent R. Bailey.

Vacationing at West Falmouth are Mrs. Leon F. Fass, Concord, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allison, Longmeadow, Mass.; the George R. Collins family, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Heusel and daughter, Vestal, N. Y.; Sheldon Gardners, Columbia, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Northrup, Englewood, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Graham and family, Milton, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. William F. Gaston and their children, Ho-Ho-Kus, N. J.; Robert G. Mawhinney family, Wellesley, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel MacDonald and children, South Easton, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. John Schumacher and family, Rye, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan Duffy and family, Tenafly, N. J.

In Woods Hole and the immediate vicinity are Mr. and Mrs. Boylston A. Tompkins, New York City; Dr. and Mrs. Richard Gamble and family from Berkeley, Calif.; Dr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Butler, Princeton, N. J.; the Thomas Motleys, Milton, Mass.; Dr. Morris H. Harnley, New York and his daughter, Miss Monique Harnley, Northfield, Mass.; Mrs. George B. Jenkins, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Desmarest Allen, Summit, N. J.; Dr. and Mrs. James J. Ferguson and three children from Swarthmore, Pa.; Dr. and Mrs. Murray Glusman, New York City.

Dr. Benjamin Spock, noted authority on children, was a brief visitor to Woods Hole. Arriving there with his wife from Cleveland, Dr. Spock stayed at Harbor House before leaving for a month's cruise on their boat, Turtle. Garry Moore was on his sloop Redwing, enroute to Maine, and stopped at Sandwich near the Cape Cod Canal.

Spending their honeymoon in Falmouth were Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Munro Green whose wedding took place in the chapel of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, Bryn Mawr, Pa. Mrs. Green is the former Miss Lucy Featherstone, daughter of Mrs. William Osler Abbott of Bryn Mawr and the Metoxit section of Falmouth, and the late Dr. Abbott.

Miss Ann Gatewood Abbott, the bride's sister, was her maid of honor, while bridesmaids included Mrs. Bruce E. Barnard of Falmouth Heights, Mass.; Miss Deborah Green of Staten Island, N. Y., sister of the bridegroom; Miss True Talley of Boston and Miss June Berguido of Colony, Va.

Mr. Green, whose parents are Mrs. Mary Tibbitts of Staten Island and Thomas Marshall Green of New York City, had his brother Bradford Barto Green as his best man. Ushers were Lawrence C. Wood, Haverford, Pa.; John Dennis Jordan, Metedeconk, N. J.; Sabin Smith, Washington, D. C.; William Cary Hogan Jr., Cambridge, Mass.; Harry Schaible, Rutherford, N. J. and Roger Winn, Perth Amboy, N. J.

Mr. Green was graduated from Harvard in June where he was a member of the Speakers Club and the Hasty Pudding Institute of 1770. His bride attended Agnes Irwin School in Wynnewood, Pa., and the Connecticut College for Women. She is a provisional member of the Bryn Mawr Junior League.

Newcomers and the return of many familiar summerites is noted at the longtime popular resort of Hyannisport, a little farther down Cape from Falmouth. Mr. and Mrs. William N. McEldowney of Pittsburgh, have taken a house for the season; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard O. Gerrish have returned and had as recent guests Mr. and Mrs. Preston F. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Rollins, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alderman and Mr. and Mrs. F. Kenneth Moruso, all of Wellesley, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marshall, Princeton, N. J., their daughters Elizabeth and Helena, occupied a cottage for the first half of the season; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Shepherd of Pittsburgh arrived for the summer and another Pittsburgh family, the Philip A. Wiggins, also are at Hyannisport.

Colonel and Mrs. Herbert A. Gidney arrived from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and entertained their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Kaiser, and granddaughter Corena, of Knoxville, Tenn. The James C. Chaplin III of Sewickley, Pa., are spending another summer at the 'Port as is Colonel J. Frank Drake of Pittsburgh. Colonel Drake was visited by his grandson, Chester K. LaSalle of Greenwich, Conn., and a group of friends, and also his daughter, Mrs. C. K. Hillbard of Greenwich. Also here were Dr. and Mrs. Paul Traub of Newburgh, N. Y., and their daughter Beth.

At nearby Centerville, an important summer wedding was that of Miss Frances Elizabeth Miley and John Edward Eckert, solemnized by the Rev. Howard A. Waldron at Our Lady of Victory Church. The daughter of Mrs. James Thomas Miley of Milton, Mass., and Centerville, and her husband, who is a son of the John E. Eckerts of Providence, R. I., and Osterville on the Cape, received congratulations at a reception afterwards in the fashionable Oyster Harbors Club.

Joseph H. Wiley of Wellesley Hills, Mass., gave his niece in marriage.

Miss Deanne L'Ecuyer of Milton was maid of honor; Miss Mary Eckert of Providence, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Mary Regan of Jamaica Plain, Mass., Miss Joan Stanley, Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass., and Miss Virginia Watson, Hingham, Mass., bridesmaids.

Best man was Charles A. O'Brien of Pawtucket, R. I. Ushers were John Regan, Jamaica Plain; George Ford, East Weymouth; Keven Kelly, Newton and Thomas Quinn, Pawtucket.

Being married at another Cape colony this season is post-debutante Henriette Pennypacker, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Hovey Jr., of Newton Center Mass., and Chatham, and Robert Burnett Binswanger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Binswanger of Philadelphia. The wedding has been planned for late August. A graduate of the Windsor School and Wheelock College, Miss Pennypacker also is the daughter of Thomas Ruston Pennypacker of Dover, Mass., and granddaughter of the late Henry Pennypacker. She made her debut during the 1952-1953 season.

The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Deerfield Academy and Dartmouth College. He now is a teacher at Deerfield.

The 22nd of August is the date selected by another socially prominent Chatham summer resident for her marriage. Miss Anne Whitman Kimball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Kimball II of Newton, Mass., and Chatham, will be wed then to Clyde C. Smith II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Smith of Warren, Pa. A member of Boston's Junior League, the bride-elect was graduated from Dana Hall School and Goucher College. Mr. Smith was graduated from Dartmouth College and the Art Center School in Los Angeles.

Other visitors at various places along the Cape: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Kemp of Worcester, at Bay View Cabins in Brewster; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis of Concord, N. H., the John Mathers of Medford, Mass., the William F. Waltons of Attleboro, Mass., and Edward Hooper, well-known New York painter, all at Truro; Mr. and Mrs. August MacLeod of North Wilmington, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Cole and son of Paterson, N. J., Dr. and Mrs. Jack Begner of New York City, the Arthur Thurman family of Katonah, N. Y., and the Howard Pelhams of Indianapolis, all staying in Provincetown.

Bermuda Dramatizes Its 350th Year

By BARBARA DUBIVSKY

Bermudian artist Charles Lloyd Tucker gives his conception of the colony's outdoor Festival Theatre, in Prospect Park. "This Island's Mine", Constance Bainbridge's play based on Shakespeare's "The Tempest" had its world premiere here June 29th. John Kaufman, a young Canadian, designed the theatre. The backs and sides of the seating stands and lighting towers are Tudor in effect, as are dressing rooms which form part of an Elizabethan street scene, (rear left). Visible on the right (rear) is Ariel's promentory. A bank of Cassurina trees form a backdrop, stage centre, rear. A six-inch playing platform projects into the box seats.

Born in a Tempest, and so immortalized by Shakespeare, Bermuda fittingly chose to tell the story of its dramatic shipwreck discovery through the medium of the living theatre. In all, four plays are being presented through the year by the colony's 350th Anniversary Theatre.

"This Island's Mine", the first of two principal productions, is Constance Bainbridge's original conception of how Shakespeare must have learned of the wreck of the Sea Venture through the ballads and broadsheets of his day, from journals published by survivors (one of these chroniclers, William Strachey, was a sometime actor in London and so conceivably came into contact with Shakespeare), and the talk of mariners in the Thameside taverns frequented by the Bard of Avon and his player friends. Mrs. Bainbridge's facile pen relates Shakespeare's personal problems at that period of his life to the warring elements of "The Tempest", portions of which are interspersed throughout Mrs. Bainbridge's play in dream sequences. Thus we see the character of Shakepeare-Prospero bidding farewell to the work of his life and retiring to the quiet and peace of his native town.

Talented young John Kaufmann, a Canadian resident in Bermuda, has designed an open-air theatre-in-the-almost round. Tudor in theme, the new Festival Theatre sits in a glen at Prospect Park, site of the former British Army Garrison. A curtain of cassurinas forms an effective central backdrop, flanked by Ariel's rock and Caliban's cave on the left, and Elizabethan street scene on the right. The playing area, a six-inch platform, extends to the very edges of the box seats and encompasses the aisles, which are sometimes used as entrances during the play. Shields adorn the seating stands, which are covered side and rear to resemble buildings of the period of the play. The overall effect is of an Elizabethan village. Even the dressing rooms, which form part of the street set, are executed in the same style; and, the walk approaching the theatre is illuminated by torches and gaily decorated with banners. All these elements combine to create an enchanting theatrical experience.

From late June through early July, this unique setting has been the scene of the new, original play which has attracted attention in drama circles here and abroad. The directors of Bernard Miles' new Mermaid Theatre in London cabled the author expressing a desire to see the script with an eye to possibly producing it. And, magazine and newspaper critics from the United States and Canada have been among those in the audience; their reviews have been most encouraging.

Bringing the play to life was a strong professional staff from the United States, Canada and Bermuda. The entire production was staged by Basil Langton, who also starred in the dual roles of Shakespeare and Prospero. Mr. Langton had previously been associated with versions of "The Tempest" at the Stratford Memorial Theatre, in the B.B.C.'s television production, which presented the British premiere of Sibelius' music and later in the American premiere of that score with the Cincinnati Symphony, at the Empire State Music, and at the Jamestown (Virginia) Festival – the latter being closely associated with Bermuda, since it was for Jamestown the Sea Venture was bound when she foundered off the Bermuda reefs.

As does Mr. Langton, so do most of the rest of the cast portray dual roles, since Mrs. Bainbridge's premise is that Shakespeare as he conceived his "Tempest", must have imagined parts in it for The Kings Men, his players. Memorable performances are given by Meredith Dallas, who portrays Richard Burbage, England's greatest actor of his day, and Caliban, whom Shakespeare depicts as the beast in man; Donald Ewer as Twinkle-Trinculo, a bewitched survivor of both the Sea Venture and Tempest wrecks; Jerry Hardin as Nicholas Tooley, a young actor and Ariel, Shakespeare's shaping fancy; Patricia Barnard, a young Bermudan graduate of New York's Neighborhood Playhouse, who plays Judith Shakespeare and Miranda; John Conrad, as the Earl of Pembroke and Alonzo, King of Naples. Notable in two of the single roles were Raymond Johnson of the Old Vic as Giles Cottrell, a tavernkeeper; and Brendan Thomas Dillon, who portrays the Balladman.

Basil Langton, director and star of "This Island's Mine", Constance Bainbridge's original play based on Shakespeare's "The Tempest" revived the Elizabethan custom of having the cast appear on stage prior to the beginning of each performance to pay their respects to the royal box with bows and curtsies. Here they do so, with the colony's Governor, Lieut. Gen. Sir John Woodhall accepting the courtesy as "God Save the Queen" is played.

Continued on Page 48

Archie W. Slawsby (left), of Nashua, N. H., president of the National Association of Insurance Agents, and a well-known art collector, with Al Evans, resident manager of the Edgewater Gulf Hotel. Second, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Lonergan and grandsons, Patrick Lonergan (left), and S. J. Lonergan III, all of Elkhart, Indiana on the Hotel grounds. Third, from the left, Will Hartwell, president of the Gulfport (Miss.) Realtors; George Arndt, president of Biloxi (Miss.) Realtors; Buford Yerger, Mississippi director of the FHA, and W. P. Bridges Jr., president of the Mississippi Real Estate Association.

Edgewater Gulf

By JOHN AND JEAN BOSWORTH

(All Photos by Montell Studio)

Miss Virginia Marmaduke, Chicago NBC tradio-TV commentator, who came to the Edgewater Gulf Hotel for a holiday during the summer, had some interesting stories to tell old friends here—she had just covered the arrival of Queen Elizabeth at Chicago's St. Lawrence Seaway Festival. Miss Marmaduke, of WMAQ, Chicago, achieved national fame when she was the subject of NBC-TV's "This Is Your Life," and one of her greatest thrills in a distinguished newspaper and radio career was spending three weeks on the "Ike Train" caravan in 1952 as a member of the official press corps. Miss Marmaduke was here to spend her birthday week-end at the hotel with her mother, Mrs. H. C. Marmaduke, who is a year 'round resident of the Edgewater Gulf.

An interesting guest at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel in early June was Archie W. Slawsby, of Nashua, N. H., President of the National Association of Insurance Agents, who was here to address the Mississippi Association of Insurance Agents who held their 61st annual convention at the resort hotel, one of the first convention groups to enjoy the facilities of the hotel's new and mammoth convention hall, the "Garden Room."

Mr. Slawsby, president of one of the five largest trade associations in the United States and head of the agency bearing his name in the New England town of Nashau, was paying his second visit to the Edgewater Gulf. Along with Mrs. Slawsby and the three Slawsby children, Sheila, student at Wellesley College, Alan and Karen, he had previously vacationed here.

In addition to his reputation as crusader for the NAIA, a civic leader, publisher of a state periodical, "New Hampshire Profiles," a humanitarian and philanthropist, he is nationally known as an art collector and connoisseur.

In May, twenty-six contemporary paintings, watercolors and drawings from his collection were displayed at the Nashau Public Library as a feature of National Library Week. Included in the exhibit were several important national award winners, and the work of twelve distinguished contemporary artists. Highlighting the exhibit were nine works in oil, watercolor and pencil by Morton Roberts, N.A., who was recently in the news as winner of the National Academy Gold

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Guste Jr. and their family of New Orleans, Louisiana, at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel during June weekend holiday. Pictured are (from left, back) Elizabeth Guste, Mrs. Guste, Billy Guste, Melaine Guste, Marie Louise Guste, Randy Guste and Mr. Guste. In front are Athena and Valerie Guste. Mrs. Guste is a member of the Orlean Club.

H. F. Taylor, vice president of Atlantic National Life Insurance Company, Mrs. Bobboe Taylor, Mrs. Katherine Freeman and W. Adrian Freeman, executive vice president of the insurance company, all of Montgomery, Alabama. Second, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kynion, of Springfield, Missouri and their children Mike, Shelly and Jim. Third, Gen. Eugene Lyons, Assistant Postmaster General, and Mrs. Lyons, of Washington, D. C., with Hubert Scrivener, president of the Mississippi Chapter of the National Association of Postmasters.

All Photos—Montell Studio

Miss Virginia Marmaduke, Chicago NBC radio-TV commenator, tells Edgewater Gulf Hotel photographer Juan Montell about her recent assignment covering the arrival of Queen Elizabeth at Chicago's St. Lawrence Seaway Festival. She was here for a summer holiday with her mother, Mrs. H. C. Marmaduke, a year 'round resident at the famous Mississippi Gulf Coast resort.

Medal of Honor. The subjects include the Altman prize-winning "Bar and Grille," "Antiques," "In The Studio," "Phantasy Cape Ann," "Market," "Conoisseur," "Girl on the Beach" and "Picnic New Orleans," the latter commissioned by Life magazine for its entertainment issue of December, 1958.

Mr. Slawsby is believed to have the largest collection of Morten Roberts and the second largest collection of the French artist Charles Cerny.

Vacationing here in the early summer were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Wogan, former residents of New Orleans and the Mississippi Gulf Coast, now of Houston, Texas. They came to the Edgewater Gulf Hotel from Fort Walton Beach, Fla., where they were guests of Mr. Wogan's brother, Col. R. S. Wogan, and their niece, Miss Lynn Wogan, a student at Gulf Park College, Gulfport, Miss., and were to go on to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kyle S. Hamblen, of Palm Ave., New Orleans. They planned their stay at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel at the same time Mrs. Wogan's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Pincoffs, also of Houston, Texas, were here for a holiday. Mr. Pincoffs is owner of the Maurice Pincoffs Company, a large Houston export and import firm. Mr. Wogan is in charge of sales for the United Salt Corporation. The Wogans are members of the Houston Yacht Club and the River Bend Country Club.

The Edgewater Gulf Hotel has for years been a favorite vacation haunt of the Wogans and their large circle of family connections. Earlier in the season their grandson, S. J. Lonergan III, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Lonergan Jr., of Elkhart, Ind., was here on vacation with his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Lonergan Sr., also of Elkhart, Ind., who had another grandson, Patrick Lonergan along for the family holiday. The Lonergans have been coming to the hotel for vacations for the last 10 years.

Italian Ambassador Mario Brosio and Mrs. Brosio flew in from Washington, D. C., for a banquet given in their honor by the Gulf Coast American-Italian Society at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel. Ambassador Brosio addressed a group of about 500 and presented Fred Marchioni, president of the sponsoring organization, with a flag of Italy. During their stay at the resort the Brosios and their party were entertained on a boat ride and seafood brunch on board the yacht of Ed Earq.

A total of 522 adults and 73 children were guests at the Edgewater Gulf for the annual club outing and golf tournament of the Petroleum Club of New Orleans. The group consumed almost a thousand sandwiches, gallons of beverages and heaps of delicious barbeque. Top event of the day was the annual club golf tournament, and top golfer of the day was Sam Terry who with a low gross of 73 won the Bateman trophy. Low net golfer was a guest, Jim Mangram, who had a low of 69, and best putter for the day was Bob Crow. Other top golfers included Sam Payne, Dodd Osburn, Ed Langhetee and Louis Canepa. Top women golfers were Mrs. H. Henderson, Mrs. John McClure, Mrs. Robert A. Young and Mrs. Ken Soule. The group was greeted by President Jack O. McCall, President of the Louisiana Land and Exploration Company. Others attending included Edel Blanks, executive vice president of the Olin Oil and Gas Corporation and a member on the board of directors of the Petroleum Club; J. Frank Keller, executive of the J. Ray McDermott Company, a member of the board of directors of the Petroleum Club and chairman of the organization's house committee, and Robert Bohn, executive of the Bohn Ford Motor Company in New Orleans.

Also at the hotel were representatives from throughout Mississippi for the 35th annual convention of the Mississippi Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

* * *

A congenial trio of young women who enjoyed a holiday at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel and sightseeing tours of the Mississippi Gulf Coast during the convention of the Mississippi Association of Insurance Agents included Mrs. Charles E. Keener, of Jackson, Raondo Westbrook, manufacturer of Jackson, Mississippi, and Jack Hirlehey, executive director of the Food Service Equipment Industry, Inc., Chicago.

Miss., daughter of Mrs. Dale Graham, of New Orleans, and the late Mr. Graham, former President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Bank of Commerce in New Orleans. . . . Miss Judy Wagner, daughter of H. L. Williams, owner of the H. L. Williams Insurance Agency, Corinth, Miss., and Mrs. Williams, she will leave in the fall for New York City to begin work at the Art Students League. . . . Mrs. Hoyt T. Holland Jr., of Jackson, Miss., who accompanied her husband, a representative of the Holland and Gates Agency, to the convention.

More than 100 persons attended a luncheon given Friday, June 12, at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel, to celebrate the silver anniversary of the Federal Housing Administration. Buford Yerger, of Jackson, Miss., state FHA director, told the group over $10 million in loans were made by the FHA in 1958 for housing along the Mississippi Gulf Coast. W. P. Bridges Jr., President of the Mississippi Real Estate Association, presented a resolution of the Realtors expressing appreciation for the effect the FHA has had in development of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Al Howell, of Biloxi, was general chairman of the luncheon which was sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Realtors.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thompson, of Versailles, Ind., were here for a holiday, their fifth vacation in as many years at this resort.

Italian Ambassador Mario Brosio and Mrs. Brosio (left) with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marchioni at the banquet given at the Edgewater Gulf by the Italian-American Society of the Gulf Coast honoring the Ambassador. Second, Dr. Bedford F. Floyd, Gulfport, Mississippi; Mrs. Mary B. Keyes, president of the Mississippi Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs; and, Mrs. Nell Walls, Jackson, Mississippi. Mrs. Keyes holds a plaque presented to her by Dr. Floyd as a merit of award for the Cancer Society of which he is a Mississippi Chapter director.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Wogan, of Houston, Texas on the grounds of the 700-acre estate surrounding the Edgewater Gulf Hotel. Second, from the left, Miss Judy Wagner, of Corinth, Mississippi; Mrs. Charles E. Keener, and Mrs. Hoyt T. Holland Jr., Jackson, Mississippi. Third, Mr. and Mrs. Lynch Dearing Bennett Jr., of Nashville, Tennessee at the Edgewater Gulf where they spent their honeymoon. She is the former Patricia O'Connor of Memphis. Fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis W. Thompson, of Versailles, Indiana. Five, from the left, Mrs. William Perry Brown and daughters, Becky and Betty, and Mr. Brown. Formerly of Sherman, Texas they now make Atlanta their home.

Joffre Crouere checking golf scores with Mrs. Nellie Bridges and Mrs. Rosalie Langtree, of New Orleans. Second, from the left, Edel Blanks, Jack O. McCall, J. Frank Keller and Robert Bohn, all of New Orleans, at the annual Petroleum Club of New Orleans outing. Third, Earl Bateman presents the Bateman Trophy to Sam Terry, top golfer in the Club's tournament. Looking on is Mr. Keller, master of ceremonies at the awards dinner.

——Bermuda Dramatizes

Imaginative and exciting costumes were designed by Andrew Trimingham, a Bermudan who began his avocation at Stowe, England working on various Shakespearean productions. Mr. Trimingham used the rich colours and fabrics of the early 17th century lavishly in the London sequences of the play; turning to the turquoise shades of Bermudan waters for the "Tempest" portions.

The strange shapes employed to drive intruders to the island insane, were the work of Bylee Lang, who studied sculpture at the Munich Academy after graduating from the Ontario College of Art in her native Canada. Skilfully coordinating all the facets of the production was Elsbeth Gibson, Executive Producer of The 350th Anniversary Theatre.

The hardships, hopes and fears of the first nine months of the colony's settlement are being portrayed through the eyes of the chronicler, Strachey, in "My Heart Stays Here", Mrs. Bainbridge's new historical play with pageantry and music which opened on July 28th, just 350 years to the day of the actual wrecking of the Sea Venture, Sir George Somers' flagship. Adding dramatic moment to the production is the setting, another outdoor theatre (appropriately called The Sea Venture Theatre) erected on the sands between Fort St. Catherine and Gates, His Bay on virtually the selfsame spot where the first settlers landed. Directing this spectacular production, which utilizes a cast of 150 (the exact number of Sea Venture survivors), a choir of 200 voices, and featuring a replica of the wreck of the Sea Venture moored off the shores of the theatre and forming part of the set, is David Yeddeau, who has for many years staged similar spectacles for The Canadian National Exhibition and the General Motors presentation shows, in addition to long association with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet and the Canadian Ballet Festival, etc.

Patricia Barnard, as Judith Shakespeare and Meredith Dallas (right) as Richard Burbage, listen attentively as Shakespeare (played by Basil Langton) tells them why he must write one more play before retiring to Stratford in Constance Bainbridge's original play based on Shakespeare's "The Tempest".

The two small skits, also written by Mrs. Bainbridge, being presented throughout the year are, "Dear Nea," and "Quiet Morning". "Dear Nea," a Bermudan romance, tells the story of the Irish poet Tom Moore's stay in these islands and his friendship with a young Bermuda matron, Hester (Nea) Tucker. A wide, sweeping, shaded lawn on the grounds of The Botanical Gardens is the setting for this delightful one-act skit with music. In "Quiet Morning," seventeenth century justice is re-enacted from time to time in King's Square, St. George's on a platform erected around the stocks and pillory permanently installed there, where two miscreants are punished in an amusing sketch, which is based on actual cases from the Bermuda archives.

Vividly dramatizing various aspects of Bermuda's beginnings, Mrs. Bainbridge has made the colony's history come alive, to the delight of her audiences and created a lasting memorial to this 350th Anniversary Year.

Mrs. Nat Duval made a halo of the silver dish she won in a recent fishing tournament between members of the Lauderdale Yacht Club and the Fishing Club of Fort Lauderdale. Mr. and Mrs. Duval often cruise to the Key Largo Anglers Club aboard their yacht Valcrest IV. Second, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Coletti in the garden room of their home with their house guest, Mrs. William Gregor, Grand Rapids, Mich. Third, Dr. and Mrs. Leon Herman at their estate on New River. Dr. Herman is a distinguished Philadelphia surgeon, founder of the Benjamin Franklin Clinic there. Leonora Owsley Herman is a poet and painter. Fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Cy Young discussing the recent fishing tournament between the Lauderdale Yacht Club and the Fishing Club of Fort Lauderdale. They also are Key Largo Angler Club members.

Fort Lauderdale

By MARGARET WALKER

WHAT USED TO BE a gay "little season" in Fort Lauderdale has relaxed this summer. Parties are informal, guest lists have thinned. The social sets are coming or going, mostly to and from Europe or around the world.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sutton and Mrs. Paul B. Ash sailed July 25 from San Francisco on a globe-circling jaunt. Joining their champagne send-off were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dunbar, who flew in from an Alaskan voyage in time for the festivities.

The Dunbars met Mr. and Mrs. George Nagle, Isle of Palms, in Las Vegas earlier in the month, then proceeded to Vancouver to board ship with other Lauderdaleans, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Erwin. Together they sailed the scenic Inner Passage as far north as White Horse.

Another foursome of friends traveling together this summer are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stevens and Col. and Mrs. Fred Rankins, who crossed to Rotterdam, toured the Netherlands and are now making a grand tour of Europe.

From Sweden to Spain, Schubert Jonas, director of the Fort Lauderdale Art Center, has his eye out this summer for "internationally fresh things for exhibit here next season."

He sailed August first on the Bremen, bound first for Sweden and Denmark, where he will visit friends and take a look at some of the incomparable textiles and handicrafts of the countries. If possible, he will transport some to Fort Lauderdale for exhibits.

In Paris and Madrid Mr. Jonas plans to see paintings . . . "mainly the work at the Prado in Madrid," he said.

The itinerant art director won't be home again until October, in time to set in motion the season's program at the art center.

* * *

While all these summer travelers are making foreign places their playground, Mr. and Mrs. Ivar Hilstad came here from their home in Barranquilla and bought a home in Fort Lauderdale.

"We left our household staff in Barranquilla," said the attractive Mrs. Hilstad as she set about learning the push button system in her kitchen here.

Mr. Hilstad, prominent businessman in Barranquilla and Norwegian consul there, his wife and two daughters, Margo and Karen, have settled for the summer in their new home in Rio Vista Isles. Mr. Hilstad will fly back and forth between South America and Fort Lauderdale.

Margo will study art this fall in Florence and Karen will enroll at the Graham-Eckes School in Palm Beach.

* * *

All the horn blowing at the informal Fourth of July at the Everglades Yacht and Tennis Club was furnished by those "pro" members whose Sunday sessions sound out loud and clear.

Joining the jam session regulars, Dr. Bill Edwards, Dick Bradley and Bill Schuele, were Whorton Green Jr., just back from Princeton, where he reunioned with the boys in his band of the 30s.

Back when he had his own orchestra at Princeton, Mr. Green's vocalist was a young man named Jimmy Stewart and his piano player a fellow named Jose Ferrer.

Seven of the original band got together this year and picked up the beat where they left off, some of them for the first time in 25 years. Now calling themselves the Re-Treads, the group alternated with the Princeton pros and played for a round of festivities.

Having a whirl to the tune of their dad's band were five teen-aged Greens, who learned that Dixieland can be every bit as cool as rock 'n roll. For old times sake the tireless Re-Treads played two popular songs which were composed by one of the gang, the late Brooks Bowman: "Love and a Dime" and "East of the Sun and West of the Moon."

Not to be outdone by his dad, young Met Green has taken up that intricate instrument, the gut bucket, an upside-down wash tub to which a broom handle and a bass fiddle string is attached. Met's brother, Bart, is a drummer and his sister, Nancy, plays the piano. The Green home often reverberates to this combo!

* * *

The Warren Reebs, of Colonia, N. J., son and daughter-in-law of the Lyle Reebs, are latest on the list of attractive newcomers.

Warren will manager his father's Everglades Yacht and Tennis Club, and he and his family have set up housekeeping at their new home in Coral Ridge Highlands. Father and son, Warren Jr., were joined by Mrs. Reeb and three-year-old Molly Ann.

Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt (center) was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Griffith (extreme right and left) at the Yankee Clipper Hotel. With them are James O. McCue, Miami and Braeburn Farms, Greenwich, Conn., and Mrs. Bette Newton, Fort Lauderdale. Second, Arthur D. Markley, Mrs. George P. Richardson Jr., Mr. Richardson, Mrs. Ashley De Wolf, Mr. De Wolf and Mrs. Markley at the Lauderdale Yacht Club. Third, Dr. and Mrs. John B. Squires with Allen Salvesen, Chicago, at the Yacht Club.

Mrs. William Johns (left), newcomer with Mr. Johns from St. Paul, Minn., is seen with Mrs. William Doheny on the Johns' yacht at the Everglades Yacht and Tennis Club. Second, mother and daughter in the sailing set at the Lauderdale Yacht Club are Mrs. Russell Fraser and Midge. Third, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Gilroy at the Lauderdale Yacht Club. Mrs. Gilroy is the newly elected president of the Junior League of Fort Lauderdale. Fourth, Commodore of the Lauderdale Yacht Club, F. Laird Rickard, and his son, Ralph.

Pretty Debbie Reeb is a member of the Junior League of Elizabeth, N. J.

An informal celebration on July Fourth was held at the home of the Jack Hansens on North Atlantic Boulevard. Their beach-front patio has been the scene of Fourth of July parties for the last 15 years.

Missing from the scene was the hostess, who was called to North Carolina to be with Mr. Hansen's mother, Mrs. Minerva Hansen, who fell in her home in Hendersonville.

Jack Hansen did the honors alone, dispensing his usual top brand of hospitality and outdoor cooking.

Carola Hammer, off for worldwide assignments with her cameras, sailed from Philadelphia on a freighter bound for Hamburg. There she was scheduled for radio broadcasts, with tentative plans to go next to Florence for the Italian fashion showings for American buyers. (It will mark her tenth coverage if her schedule permits.)

In Ischia, in the Gulf of Naples, Carola photographed beachwear by Italian designers.

She photographed fashions in Spain and flew to Berlin to cover the German fashion showings, which are creating greater international interest every year.

Boarding a freighter again in Hamburg, Carola will head for Durban, South Africa, where she will discuss her 1960 assignment to cover the Golden Jubilee Celebration of Natal University.

Fort Lauderdale friends won't see Carola again until the end of November.

* * *

Larryce Freeman, daughter of Lawrence Freeman of Idlewild Drive, was married quietly in Chicago June 6 to Jerome Burke, son of Judge and Mrs. Joseph Burke of that city.

Larryce gave up her career as an airlines stewardess to marry Jerome, who acts as bailiff to his father while finishing law school at De Paul University. He is a Notre Dame grad.

The young couple spent their honeymoon in Jamaica and Cuba before settling down at their apartment in Chicago.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wonson and her young daughter, Susan, sailed from Port Everglades on the Santa Maria for Lisbon and a two months' tour of the continent.

They will visit friends in England and fly home from London in September. Susan will be back in time for opening classes at Fort Lauderdale High School.

Mrs. Davis Weir was a coed this summer at American University, egged on by nieces and nephews who got their degree at their aunt's insistence.

"Now they say I have to practice what I preach," smiled Mrs. Weir, who will work for a BA or a BS "in small doses," she says.

She plans to sandwich in classes between summer trips, always numerous for the Weirs. They have closed their home in Pompano Beach and are back at their suite in the Shoreham Hotel in Washington. In the fall they will wind up in Seattle at a national convention of loan associations, thence to Mexico before opening their home in the Palm Club.

A small English car bulging with people and dogs, topped with camping gear, headed for Alaska.

Passengers were Colonel and Mrs. Edward Bourke, their son, Michael, and Philip Cheaney Jr., who have marked camping sites along a route that will take them 15,000 miles. They plan to be home the last of August.

Another caravan heading north the same day was driven by Andrew Darling at the wheel of a station wagon, his dog beside him, and his oldtime Bentley behind him. The handsome old car arrived at Port Everglades last fall and is destined to join Mr. Darling's collection of classics in Minnesota. Mrs. Darling and the youngsters preceded him by several days.

The family plan to be back in their Coral Ridge home in the fall.

The Truman Clapps occupied their Sutton Place apartment in New York just long enough to pack for the mountains of New Hampshire.

They plan to spend most of the summer at the grand old hotel in Whitefield frequented by the New England "old guard."

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. John Fuhrer and their daughters, Vicki and Connie, embarked on the Queen Elizabeth June 24 bound for a Continental tour of 12 countries.

Connie celebrated her 12th birthday in London soon after their arrival.

The Russell G. Pinkermans swung a crib in their station wagon for the eight-month-old son and added air mattresses for the three other children and headed west. The family joined Dr. and Mrs. Porter Gott, Philip and Leslie in Arkansas. They preceded them by a few days so that Ernie Gott could introduce her youngsters to Arkansas cousins.

The two station wagons proceeded together to El Rancho Pequeno, Woods Landing, Wyo., where the families were dude ranchers for a couple of weeks. They visited Yellowstone and Jackson Hole before they returned home the early part of August.

Charming Mrs. Ethel Page, here as house guest of Mrs. Demarest Brion on San Marco Drive, arrived with mutual grandchildren (hers and her hostess') and wound up having a busman's holiday.

After being feted at a round of bridge parties, she was besieged to teach the fine points of the point-count method, which, says Mrs. Page, "are not understood by enough bridge players. Some think they play the Goren count when actually they don't know half the alphabet."

Mrs. Page is well qualified to speak, bearing a hard-to-come-by badge of the bridge world, a certificate from the Goren school.

She and her grandsons, John and Billy Brion, spent a month with Mrs. Demarest Brion before returning to California.

Mrs. William R. Watts, her daughter Joan and son Fred, flew down to Jamaica armed with easel and paints for some expeditions they planned in the lush mountains around Ocho Rios.

Rappoport Studios, NYC.

Miss Patricia Gray of Drumcondra, Dublin, Ireland, whose parents, Commandant Michael Gray, Irish Army (Ret.), and Mrs. Gray have announced her engagement to Patrick George Kirby, son of Mrs. George Kirby and the late Mr. Kirby of Newport. Miss Gray is a graduate of the Dominican College in Dublin. Mr. Kirby is a graduate of Providence College and was a lieutenant in the U. S. Marine Corps. The couple plan an October wedding in Dublin.

At Newport

By HENRY S. WHEELER

WHAT MORE APPROPRIATE setting could have been chosen for the Silver Ball sponsored by the Preservation Societies of Newport and Providence than "The Breakers," the magnificent mansion built by Cornelius Vanderbilt in 1895?

Here, on the night of Saturday, August 1, nearly 2,000 dancers from Newport's summer colony and its satellite resorts, from Navy and from Newport's permanent folk, filled the great hall of "The Breakers," its state dining room, its morning room and music room, and overlooked to the terrace, which overlooks the Cliffs and the Atlantic beyond.

The design of "The Breakers," following the style of the 16th century north Italian palaces in Genoa and Turin, a plan common to the Italian Renaissance, met the needs of a grand ball to perfection. Inside, Meyer Davis' orchestra played for the dancing and for the cotillion figures that were stepped by members of the younger set in the great hall, in a revival of the general custom of the Nineties. On the terrace, red coated Hungarian strolling players of Alex de Haas entertained.

The Gorham Company, famous silversmiths, which aided in the arrangements, brought the spirit of silver to the ball with the famous Furber silver service, designed and fashioned by Gorham in the 1870's. It belonged to Col. Henry Jewett Furber, a Chicago lumber king, before it was returned to the ownership of Gorham. Museum collection as it is, it was used for actual service on this night of silver. Guests marvelled at the pieces entirely handcrafted, not cast, as an evocation of the Newport of the Nineties.

The gorgeous gowns of the women were sobered by the austere white ties and tails of the men, although the crisp white uniforms of the naval contingent, set off by their varicolored ribbons and miniature medals, added color to the male dancers.

Mrs. Sheldon Whitehouse, honorary committee chairman; Mrs. John R. Drexel III, whose daughter Pamela was soon to come out, chairman of the committee and Mr. and Mrs. William Slater Allen, Mr. and Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, Count and Countess Anthony Szapary, the latter the daughter of Countess Lazlo Szechengi, owner of "The Breakers" and Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Warren were vice chairmen.

Mrs. Ottavio Prochet was chairman of the ball committee itself, and Mrs. Kennedy, wife of U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy, was junior committee chairman.

The junior committee comprised many of the younger members of society of the two Rhode Island cities. Serving under Mrs. Kennedy were M. Slater Allen Jr., Miss Nancy King Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Fisher S. Black, Beverly A. Bogert, Miss Natalie Bayard Brown, John Carter Brown, Guy Fairfax Cary Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Henry A. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. R. Beverley Corbin Jr., Robert E. Corbin, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Cushing, Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Cushing Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. Mathews Dick Jr.

Also, Luis Charles Domingues, Miss Pamela N. Drexel, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. V. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Heppenheimer III, Mr. and Mrs. Willliam D. Manice Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Columbus O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rawlinson of London.

Mrs. Cameron McRae Winslow, wife of Commander Winslow, USN (Ret.), of "Camenat Cairns" on Coggeshall Avenue in Newport. She is pictured here with three of her Cairn terriers—Ch. Miss Muffett of Camenat C.D., Int. Ch. Mars of Camenat and Int. Ch. Conwood Belle of Camenat C.D. Mrs. Winslow sponsors frequent dog obedience classes in Newport.

Gabor Eder, NYC.

Miss Alison Chalmers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth H. Chalmers of Scarsdale, N. Y., whose marriage to Edmund T. D'Amario, son of Mr. and Mrs. James V. D'Amario of Newport, R. I., will take place August 22 in New York City. Miss Chalmers is a graduate of the Masters School at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., and of Smith College, magna cum laude. She made her debut at the Westchester Cotillion in 1952. Mr. D'Amario, a graduate of the University of Rhode Island, who served with the occupational forces in Germany, is with the Addison-Wesley Publishing Co. of Reading, Mass.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Reed Jr., Miss Mary Louise Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan Jr., Miss Sheila Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Sheffield, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen W. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Newton I. Steers, Joseph Strutt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. M. Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. John A. van Beuren, Miss Marilla D. van Beuren, Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. van Beuren, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. P. Van Pelt, Chance M. Vought, James M. Wareham, Mr. and Mrs. David Urquhart Warren, Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Warren Jr., and Mr. and Mrs Charles F. Willis Jr.

* * *

The season's most brilliant private party was the debut of Miss Pamela N. Drexel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Drexel III, on August 15. The ball was held at "Rock Cliff," the Drexels' Bellevue Avenue residence overlooking the Cliffs and it was one of the largest debutante parties in many years. Coming as it did at the end of the Casino's annual invitational tennis tournament, many of the players were among the guests. In fact, because of this affair, the annual tennis ball was abandoned.

On other Saturday nights, when formal affairs were not scheduled, the Bailey's Beach dances occupied the weekend. The first was on July 4, the second on July 25, at the conclusion of the Newport Country Club's invitation golf tournament and the third is the White Elephant Ball, the Saturday before Labor Day.

Yachting, even without the excitement attending the preliminaries and the America's Cup races last year, is always popular. As usual, Ida Lewis Yacht Club, headquarters for the yachtsmen, has been a busy place since early spring. It is an active four and a half months there, with Commodore John W. Richmond, former Commodore George Henry Warren, who is chairman of the race committee, and Mrs. John Payson Adams, chairman of the house committee, spurring the activities.

The finish of the biennial Annapolis-Newport race, which started from the Chesapeake Bay port on June 20, gave the club a good start in social activities.

But the most important weekend came on July 31 with the arrival of the New York Yacht Club squadron on its annual cruise to the eastward. This was the signal for a cocktail party at the club for the afterguard of the fleet. On August 1, the races for the Queen's, Una, Corsair and Caritas Cups were sailed and the following day, the fleet departed for Mattapoisett.

Commodore Warren and Herman Huffer donated trophies for various Club races, in many of which the Conanicut Yacht Club, from across the bay in Jamestown, competed.

Reminiscent of last summer's 12-meter elimination races for the America's Cup were the special races off Newport this week for 12-meter sloops, sanctioned by the New York Yacht Club and sponsored by the Newport Chamber of Commerce in line with its policy to keep alive big boat racing.

The Newport Country Club, where President Eisenhower golfs when he is in Newport, has had a very generous schedule of tournaments, under the careful eyes of Pres. Howard G. Cushing and John Noble Stearns, chairman of the golf committee. The annual invitation tournament was on July 25 and 26. Play for the Count de Turin Cup and the T.O.M. Sopwith Cup drew many entrants.

Sunday mixed foursomes at the Country Club, which started June 28, were for trophies donated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gurnee Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel P. Hill, Count and Countess Court Reventlow, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Monroe and Mrs. Guy Fairfax Cary.

Norman E. Palmer, Club pro for several years, who was President Eisenhower's golfing partner frequently, has left the Club. In his place is one of golfing's rising young professionals—Jimmy Farrell, son of Johnny Farrell, who won the U. S. Open from Bobby Jones in 1929. Young Farrell has been assistant to his father at the Country Club of Florida at Delray Beach.

Summer theater came back to Newport this summer with the Newport Casino Theater, which was dark last year, being reopened by its owner, Sara Stamm. With Mimi Benzell opening the season in her first appearance in summer theater, Miss Stamm followed her with such stars as Ann Davis, the Schultzy of TV, playing with Fay Bainter; Dorothy Malone and Jacques Bergerac, Karen Chandler, Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom, Gloria Swanson, Buddy Rogers, Lt. (J.G.) Myron Vernon Ricketts, USN, and Mrs. Ricketts, following their wedding in the Chapel-by-the Sea at Newport. The bride is the former Marilyn Jean Young, daughter of Captain Merle N. Young, Navy Chaplain Corps and Mrs. Young. Lt. Ricketts is the son of Rear Admiral Claude V. Ricketts, USN, and Mrs. Ricketts of Arlington, Va. The bride is a graduate of Sargent College in Boston University and the groom, who was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1955, is studying at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Until the completion of his course at MIT, Lt. and Mrs. Ricketts are residing in Arlington, Mass.

Michael O'Shea, Virginia Mayo and Faye Emerson.

The 78th annual tennis tournament at the Newport Casino attracted not only a strong field of players but an unusually large gallery each day—particularly on the day the 1959 slate of candidates for the Tennis Hall of Fame were enshrined. The president of the Casino, James H. Van Alen spent the early summer abroad but he and Mrs. Van Alen returned in time to supervise tournament arrangements. An attraction this summer was the entry of the entire American Davis Cup squad in the tournament, which was played the week of August 10.

Henry Curtis, Newport

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban, was guest of honor at a reception on the occasion of the observance of the 300th anniversary of the settlement of the first Jewish people in Newport. Mr. Eban and Mrs. Eban received in the banquet hall at "Belcourt," the former O. H. P. Belmont estate on Bellevue Avenue, whose present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Tinney, extended the courtesy of their home for the reception. From the left, Rabbi Theodore Lewis, of Touro Synagogue in Newport, the oldest Jewish house of worship in the United States; Mayor Henry C. Wilkinson of Newport, Ambassador Eban and Dennis J. Roberts, former Governor of Rhode Isand.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Tinney, who spent the winter at "Belcourt", the palatial residence built by O. H. P. Belmont in the Nineties, supervised the renovations to the huge mansion they bought several years ago and filled with their collection of antiques, to which they added within the past 12 months. One new item is a tall urn of Carara marble brought from Versailles. A lifelike figure at a turn of the grand staircase is garbed in an original footman's livery from the Belmont family—scarlet and maroon with 18 sterling silver buttons.

Benny Collin (he pronounces it Colleen), a well known muralist, and the Tinneys' son Donald, a coming painter in his own right, are completing a mural—an allegorical history of "Belcourt"—stretching across one end of the Gothic ballroom. In one panel are depicted the figures of Mr. and Mrs. Belmont and the architect of the mansion, Richard Morris Hunt. In a second are shown members of the household pictured in their favorite avocations—Mrs. Tinney as an equestrien, Mr. Tinney as a hunter, their son Donald in armor, in token of his collection of ancient mail. Also included is Miss Nellie R. Fuller, Mrs. Tinney's aunt.

During Mrs. Eisenhower's stay in Newport last fall, the Tinneys were one of the few homes the President's wife visited. She spent several hours viewing their collections. During the winter, Mr. and Mrs. Tinney were among a group of Newporters invited to dinner at the White House but owing to Mrs. Tinney's illness, they were unable to accept.

The opening of "Rough Point," the James B. Duke residence, by Miss Doris Duke, added interest to the season as it has seldom been occupied since hurricanes battered the huge mansion, situated at the point where the Cliffs jut out into the ocean, to leave the estate unprotected. Miss Duke's mother, Mrs. Duke, has not been in Newport for a good many seasons.

The arrival of Lady Ogilvy, wife of Lord Ogilvy of London and Contarchy Castle, Kirriemuir, Scotland, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Barry Ryan Jr. at Moorland Farm on Hammersmith Road, brought back to Newport one of the colony's former belles. Lady Ogilvy was Virginia Fortune Ryan who was married in 1952 to Lord Ogilvy, son of the Earl and Countess of Airlie. With her were two of her four children. The Ryans spent some time in London with their daughter and her family, this past spring and early summer.

Mrs. LeBrun Rhinelander of New York City, who is at the Muenchinger-King again for the summer, had a large committee from the colony assisting her to conduct her annual book week for the benefit of the American Marine Library Assn., in July.

T. G. Townsend Phillips of Newport and Palm Beach, who was in Paris for the triennial meeting of the Society of the Cincinnati in June, acted for his mother, Mrs.

Townsend Phillips of Newport in presenting two memorial tablets to the French government. One was placed in the World War I room in the museum at "Blerancourt" in memory of Mrs. Phillips' brother, Herbert Pell Phillips, who served with the American Ambulance Service in France. The other was in memory of Elbridge Gerry, an ancestor of Mrs. Phillips, who served as an envoy from the United States to France in 1797-1798.

"The Playhouse," the rustic summer home on Ocean Avenue near Green Bridge, has changed hands again. Once the garage cottage of "Wild Acre," estate of the late Albert H. Olmsted and later owned by Dr. Lewis Fox Frissell, Dr. Thomas L. Bennett and Mrs. Peyton J. Van Rensselaer, has been purchased by Dr. Fred R. Alofsin of Newport from the estate of Mrs. Van Rensselaer.

Countess Karl Moltke of New York City is occupying the cottage at 80 John St., home of the late Mrs. Duncan Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Whitehouse opened "Eastbourne Lodge" on Rhode Island Avenue in mid-June, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Clarke, who had "Harbor View" Cottage, owned by F. Bartholomay Jelke, on Wellington Avenue, last summer, returned there for this season.

Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Eliot Morrison of Cambridge, Mass., are at "Seafair" on Ocean Avenue.

Mrs. Louis L. Lorillard and her children, Peter and Didi, are at "Mailands."

Mrs. Boris de Bakhtiar of Philadelphia is reoccupying her apartment at The Viking Hotel.

Preservation Society of Newport County

Commander and Mrs. Rowland Wilson enjoying a May Day breakfast, a Rhode Island tradition, in the White Horse Tavern in Newport—oldest tavern in operation in the United States. Newport johnnycakes, a famous Newport delicacy, are being served the Wilsons, both of whom are from Ohio. Commander Wilson recently assumed the duties of public information officer at the Newport Naval Base.

Miss Beatrice Bernazzini of Boston was at The Viking Hotel for part of the season.

The Newport Garden Club, of which Mrs. Robert M. Phelps was committee chairman, held a silent auction at the Casino late in July.

Mrs. George Waldo Emerson of Northampton, Mass., is at "Mid-Cliffe House" on Ruggles Avenue for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Jr., and their family are with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Saunderson, who were with her mother, Mrs. Louis Bruguiere at "Wakehurst" for a period, left here to visit Mrs. Saunderson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Van Alen in Edgemont, Pa., before returning to their home in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Josselin R. C. Bodley, who sold "La Verriere," their Bellevue Avenue estate, to Salve Regina College, and who were in Washington, returned to England in July.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Clayton Strawbridge of Merion, Pa., who returned from Europe in June, arrived in July to occupy "Normandie," their Ocean Avenue estate.

John T. Hopf Photo

"Tudor Hall," on quiet Catherine Street in Newport's mid-town area of summer homes, where more than a century ago lived Dr. Clement C. Moore, the clergyman who wrote the immortal "A Visit from St. Nicholas."

John T. Hopf Photo

Option papers passed from President James H. Van Alen of The House of Santa Claus, Inc., to Mrs. Gerda Holmes, owner of "Tudor Hall" in Newport, in the acquisition of the one-time home of Dr. Clement C. Moore, author of "A Visit from St. Nicholas," to the corporation, for development into a Christmas museum. From the left: Mrs. Van Alen, Mrs. Holmes, Mr. Van Alen, Mrs. Louis Bruguiere, honorary chairman, and, Newport's Mayor Henry C. Wilkinson.

ANOTHER OLD NEWPORT MANSION is on its way to becoming a public institution. The rambling summer cottage of early nineteenth century lines, frequently added to by subsequent owners, was for many mid-century years the home of Dr. Clement C. Moore, the clergyman who composed the immortal Christmas poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas," better known as "The Night Before Christmas."

Now a group known as The House of Santa Claus, Inc., whose President is James H. Van Alen, has obtained an option on the property to convert it into a museum based on the period in which Mr. Moore and his family lived there. Mrs. Louis Bruguiere, Mrs. Van Alen and Mrs. George Henry Warren, all of Newport, and Mrs. Sherman P. Haight of New York City, an authority on the famous Santa Claus poem, are officials of the corporation. The National Trust for Historic Preservation, in Washington, has evidenced interest in maintaining the house as a museum.

"Tudor Hall," as the house is known, is in a quiet residential area of the Rhode Island resort, on land owned by historic Trinity Church, which originally transferred it to Dr. Moore on a leasehold of 999 years, at a nominal rent of one barley corn a year.

At "The Oaks." Gordon Palmer inspects a skull and a shell found on his property. Mayor Frederic W. Dennis (left) with Ripley P. Bullen of the Florida State Museum, at the bottom of 13-foot shell mound excavation.

Summertime in Sarasota

By MARIAN MURRAY

All photos—Marian Murray

ALTHOUGH AN UNPRECEDENTED wanderlust seems to have attacked Sarasota this summer, there are still thousands of loyalists, who might easily be shaking the sand out of their shoes while the thermometer stays high, but elect to stay here and enjoy the special kinds of activity available at this time of year.

Sometimes they not only stay at home but have guests, from near or far.

In October, 1958, Mr. and Mrs. David Nelson Burress Jr., moved from their former home in Shaker Heights, Ohio, into what has always been known as the "Armsted Place"—a house on a point that projects into Sarasota Bay from the city side. Because it lies between two bayous, Mr. and Mrs. Burress call it "Enter Deux."

Recently their two daughters visited them —Miss Barbara Ann Burress from Honolulu, and Miss Edna Lee Burress from Cleveland, Ohio. The Honolulu visitor, who took her master's degree in nursing at Yale, and is head nurse at the Queen's Hospital in Honolulu, came home for the first time since she went out three years ago, although her father and mother visited her last year. She flew both ways. After a month in Sarasota, she spent the remainder of her two-months' vacation visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Carl F. G. Meyer, in St. Louis, Missouri, and her sister in Cleveland.

Miss Edna Lee Burress is secretary to Robert Shaw, associate conductor of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Palmer have been hosts at "The Oaks" to Ripley P. Bullen, curator of social sciences at Florida State Museum, while the latter has been engaged there for many weeks in excavating Indian burial and shell mounds.

The grounds of "The Oaks"—a 350-acre estate created between 1910 and 1918 by Mrs. Potter Palmer, grandmother of Gordon Palmer—are rich in areas of immense interest to anthropologists and archeologists, and momentous finds have come to light. From the burial mounds, Mr. Bullen and his associates have unearthed skeletons of Indians who lived there approximately 1,000 years ago. In the shell mounds, they found shards of fibre-tempered pottery, made by Indians who are believed to have created it as long ago as 1,000 B.C. These excavations have given the first knowledge of the fact that any such Indians existed south of Tampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer left in mid-July for Bar Harbor, Maine, and will return in early September.

George F. Higgins of North Drive, one of Sarasota's most active civic leaders, has been appointed chairman of a new five-man board created by the Governor to supervise the activities of the State-Owned Ringling Museums, and to act as liaison between the museums and the Cabinet. Other members of the Board are: Karl A. Bickel, also of Sarasota; Dr. W. F. Suggs of Bradenton; Carl Borein Jr., of Tampa; and Dr. Hugh McKean of Winter Park, president of Rollins College. Authority over the Ringling Museums was previously invested in the Florida State Board of Control.

Eliot McMurrough sketches in a Sarasota garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Higgins and their daughters Terry and Bonnie are now on an automobile trip through the Carolinas and Kentucky.

Alexander Bloch, conductor of the Florida West Coast Symphony, and Mrs. Bloch are spending the summer at their home in Hillsdale, N. Y. En route north, they stopped in New York, where they saw John Lamontaine, recent Pulitzer Prize winner for a Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, who has appeared as soloist with the Symphony in Sarasota and Bradenton. As usual, the Blochs are closely associated this summer with the Tanglewood Music Festival.

The Community Concert Association announces its schedule for the 1959-1960 season, with a program it proudly proclaims as absolutely top flight. The five concerts arranged are: the Pittsburgh Symphony, with William Sternberg conducting; Rudolf Serkin, pianist; Isaac Stern, violinist; Whittemore and Lowe, duo-pianists; and Leopold Simoneau, tenor, with Pierrette Alarie, soprano.

New officers for the Association are: Verman Kimbrough, president; Mrs. Walter Rowe Thompson, first vice president; Mrs. J. F. Kahlenberg, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Clarke, third vice president; Mrs. Dudley B. Palmer, fourth vice president; Mrs. Eric Hodgins, secretary; Benton Powell, treasurer; Lowell M. Morey, assistant treasurer.

During the summer, the recently formed Spinsters' Club has had several meetings. As one of the first projects, the young women made plans for a party in July, to which new members and the Bachelors were invited.

In June, five of the young women spent a vacation at the British Colonial Hotel in Nassau—Spinsters Sondra Montressor, Grace Herbert, Janet Johnson, Joan Riley and Janet Salisbury.

Two of the season's debutantes—Miss Merrell Ingram and Miss Helen Scott—are now in Europe. Accompanied by Miss Ingram's mother, Mrs. Wharton G. Ingram, and her brother, Michael Ingram, they sailed on June 26 on the Nieuw Amsterdam, and are traveling in England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany and Denmark, returning from Southampton on August 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bevan of Midland Road sailed for Belgium on July 15, and from Belgium went to Paris. Their plans called for a month's tour in England and Scotland, and a return to the Continent, to travel about until mid-November. On their itinerary is a visit to Mr. Bevan's birthplace in Kent.

Mrs. Charles P. Kimball Jr., of Siesta Key, and her daughter, Miss Eugenie Garrison, drove west early in June to Bolder, Colo., where Miss Garrison—a student at the University of Florida—is taking a summer course.

Among Sarasotans now in Europe are the Baron and Baroness de Teissier, who left their home on Tropical Circle on July 8, to visit friends in the Catskills, and sailed July 18 for their annual European visit. Plans this year included a visit in Hampshire, England, with their son, Ivor de Teissier, and his two children, visits with friends in France, and a stay in Switzerland and the Italian Lake Country.

At the Field Club, from the left: Mrs. Joseph D. Dudley, Harold G. Johnstone, Mrs. Johnstone, Mr. Dudley. Mrs. Dudley is a painter and Mrs. Johnstone a sculptor. Second, Col. Henri A. Luebbermann and Mrs. Luebbermann. Third, Mrs. C. W. Lonsdale, Mrs. Luebbermann, Mrs. John P. Wiener, Mr. Wiener (standing) and Mr. Lonsdale.

Because artists are people, and subject to the same vacation impulses that stir the rest of the population, they travel, go north or west to summer homes, or stay right here, with or without guests.

Two members of Sarasota's artist colony, Mr. and Mrs. Marcel K. Sessler, will not be seen around town next winter. In accordance with their ten-year-long custom, approximately every two years they take a prolonged trip during the winter months. This time they will leave early in November on a Norwegian liner, for a very much unconducted sojourn in the Mediterranean area.

Mr. Sessler, known to his friends as "Squire," is a painter. Mrs. Sessler plays violin in the West Coast Symphony Orchestra.

On their way north in May, they spent three days with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Paul Miller of Bronxville, N. Y.. At present, they are at their summer home — "Riverbridge Farms" — a large Colonial Georgian house built in 1799 in Lyme, New Hampshire. Each morning, Mr. Sessler paints in the studios at Dartmouth, nearby.

In the fall, they will travel by passenger planes, cargo planes, freight ships, railroads, and public bus systems, as the spirit moves and convenience requires. Chief ports of call are: Casablanca, Barcelona, Genoa, Naples, Sardinia, Beyrouth, Alexandria, Ismir, Piraeus, and Istanbul. They plan to spend a month in Greece; take a two-weeks' trip up the Nile to Luxor; spend a month in Italy; and, stay in Spain for several weeks, returning to New Hampshire in May. This will be the Sesslers' first visit to Greece, Turkey and Sardinia. As usual, Squire will make innumerable sketches en route.

According to their recent annual custom, Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Slingerland of Gulfstream Avenue sailed in mid-July for Capri, where they will remain until mid-September. Mr. Slingerland is an artist, and both he and Mrs. Slingerland are active in the Players.

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Moise of Whitfield Avenue left in June for Mrs. Moise's family's summer home on Boothbay Harbor, and are spending three months there. They came to Sarasota after Mr. Moise's recent retirement from business in Wall Street, and he has been elected to membership on the board of the Sarasota Art Association.

Another new member of the Board, Miss Eleanor K. Grimm of Hyde Park Street, is spending the summer at Brown's Lake, Burlington, Wisc., and will not return to Sarasota until November.

Five other members have been elected to the 18-man Board of the SAA, each to serve three years. They are: Elden Rowland, John De Witt, Aurelie Prior-Leahy, Margaret Simmons and Florence Harvey. Officers of the organization are: Furman C. Arthur, president; John J. Hamel Jr., executive vice president; Mr. Rowland, second vice president (in charge of exhibitions); Eleanor Treacy Hodgins, secretary; and Colonel De Witt, treasurer.

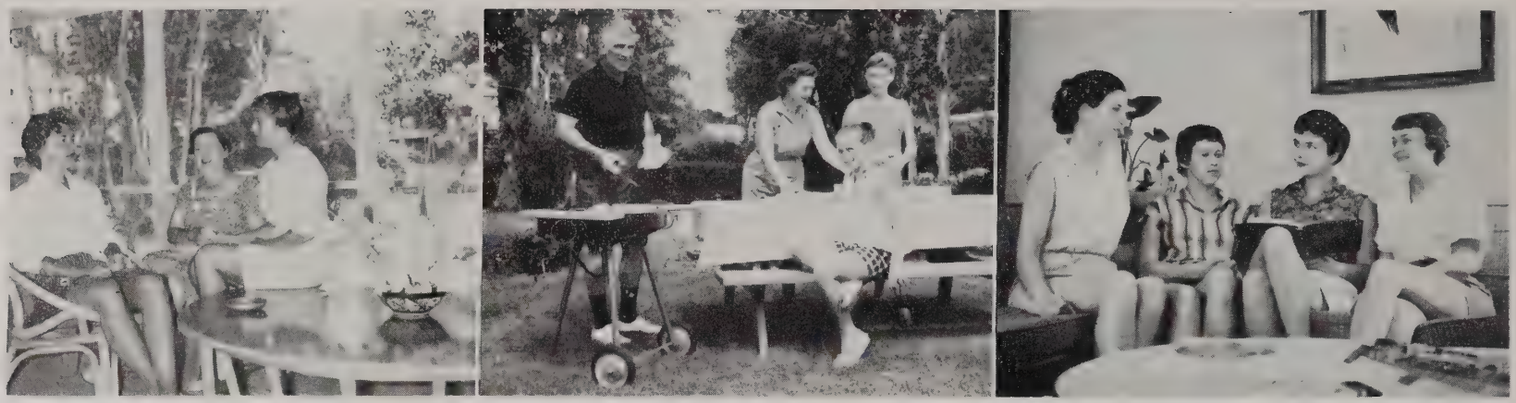
In accordance with a system established two years ago when it moved into its new building, the Sarasota Federal Savings Bank is continuing its series of art exhibitions on a twelve-month basis, in its especially designed Community Gallery. These exhibitions are arranged by Mrs. Newell Garbada, assistant vice president, in collaboration with Syd Solomon, one of Sarasota's best known artists.

Before the Karl A. Bickels left in June for the summer, Mr. Bickel was on hand to open his first one-man show—a group of 33 oils and watercolors, most of which were painted in this area. Mr. Bickel, pioneer, civic leader, collector, writer, and one of the city's longtime and best known residents, is a "Sunday Painter" who—to his surprise, he says—finds himself accepted in the ranks of the initiate. In a brochure for the exhibition, Hilton Leech, director of the Amagansett Art School here, and of a summer school in Ennis, Montana, calls Mr. Bickel a "man of many talents," and writes that "his work, like his life, will never be dull."

Following the Bickel exhibition, the bank showed the work of a group of Sarasota portrait painters. August opened with a show of work at Boys' Town. In September, the gallery will hang aerial photographs by Lionel Murphy—many in color.

Honors keep piling up for the avant-garde architects. Victor A. Lundy, who has been here six years, took top honors in the competition sponsored by the American Institute of Architects for the best modern house in the South, with one designed for Samuel H. Herron Jr., of Venice. The jury said it was "the most memorable image of all the houses we have seen." Paul Rudolph, who got his start here a decade ago, and still maintains an office in Sarasota, though his headquarters are in New Haven, Conn., where he is chairman of the Yale School of Architecture, got the AIA merit award with a house for F. A. Deering on Casey Key, also in Sarasota County. The interior especially has been praised for its ingenious multi-split-level character, and the calm and relaxation it evokes.

Furman C. Arthur, president of the Sarasota Art Association, with William L. Moise, at the latter's home. Second, new members of the Board of the Art Association: Mr. Moise, Aurelie Prior-Leahy, Margaret Simmons, Eleanor Grimm and Florence Harvey. Third, Andrew J. Olsen, president of the Sarasota Federal Savings Bank, looks over Karl A. Bickel's one-man show, with Mrs. Newell Garbada, who arranged the show.



Mrs. David Nelson Burress Jr., (center) with her visiting daughters, Miss Edna Lee Burress (left), and Miss Barbara Ann Burress. Second, George F. Higgins and family, from the left: Mr. Higgins, Mrs. Higgins and daughters Terry (seated) and Bonnie. He is chairman of the new Board of Ringling Museums. Third, Spinsters at the home of Miss Christia Basler, from the left: Miss Gerrie Gridley, Miss Sharon Kelley, Mrs. James E. Paulk (advisor), and Miss Grace Herbert.

From the left: Mrs. Marion Pigott consults with Edward J. Seibert, architect, at her home on Longboat Key. Second, Mrs. Pigott on her beach with Mrs. A. W. Tyrol (left) and Mrs. Duane W. Draper. Third, Mrs. H. W. Tustison of Fort Lauderdale at the A.A.U.W. convention at the Lido Biltmore Club. Fourth, Mrs. Henry Caton of Pensacola, and Mrs. Frederick R. Haig, at the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Farnsworth, one of Sarasota's nationally known artist couples, are now in North Truro, Mass., where they conduct a summer art school. They are expected back about October 15.

Betty Warren Lancaster, director of the Palm Tree School of Art, and wife of Stuart Lancaster, owner and director of the Palm Tree Playhouse, is in Albany, N. Y., where she is teaching again at the Albany Institute of History and Art.

Eliot McMurrough, Mrs. Lancaster's associate at the Palm Tree School of Art, left Sarasota early in July to open a studio in Melbourne, where classes (which began July 20) are being attended by beginners and advanced students who live in the Cape Canaveral area. The opening of his new studio was highlighted by an exhibition of Mr. McMurrough's work, which opened on July 5 and remained on view for a week. Later, a number of Sarasota artists will join him in the exhibition based on varied subject matter, in numerous media. They are: Mrs. Lancaster, Ben Stahl, Eugene White, Robert Larsen, Nike Parton, and Loran Wilford. It is probable that Mr. McMurrough will return in the fall, to teach again at the Palm Tree during the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren O. Seelye of Gulf of Mexico Drive are spending the summer at their former home, Birmingham, Mich. Both Mr. and Mrs. Seelye are active in the Longboat Key Art Association.

Late in May, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas G. Stewart of Alameda Avenue left for their summer home in Barnstable, Cape Cod, where they will stay until about October 1. As always, Mr. Stewart is spending a good deal of his time painting.

Mrs. Joseph D. Dudley of Sandy Hook, Siesta Key, whose paintings (signed Libby Dudley) are seen in exhibitions with increasing frequency, recently returned after a month in Hollywood, Calif., where she visited her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Berger. Mr. and Mrs. Dudley are spending August in New York and Old Greenwich, Conn., where they are visiting Mr. Dudley's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William McKnight.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. McDonald of Point Crisp went north in June to spend several months at their summer home on Lake Piseco, N. Y. They form one of the several writer-artist teams that have their almost year-long headquarters in Sarasota because both members love it better than any place on earth. With the MacDonalds this summer is their son, John P. MacDonald, who is taking time off from his studies in New York with the sculptor Calvin Albert.

Activities of many kinds are making life gay during the second summer at the Field Club. Members arrive at the Club by car or boat, for spur-of-the-moment meals, just to linger a while in the pleasant atmosphere, or for planned activities—buffets, card parties, athletic events, fashion shows, and formal dinners or dances. Especial attention is frequently paid to the younger crowd, who participate in swim meets, splash or pool parties, and summer night dances.

One of the season's highlights was a fourth of July buffet, with fireworks at dusk.

This year's officers are: Gordon Palmer, president; John P. Wiener, vice president; Roger W. Adams, secretary; and C. W. Lonsdale, treasurer. Col. Henri A. Luebbermann is chairman of the house committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Appleton. Mrs. Appleton was co-chairman of the Ball.

Summer Ball at the Post and Paddock Club

By HANCHEN S. STERN and
VERA W. PATTERSON

Mr. and Mrs. Max Pray. Mrs. Pray was chairman of the Summer Ball.

THE EIGHTH ANNUAL Summer Ball given by the Women's Auxiliary Board of the Chicago Boys Clubs on July 3, at the Post & Paddock Club, Arlington Heights, Illinois, was one of the loveliest in the history of lovely parties. The Ball was again sponsored by the Arlington Park Jockey Club, and the Washington Park Jockey Club, through the courtesy of Benjamin F. Lindheimer.

It was planned by Mrs. Max Pray, Chairman of the 1959 Ball (as she was in 1953), with the assistance of her Co-Chairmen Mrs. Arthur I. Appleton and Mrs. Homer J. Livingston, and will benefit the 17 Chicago Boys' Clubs, eight summer camps and the health clinic maintained for needy children living in the Chicago area.

The six antique carousel horses, mascots and traditional signature of the Ball, were placed near the entrance, freshly painted and plumed in red and white to match the color scheme of the cocktail lounge. These horses were discovered in Kentucky, purchased by Mrs. Pray for the first Ball, and brought here and restored to their original grandeur.

Red and white striped standards topped with red and white plumes were linked with heavy white rope to make enclosures for the tables on the terrace and dance floor.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. James L. Hayes and Mrs. Joseph Nellis, of the Door Committee, and Mrs. Charles M. Price, President of the Women's Auxiliary Board, assisted by some of the newest and prettiest members of the Board.

Mrs. Irving S. Florsheim and Mrs. Calvin Fentress, Chairman of the Music Committee, again procured the services of Billy Marshall, who brought his band from the East to play for the Ball. The bandstand was awninged in red and white stripes of satin ribbon and banked by greens.

The familiar iron jockeys were in their places in the colors of the five co-sponsoring stables—Maine Chance Farm of Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham, Spring Hill Farm of James D. Norris, Red Top Farm of Mr. and Mrs. Irving S. Florsheim, Danada Farms of Mrs. Ada L. Rice, and the William G. Gilmore Stable.

Other co-sponsors were: Appleton Oil Company; The Beach Club, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Paradise Inn and Jokake Inn, Phoenix, Ariz.; Henry Crown; Mrs. Charles M. Kittle; Mr. and Mrs. Delmar L. Kroehler; Max Pray; Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Woods.

The Decorating Committee, under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Robert A. Elson and Mrs. Robert W. Wood, used hundreds of peonies dyed red to decorate the foyer and cocktail lounge. They formed a background for the jockeys and for an illuminated statue that was the center of a flow of iridescent bubbles.

Giant candelabra on the stair landing were white, providing a transition to the usual pink decor of the dining floor. It is always a thrilling sight to see the lovely tables reflected in the candlelight against the panorama of the beautifully landscaped race track as seen through the picture windows.

This year it was doubled and redoubled by the use of large candelabra of antique green, flecked with gold, and decorated with pink roses, donated by many florists of Chicago. The gold touches appeared again in holders for the napkins and in doilies, and white lace covered the pink tablecloths. More peonies were used upstairs, this time in pink, banking a giant ice champagne bottle spilling huge pink grapes.

Mrs. Laurens G. Hastings and Mrs. Robert Hosmer Morse Jr., of the Reservations Committee, worked out a system whereby each dinner table had its counterpart downstairs, and a lovely souvenir program was the work of Mrs. Frank Hiter and Mrs. Franklin Forsberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Comiskey, and Mrs. Calvin Fentress and J. Hampton Monroe.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rasmussen with Myron Ratcliff and Mrs. Arthur Appleton, and, Mrs. William Patterson and George Rich.

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Crowell, Mrs. Richard Whitehead, Merrill Meigs, Mrs. Robert R. McCormick and Mrs. David Bell Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price and Mr. and Mrs. John Madden.

The select group of 500 guests agreed that it was truly a beautiful and glamorous ball.

Other members of the Women's Auxiliary Board of the Chicago Boys' Clubs, and their husbands, having reservations were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Foster Brown Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Fairfax Cone, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Dering, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard S. Florsheim, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. William H. Arnold, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Francis P. Old, Major General and Mrs. Robert W. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Bard and Mrs. Freeman Hinckley.

With General and Mrs. William T. Young (General Young is President of the Arlington Park Jockey Club) were: Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Witter, Colonel and Mrs. Leon Mandel, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks McCormick.

Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. James A. Kemper, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. John L. McCaffrey, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth V. Zweiner, Mr. and Rex Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Bensinger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Alberding, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bering, Mr. and Mrs. Hall Adams, Mrs. John L. Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Block Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hampton Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Hailand Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Applegate, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bowes.

Also: Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Rasmussen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Cruttenden, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Comiskey, Mr. and Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Stern; second, Mr. and Mrs. James Hayes; third, Mrs. Ross Siragusa, Mrs. Max Pray and Mr. Siragusa; fourth, Mrs. Gardner Stern with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Florsheim; fifth, Mrs. Charles M. Dering, Mrs. William T. Young and Mrs. Brooks McCormick.

Homer Hargrave Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Judson Large, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Magnus, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hamil Reidy, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Specht, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner H. Stern.

Guests with General Robert E. Wood (President of the Chicago Boys Clubs) and Mrs. Wood were: Lieutenant General and Mrs. John T. Rettaliata, Merrill Meigs and Mrs. R. R. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cummings Jr., Admiral and Mrs. Richard Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Stepan Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ross Siragusa, Mr. and Mrs. Webb Everett.

Also: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warton, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Swearingen, Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Cobb Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Fentress, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hampton Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore S. Gary, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Crowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Applegate and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lindheimer, Gen. Robert E. Wood and Mrs. Max Pray, Mrs. Brooks McCormick with Col. Leon Mandel.

Education Invading Newport Summer Colony

By HENRY S. WHEELER

More than a half century ago, when Newport's Four Hundred were at the peak of their shining social seasons and society leaders were vying to outdo each other in building more opulent and elaborate summer homes, the venerable Julia Ward Howe, who wrote the everlasting Civil War hymn, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," made a prediction.

Mrs. Howe spent her summers at her home in peaceful Lawton Valley, a few miles from Newport. Yet she mingled with the colonists in Newport, many of whom she knew intimately. She wondered when the rivalry among them in the grand mansions and the great social affairs would stop. And she wrote: "It is within the bounds of possibility that Newport may become an educational center. Fashion may go elsewhere, the rich may tire of their great houses, which could be turned into schools and colleges."

Little did Mrs. Howe know how true, in part, her prophecy made at the turn of the century would come to pass. Society failed to go elsewhere. Newport is as popular and as gay, but in a different way, as it was in Mrs. Howe's day. The rich did not actually tire of their great houses. But times and circumstances turned many of them to a different mode of living in smaller homes and in apartments, some created from the great houses themselves.

But, true to her prophecy, Newport is fast becoming an educational center with the great houses of Mrs. Howe's era being converted into college and preparatory, secondary and specialized schools.

Much of Ochre Point and the Bellevue Avenue area has become an expansive campus for collegiate and secondary school youth. The roads spanning this section of what once was known simply as the summer colony, deserted in the off season, are now peopled the year-round with students. The sedate 250-year old Redwood Library on Bellevue Avenue, with its thousands of old and modern volumes, which years ago was a somnolent institution for many months in the year, now is peopled each day with youthful readers and researchers. The stores on "The Avenue," where in winter months patrons were few and far between, are gay places on winter afternoons when classes are out.

John T. Hopf

"Seaview Terrace," on the Cliffs, former Edson Bradley summer home where Mrs. George Waldo Emerson of the Mary A. Burnham School in Northampton, Mass., established Burnham-by-the-Sea, a summer school for girls, a decade ago. In other seasons, the school is leased to Lloyd Harvey Hatch, headmaster of the Hatch Preparatory School, as his senior school.

John T. Hopf

Ochre Point at Newport. Bellevue Avenue is in the foreground running from left to right; Cliff Walk and Atlantic Ocean in background. Former summer homes of the Four Hundred that dot the area are now the nucleus of the invasion of education into the summer colony. This area is now, in reality, a broad campus for students of Burnham-by-the-Sea, a summer school for girls, and the Hatch Preparatory School for boys.

John T. Hopf

Approach to the Salve Regina College's main building, the former "Ochre Court", gift of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet to establish the college in 1947.

The transition of Mrs. Howe's "great houses" from summer homes to seats of academic activity started in the 1920s when the George Weld estate on Bellevue Avenue was acquired to found De La Salle Academy, a boys' Catholic high school. Even now, though, its exterior appearance presents little change from when it was occupied by the Weld family.

Some years later, Herbert Claiborne Pell, American diplomat and member of Congress, gave his graystone villa at the corner of Bellevue and Narragansett Avenues for conversion into St. Catherine Academy, a Catholic high school for girls.

Not too long after that, the Episcopal Diocese of Rhode Island purchased the huge Spanish style mansion, "Brent Lodge," amid spacious grounds on Lovers' Lane, and vacant for years following the deaths of its two spinster Bostonians, the Misses Ellen and Ida Mason. Here was established a day chool known a St. Michael's.

Next, toward the end of the 1940's, higher education came to occupy Newport's great houses. In 1947, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet presented the mansion on the Cliffs known as "Ochre Court" to the Catholic order of the Sisters of Mercy as the nucleus for a girls' college, named Salve Regina College.

This huge palace, built in 1894 by Ogden Goelet, father of the donor, at an estimated cost of $4,500,000 was designed by Richard Morris Hunt, the noted American architect who drew plans for other Newport mansions. "Ochre Point," a structure on French Gothic lines, built of limestone on six acres, commands a sweeping vista seaward. Much of the material for its 50 rooms was brought in sections from France, even to its stone walls and silver door stops. Floors are of the finest marble.

Into this villa came 54 students in 1947.

1, 2—John T. Hopf

"Honeysuckle Lodge" on the Cliffs, home of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer, now the junior school of the Hatch Preparatory School. Second, "Vernon Court," on Bellevue Avenue, former summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Van Nest Gambrill, of Peapack, N. J., now the middler school of the Hatch Preparatory School. Third, "Rosary Hall," part of the original "Vinland" estate, now used by Salve Regina College as a fine art studio.

Twelve years later, more than 300 young women from all over the world study here. This required an expansion. In 1948, Mr. Goelet gave the huge "Ochre Court" stables to the college for conversion into a residence hall and classrooms. Then came "Moore Hall", given by Cornelius C. Moore of Newport in honor of his parents—a building originally known as "Four Acres" when owned by Dudley Pierrepont Gilbert.

The next accessions comprised "Vinland," the estate of the late Hamilton McKay Twombley, also on the Cliffs. It was given by his daughter, Mrs. William A. M. Burden. "McAuley Hall," the main residence, was named for Mother Catherine McAuley, who founded the order in Ireland, many years ago. Satellites of "McAuley Hall," once residences on the estate, are "Rosary," "Angelus" and "Marion Halls".

The latest college acquisition is "Queen Hall," for residence purposes. It is another of the Bellevue Avenue mansions, long the summer home of Miss Louise B. Scott.

While Salve Regina College was being established, a Massachusetts educator, Mrs. George Waldo Emerson, who for years had conducted girls' schools in the Bay State, envisioned the possibilities of converting the long vacant "Seaview Terrace", on the Cliffs, into a summer school for girls.

This is a 52-room French Renaissance villa, built by the late Edson Bradley in 1925 at a cost of more than $2,000,000. After his death, it became the property of the city of Newport for tax purposes. Mrs. Emerson acquired it from the city, renovated it throughout and named it Burnham-by-the-Sea, after

Continued on Page 62

John T. Hopf

"Midcliffe House," on the Cliffs, former summer home of Mrs. Perle Mesta of Washington, acquired by Mrs. George Waldo Emerson of Northampton, Mass., as an adjunct to her girls school, Burnham-by-the-Sea. "Midcliffe House" adjoins "Fairholme," summer estate of Mrs. Robert R. Young of Palm Beach. It was once owned by the John R. Drexels. Second, "McAuley Hall," a part of Salve Regina College, was formerly the main residence at "Vinland," the Hamilton McKay Twombly estate, which was given to the college in 1955 by a daughter, Mrs. William A. M. Burden. Third, "Ochre Court," the main building of Salve Regina College. The building, given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet to establish the college in 1947, was built in 1894 by his father, Ogden Goelet, and contains more than 50 rooms.

2, 3—John T. Hopf

St. Michael's School on Lover's Lane, once the summer home of the Misses Ida and Ellen Mason of Boston, when it was known as "Brent Lodge." St. Michael's is a day school sponsored by the Episcopal Diocese of Rhode Island. Second, "Fairlawn" on Bellevue Avenue, formerly property of Mr. and Mrs. I. Townsend Burden, now a part of the Hatch Preparatory School. Third, "Stoneacre," once owned by the William Goadby Loews, of New York City, on Bellevue Avenue, now a part of the Hatch Preparatory School.

Enjoying the Arlington Country Club pool, from the left: Mr. and Mrs. Phil Dixon and son, Woody, with Lyn and Susan Willbanks, nephew and niece of the Dixons'. Second, Mrs. Loyce Oliver and Mrs. Peggy Harp, of Shawnee, Oklahoma on the Garden Roof of the Hotel. Third, Miss Sara Hagy, of Hot Springs, by the pool.

The Arlington Hotel

At Hot Springs, Arkansas

By SALLY SLOANE

THIS GOLFING PARADISE of the great Southwest will welcome the cream of the country's top women amateur golfers with the opening of the Trans-Mississippi tournament September 7th through the 12th.

It is scheduled to be played over the challenging par 72 Arlington course, setting of the Arlington Open each spring. Many of the links ladies are planning to arrive early at the Arlington Hotel, headquarters for the tournament, in order to get in some practice rounds.

The Trans-Mississippi is regarded as one of the classiest tournaments in the amateur world of golf. Approximately 176 women will tee off opening day. Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tennessee is defending champion.

Judy, who took the Women's Southern crown this year, is expected to meet some tough competition in one of Hot Springs' most notable women golfers—Mrs. J. J. Miller, four times winner of the Arkansas Women's annual golf jamboree. A wide range of festivities will feature the tournament and a large number of the fair golfers will be accompanied by their husbands.

The brilliant opening premiere of the Arlington's exotic Cascades pool on the scenic mountain directly back of the Arlington was a highlight of the fashionable Hot Springs social season.

Mrs. Joy Manning Scott of Austin, Texas, youthful owner of the Arlington and Mr. Scott were hosts to notables from around the Southwestern states at a sumptuous cocktail and buffet supper party marked with ribbon cutting ceremonies by Hot Springs officials.

The Arlington's Cascades pool is unique in design—circular in shape, but with a split level architecture, water falls from one section of the pool, cascades into the second pool. There is a decorative runway across the center while expansive patios including a dance floor form the recreation area enhanced by pretty pines and shrubbery.

Personalities enjoying the opening were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Malone of Roswell, Texas. Mr. Malone is president of the American Bar Association.

Roland Irvine, vice president of Chase National Bank, New York was among a group of bank magnates attending the pool premiere. Others included Mr. and Mrs. Norflett Turner and John E. Brown of Memphis. Mr. Turner holds the presidential reins of the First National Bank of Memphis and Mr. Brown of the Union Planters National Bank. Also Mr. and Mrs. Jack Conn of Ada, Oklahoma. Mr. Conn is president of the Oklahoma Bankers Association.

More celebrants on hand were Dallas residents Mr. and Mrs. J. Lewell Lafferty and Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Meara and from Kansas City, Missouri, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Neely and Nashville, Mr. and Mrs. David A. Ramage.

A distinguished twosome from the Nation's Capital were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gidney. Mr. Gidney is Comptroller of the Currency.

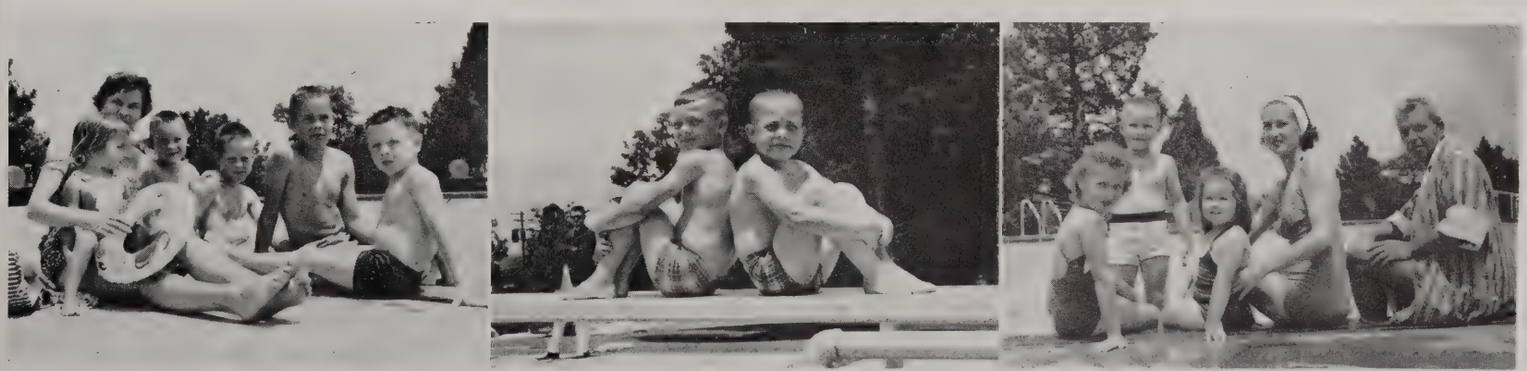
The Arlington, long a favorite of Arkansas statesmen, continues to attract nationally known statesmen and back for another visit with his attractive wife was Senator John L. McClellan. Enjoying some much needed rest, the Senator found time to slip out before sunrise to fish in Lake Ouachita for big-mouthed bass.

Other distinguished Arkansas statesmen adding their charm to the Arlington are Congressman and Mrs. W. F. Norell. Mrs. Norrell, one of the Capital's favorite hostesses, was chosen as president of the Congressional Club in Washington this year. The club is composed of the wives and daughters of members of Congress, the Senate, Cabinet and the United States Supreme Court.

While Hot Springs National Park is a great recreational area, its chief claim to fame are its health-giving thermal waters. Hot Springs is one of America's oldest and greatest spas.

The 520-room Arlington is air-conditioned throughout. The cuisine presented by Chef Jean Roux offers a choice of both Southern and French dishes.

R. E. McEachin is the well-known general manager.



All photos by Sally Sloane

Seen at the Arlington Hotel's Country Club pool, from the left: Mrs. Frank Button and children, Sally, David, John and Robbie, of Denver, Colorado, and their playmate, Jack McDaniel. Second, Latt and Carl Bachelor, with their father, George Bachelor, in the background. Third, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Dodson and their children, Terri, Tommy Jr., and Lee.

Mrs. Fred Dierks, of Hot Springs, and daughter, Kathy. Second, Carol and Janet Kucera, of Clarkson, Nebraska on the Arlington grounds. Third, Mrs. M. O. Hunsucker with her children, Karla and Eric, of Bedford, Indiana. Fourth, Senator J. D. Parler, of St. George, South Carolina, displays two big mouth bass he caught in Lake Hamilton during his twentieth visit to the Hotel with Mrs. Parler.

Members of the Outdoor Writers Association displaying prizes won in the National Professional Fresh Water Fishing Championship, from the left: Wally Taber, of Denver, Colorado, fourth place; Ed Kennan, Burlington, Vermont, first place; Hurley Campbell, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, fifth place. Second, Winthrop Rockefeller, owner of the nationally known Winrock Farms at Petit Jean Mountains, dining at the Arlington. Third, eighth hole on the Arlington course, setting for the Trans-Mississippi Women's Golf Tournament in September.

her Mary C. Burnham School in Northampton.

For seven weeks each summer, 100 young women gather there to absorb the varied culture that is Newport's.

Next, Mrs. Emerson bought "Midcliffe House," also on the Cliffs and directly next to the summer home of Mrs. Robert R. Young, for younger members of her student body. Later she purchased the estate of the late William Woodward, "The Cloisters," from Mrs. Young, for school activities.

But the use of Burnham-by-the-Sea is by no means limited for academic purposes to the brief weeks of summer. As soon as Mrs. Emerson's girls had departed, the first year, the huge building was taken over by Lloyd Harvey Hatch, as headquarters of the preparatory school of his name, established in 1951. His senior school occupies it the remainder of the year.

Mr. Hatch later acquired the former "Honeysuckle Lodge," the former T. Suffern Tailer home on the Cliffs, for his junior school. Next to join the Hatch group was "Vernon Court," on Bellevue Avenue, formerly owned by the Richard Van Nest Gambrills of Peapack, N. J., for the middler school. In addition, he purchased "Fairlawn," the I. Townsend Burden summer estate on Bellevue Avenue, and "Stoneacre," formerly owned by the W. Goadby Loews, also on Bellevue Avenue, for school purposes.

On the harbor side of Newport, overlooking Brenton Cove, the rendezvous for yachts each summer, stands "Beacon Rock," high on a bluff over the water. Built many years ago by the late Edward D. Morgan, it later was occupied by Marion Eppley.

Bert and Richard Morgan Studio

George E. Vigouroux Jr., of Palm Beach

Some years ago, "Beacon Rock," with its broad gardens and stark cliff on the water side, became the property of the well-known sculptor, Felix W. de Weldon, who there established and directs the Newport Academy of Fine Arts. Dr. de Weldon, whose work is well known in this country and abroad, was the sculptor of the heroic Iwo Jima monument, the Marine Corps memorial, in Washington.

This resume bears out the prophecy of Mrs. Howe made many years ago, when she envisioned Newport's great houses being turned into schools and colleges. Perhaps the trend will continue.

But there is a paradox. This change from social to academic use of so many of these houses fails to change the general picture of Newport as a summer resort. Most of the families who occupy the huge mansions, now used as schools, have merely changed their mode of living from the castles of other years to small cottages and apartments. It merely means that another facet, the facet of education, is being added to the many-sided Newport.

Wianno Club

THE SUMMER SEASON at the Wianno Club, on the south shore of Massachusetts' Cape Cod, got under way July 4th with the traditional holiday dance. More than 350 members of the Club and their guests danced to the music of Ken Reeves and his orchestra. Ken Reeves and his music have been playing at the Club continually for the past 17 years.

Among the many special parties given was one by Mr. and Mrs. William R. Baker Jr., of New York and Wianno. Mr. Baker is chairman of the board of Benton and Bowles, Inc. of New York City. Among the guests were Palm Beachites Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O. Wellman of Boston and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. White of Scarsdale, N. Y.

The annual Board of Governors Party at the Wianno Club, Cape Cod, July 5th, heralded the beginning of the 43rd season of the famed Cape Cod Club resort. On that day more than 350 members and their guests welcomed in the season in the main ballroom. Among those present, in the foreground: Byron Ramsing (center left), Mrs. Wiley Reynolds, Mrs. Byron Ramsing (back to camera), and Arthur O. Wellman, all year round or winter residents of Palm Beach.

All photos—Lockwood Studio

From the left: George Rowland, chairman of the Wianno Club Golf Committee; Byron K. Elliott and Albert W. Rockwood, all of Boston and Wianno.

The Club has provided every facility not only for those staying at the Club, but for the members in the community. The Junior Activities Day Camp has an enrollment of 35 subteeners (three to six years) who spend their mornings learning swimming and water safety and their afternoons in concentrated arts and crafts programs. For the teenage group there is tennis, sailing and dancing—and for all parents Wianno Club's private beach, 18-hole golf course and excellent tennis club.

Saturday nights' gala dances feature the orchestras of Ralph Stuart of Providence, Harry Marshard, Herbie Sulkin and Sammy Eisen of Boston, in addition to Ken Reeves and his Wianno orchestra, featured at the Wednesday night informal dances.

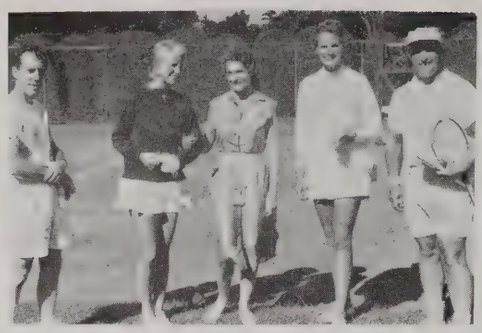
At the Wianno Club, from the left: Robert W. White, Scarsdale, N. Y., and Palm Beach, president of the Wianno Club, and, Mr. and Mrs. John P. McWilliams, Shaker Heights, Ohio. Mr. White is a member of the Everglades Club of Palm Beach.

This season is proving to be one of the gayest and busiest in many a summer for this Club community. Reservations have indicated an extremely active and favorable trend well into the month of September.

At the Wianno opening party for the 43rd summer season, from the left: Mrs. Arthur O. Wellman, Boston and Palm Beach with J. Davis Danforth, exectuive vice president of Betton, Batton, Durstine & Osborn, New York. Second, Mr. Wellman and Mrs. Seth Heywood, Wianno. Third: Mr, and Mrs. Everett W. Cady, New York City. He is senior partner of Cady, Roberts & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange.

Summer at The Seigniory

By HILDA TURNER



The annual members' and guests' tennis tournament was held at the Seigniory Club in August. Last season the finalists were left to right: G. Sauve, Lachute, P. Q., Miss Betty Ann Asche, Houston, Texas, ladies' champion, Mrs. G. E. Keith, Brockton, Mass., who presented the prizes, Miss Lynne Kenny, Montclair, N. J., runner up and men's champion J. Bourgoing, Lachute.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Kemp, Ottawa, at the Log Chateau.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Benn Jr., Montreal, at the Sugarbush Cabin in the northern section of the Seigniory Club's 104 square mile estate.

J. B. Brown, (right) president of the Seigniory Golf Club, and Jimmy Patton, golf pro (left) won low net in the Club's pro-amateur golf tournament. Mr. Brown also had low net in the Club's invitational golf tournament and received the Elysian Fields Tankard.

Winners in the mixed invitation golf tournament, from the left: Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Martin, Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club, who won the Tremblay Trophies with low net; right, Miss A. Boyce and W. R. Mayo, Ottawa Rivermeed, who won the Hackney Trophies.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Keyworth Jr., Gardner, Mass., on the grounds of the Seigniory Club.

Mrs. R. Lyle, Montreal Kanawaki Golf Club, who won the Seigniory's 28th annual 36-hole invitation golf tournament for the second consecutive year to lead the field of 49 players. She was the only player to play from scratch.

WITH TENNIS MATCHES at their heights and gala evenings, golf tournaments and barn dances impending, summer life at the Seigniory Club in Quebec Province is a gay and amusing one. The Senior international tennis matches for the Gordon trophy August 14-16 created a fine international situation on the courts with Canadian and U. S. competitors taking part in the eleventh annual singles and doubles matches which rotate each season between the two countries; equally important to the young participants was the annual Members' and Guests' tournament August 8-9.

The name of the Seigniory course has already appeared in the history of golf on this continent and it has already made history. All the country's top players have decided that these up-hill-and-down-dale 18 holes call for golf, real golf, and those members and their guests who have scored here in the low figures deserve congratulations. One club member, R. B. Scott, Montreal, distinguished himself during the recent twenty-eighth annual invitation tourney by scoring a hole-in-one on the 153-yard 13th hole but finished 13 strokes off the leader's, G. E. Fenwick's (Ottawa Rivermead) 36 hole total of 150. A field of over a hundred golfers from Ontario, Quebec and the United States participated in the largest two-day tournament ever held here.

There were other exciting moments during golf week . . . Mrs. R. Lyle, Kanawaki, shot a record 3 over par 78 in the first round of the women's 36 hole invitation tournament. It was good enough, combined with her second round 85, to win the tournament for the second consecutive year. Tall, slim Mrs. Lyle, always attractively turned out for her favorite game, in which she plays from scratch, experienced little difficulty on the Seigniory's narrow fairways and tricky greens. She was feted and congratulated at the president's cocktail party, held at the residence of Mrs. G. E. A. McCain, Montreal member

The 300 South Ocean Boulevard Cooperative Homes

Bert and Richard Morgan Studio

Above is Architect Howard Chilton's sketch of the new 300 South Ocean Boulevard Cooperative Apartment Homes being erected on the oceanfront between Royal Palm Way and Brazilian Avenue.

It will be ready for occupancy in December 1959, according to present plans, and will contain 40 five- and six-room apartments on the first five floors, and five penthouses. Each apartment home has open and closed terraces.

A heated salt or fresh water pool and other latest conveniences are included.

Joseph P. Savage, who is president of the 300 South Ocean Boulevard Cooperative Apartments, Inc., and 19 associates are investing $1,400,000 in the Cooperative Apartments. Their desire is to have one of the finest Cooperative Apartment Homes in America for themselves and their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Savage have been coming to Palm Beach since 1927, residing at the Breakers Hotel until they built their present home at 271 Plantation Road, Palm Beach.

Mr. Savage, an attorney, member of the American and Illinois State Bar Associations, has been practicing law for the past 38 years in Chicago with offices in the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company Building. His Chicago home is at 1150 Lake Shore Drive.

He is a member of the Chicago Athletic Association and Post and Paddock Club, Chicago; also member of the Board of Governors, Everglades Club, and member of Bath and Tennis Club, Palm Beach.

Mr. Savage has been very active in civic affairs in the Palm Beaches. He is President of the Board of Trustees, St. Mary's Hospital.

——Seigniory Club

of the resident cabin colony, who presides over feminine golf activities. There were parties galore during golf week, one of the most attractive was at "Waldhaus", the Bavarian chalet high on a mountain top above the Seigniory, when the owners, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hackney, New York, received jointly with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tremblay, Montreal. The Hackney trophies and the Tremblay trophies were presented at this party to the winners of the annual mixed golf tournament, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Martin, Ottawa, receiving the latter for low net and Miss A. Boyce and her partner, W. R. Mayo, Ottawa, the Hackney trophies for low gross 80. J. Bruce Brown, president of the men's section of the golf club, received with Mrs. Brown at a late afternoon party for the golfers at the Manor House. Gaily coloured summer evening dresses and the men's severe black and white found delightful foils in the old fashioned settings provided by the century old Manor House. Mr. Brown was receiving congratulations upon winning The Elysian Fields Tankard for scoring low net 36 holes among senior players. He himself presented the Tankard, a beautiful piece of antique silver, for annual competition some years ago.

The 322-yard 8th hole at the Seigniory Club is a real thriller. Standing on a highly elevated tee, the player looks down and sees little fairway to play to with the creek zig zagging through the valley. There are two tempting ways in which it can be played: the golfer can shoot down to fairway, 180 yards from the tee and have a straight shot into the long run of green which has a heavily wooded bank on one side and the creek on the other; or he can choose to play a longer blind shot to the left. His second shot then has to be a high pitch over the brook with only a narrow part of the green in which to stop his ball.

Golf was again to the fore a few weeks later when Quebec and Ontario pros and amateurs joined forces for the 18th annual Pro-Amateur Tournament. Professionals were joined by an amateur from their own clubs, the two playing as a team of two. Veteran pro, Damien Gauthier of Montreal Municipal golf club and the youthful Alan Johnson, Kanawaki's youthful new professional, led the pro entry. Both posted 1 under par 69 to top the list of 27 pros and 27 amateurs from the various clubs. Jimmy Patton of the host Seigniory Club, Pat Fletcher, Royal Montreal, Jules Hout, Laval-sur-le-Lac and Stan Horne, Islesmere, were next with 72s and Ken Clark, Ottawa Hunt & Golf Club, followed with 73.

J. Bruce Brown, president of the home Seigniory Club and pro Jimmy Patton won low net team award with their combined scores of 74 for the amateur player and 72 pro for 146. The low gross team prize was taken by Royal Montreal's team C. D. Howsen with 76 and Pat Fletcher 72 for a total 148. Howsen's round of 76 was the best amateur return for the day while H. M. Bouchard, Ottawa Rivermead and Dr. Arnold Mitchell, Canadian Professional Golf Association, tied for net honors.

if you save money...

215
South Olive Avenue
TEmple 3-5511

•

301
Southern Boulevard
TEmple 3-2347

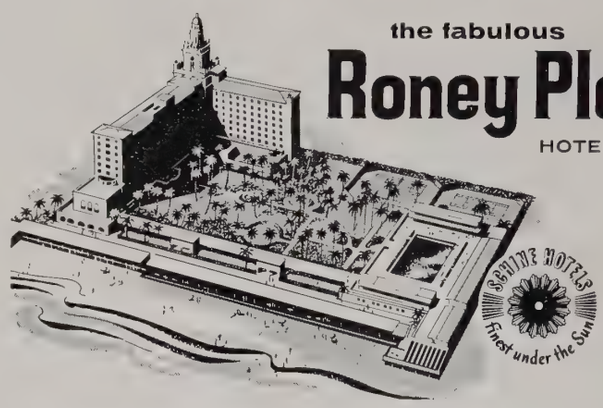
H. Loy Anderson
President

first 1st FEDERAL SAVINGS • LOAN ASSOCIATION
WEST PALM BEACH FLORIDA

WEST PALM BEACH

One of America's really fine resorts

the fabulous
Roney Plaza
HOTEL



A great name, a great hotel—with a charm that sets it apart. Here, enjoy a quarter-mile of private beach, acres of tropical gardens, planned entertainment, activities and sports. Near famed Lincoln Road shops and everything that goes on in this vacation showplace.

Modified American Plan and European Plan available

100% air-conditioned Ample parking TV in every room

7 acres on the ocean at 23rd Street, Miami Beach

Nation's Pee Wee Golf Champions

By TOM ELLIOTT

Roberta Albers and Bill Dudley, both of Tampa, Florida, became National Pee Wee champs in the 10-12 age bracket.

Winners in each group and scores:

Group	Boys	Girls
3-5	Ben Duncan, Quincy, 11	Cynthia Davis, Orlando, 12
6-7	Eddie Pearce, Tampa, 31	Barbara Samulak, Ft. Lauderdale, 44
8-9	Tim Taylor, Brownsville, Tenn. 42	Dickyann Hogshead, Orlando, 67
10-12	Bill Dudley, Tampa, 160	Roberta Albers, Tampa, 160
13-15	Larry Sears, Waycross, Ga., 141	Martha Kosar, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, 192

GOLFERS RANGING FROM three to fifteen years old and from two to six feet tall grabbed their clubs June 13-14 and teed off in the 13th Annual Pee Wee Golf Championship at Orlando, Florida, sponsored by the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce.

The tournament, recognized by the Professional Golfers Association as the championship for 3-15 year old players, drew 250 entries from 34 cities and 11 states. Competitors came from as far as Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, and Covington, Ky., to vie for one of the many trophies presented to winners.

Players in the tourney were divided into five age groups, with separate divisions for boys and girls. The three to five group played two holes; six to seven, five holes; eight to nine, nine holes; ten to twelve and thirteen to fifteen, 36 holes.

Winners in the ten to twelve group are considered National Pee Wee Golf Champions, while the top competitors in the thirteen to fifteen class are the National Senior Pee Wee Golf Champions.

This year Larry Sears, fifteen-year old Waycross, Ga. lad, fired an amazing 70-71 to cop the Senior Championship and set a new record for the meet. His score was only one over par for the Dubsdread course, where the event was held.

Martha Kosar, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, and Larry Sears, Waycross, Ga., copped the National Senior Pee Wee Championships. Senior players are 13-15 years old.

In the girls' Senior Division, Martha Kosar, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, repeated her victory of last year. This was Martha's fourth Pee Wee Championship. She captured the ten to twelve group's top spot for two years before moving into the Senior Division.

In the ten to twelve age group, Bill Dudley, Tampa, snared his second win in that class. He won the event in 1957. Roberta Albers also pulled a repeat in the girls' division, taking the same title she won last year.

This year's Pee Wee meet drew a record 250 competitors, 200 more than the first event in 1946. Origin of the Pee Wee is traceable to Fred Crews, who worked for a firm that handled Orlando's public relations in 1946. He secured the cooperation of Orlando's daily newspapers and the first meet was held March 15, 1946.

This little fellow had real troubles in the sand trap.

Mothers anxiously followed their offsprings around the course, silently prodding them on.

Plenty of color was injected into this year's competition. Larry Sears' 141 for 36 holes bettered the old record by six strokes. Ben Hogan Perry, named by his golf pro father for the famous shot-maker, played in the eight-year old class. Heidi Bauer Hagge, daughter of the well-known professional, slammed away in the three year group.

The tourney was directed by W. F. (Bill) Cairns, well-known organizer of professional and amateur meets.

Beach Club Hotel

NAPLES-ON-THE-GULF, FLORIDA

This outstanding resort hotel offers complete recreational facilities, 18-hole championship golf course, three all-weather tennis courts, safe surf bathing, water skiing, bowling-on-the-green, shuffleboard.

Wonderful food and luxurious tropical atmosphere. Appointments second to none. Exclusive informal living where personalized service is a tradition.

Brochure available on request

Important Things Are Happening at Palm Beach Isles

Build Your Florida Dockside Home at

For those who want to live on an island (and nearly everyone does), the big news is spreading fast: Palm Beach Isles is alive with building activity! Have you seen or heard the latest about Palm Beach Isles?

Located on Singer Island, just 1½ miles north of Palm Beach Inlet.
For details and brochure, visit or write:

Palm Beach Isles Sales Corporation
3819 Ocean Dr. Riviera Beach, Fla., VI 4-9869
BROKER COOPERATION INVITED

WHEN Sportsmen GATHER..
NATURALLY THE TALK IS RYBOVICH!
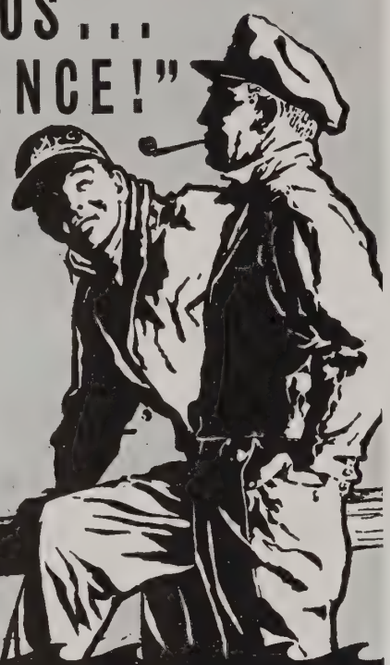
"STYLE PLUS... PERFORMANCE!"



Rybovich craft are recognized by sportsmen the world over for leadership in style, speed, stamina and sea worthiness!

Custom Designers and Builders of High Performance Sport Cruisers for the Discriminating Sportsman.

40TH YEAR

RYBOVICH & SONS BOAT WORKS
4200 NORTH DIXIE WEST PALM BEACH, FLORIDA — Victor 4-4331

YOU ALWAYS $AVE at CONGRESS LOW PRICE LIQUORS
Directly Opposite Farmers Market

Full Quart Whiskey Reg. 6.10 — 4.79 Qt. — 8-yr. Old Scotch REG. 7.15 5.49 fifth

Imported RUM Reg. 4.65 2.99 fifth 3 for 8.75 — Scotch DIST. & BOTTLED IN SCOTLAND 4.89 fifth 3 for 14.25 — DISTILLED London Dry GIN 2.98 fifth 3 for 8.75

BONDED Bourbon 100 PROOF 3.98 fifth 3 for 11.50 — Kentucky Whiskey 3.19 fifth — Nationally Adv. Canadian Whiskey Reg. 6.50 5.75 fifth

LIBERAL SAVINGS ON ALL NATIONAL BRANDS BY THE CASE

4 STORES TO SERVE YOU 4
For FREE DELIVERY call TE 2-0500, TE 2-1800

- 15th St. at Henrietta, 2 Blocks West of Dixie Hwy.
- So. Blvd. and Military Tr. — Open Sunday 2 P.M.-Midnight
- Congress Ave., Opposite Farmers Mkt. — Open Sunday 2-7 P.M.
- Carnival Club Military Trail, Just South of Southern Blvd.

Open Daily 'Til 2 A.M. — Sunday 'Til Midnight.

The Halekulani beach through the graceful coco palms with majestic Diamond Head in the background.

on the Islands of Desire

By MARGUERITE ALLEN

"There's a schooner in the offing
With her topsails shot with fire
And my heart has gone aboard her
For the Islands of Desire."

Richard Hovey, The Sea Gypsy

THE EVER-GLAMOROUS Canary Islands, the now-popular Caribbean Islands, the still-remote Islands of Oceania — who now knows the flight plan of Richard Hovey's dreams, when he wrote this charming bit of verse? Yet somehow, almost a hundred years later, the thoughts sparked by this Illinois-born poet continues to stir the imagination — to conjure up visions of magical Diamond Head, soft strains of Polynesian rhythms, and the lush tropical beauty of the Hawaiian Islands, now our very own Islands of Desire.

A blend of many romantic moods, exotic cultures, exciting panoramas, are part of the delightfully complex personality possessed by the islands that now make up our 50th State — Kauai, Oahu, Maui, Hawaii, Lanai, and Molokai. The discriminating traveler seeking the South Seas' paradise of the storybook legend, still can find it in the Hawaiian Islands if he knows where to look.

A winning twosome is The Halekulani in Honolulu on the Island of Oahu, and the Hotel Hana-Maui at Hana on the Island of Maui. You'll find that both of these idyllic resorts have preserved the inherent charm of Polynesia, the real reason for a visit to the Hawaiian Islands, while at the same time providing the visitor with every luxury in resort living.

The rugged grandeur of the Maui coast near the Hana-Maui is but one of the breathtaking panoramas which unfold before the traveler's eyes in this true paradise of the Pacific.

Although huge modern caravansaries now dot the beach, you'll find the true flavor of the South Seas at the Halekulani. This enchanting, rambling resort, with cottages galore dotting its 5-acre, coconut-grove and flower-filled estate, is right on the beach at Waikiki.

Hawaiian Prince and Princess, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Pitman visit Hawaii for the first time and stop at the Halekulani. Mr. Pitman's family records show his name as Prince Keloa-o-ka-lani. His great-grandfather, also named Benjamin Pitman, married a Hilo (Hawaii) Chiefess, Ahia. Second, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover Jr., relax in front of their cottage at the Hotel Hana-Maui. Third, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Field Jr., on their arrival at the Hana-Maui.

Here you can have your cake and eat it too, for The Halekulani is within minutes of the entertainment, night-life, and restaurants of Honolulu. Yet once you set foot on its grounds, you are in the Hawaii of your dreams.

The Halekulani has been operated by the Kimball family for many years, which is your assurance that here old fashioned innkeeping is still in keeping. A unique family-like esprit de corps exists among the entire staff, which makes them all sincerely solicitous of your comfort and happiness.

Guests visiting Hana-Maui cannot make reervations for less than a four-day period. It is Mr. Fagan's philosophy that it takes that long for the tensions of modern living to wear off, so that one can enjoy that paradise he has created for them.

Heavenly Hana, as it is fondly called, is just that too. The lush gardens, largely the result of the imagination of Mrs. Fagan, are filled with a collection of exquisite and unusual tropical plants, imported from all over the world.

Accommodations at Hana-Maui, ably managed by Robert Butterfield, are in cottage units. They are de luxe in every respect, with one exception, if you can call it that! There are no telephones in the rooms, although there is one in each unit to connect with the main building, and one in the main building to connect with the outside world. The reason — Hana-Maui was built for people to relax, rather than to continue to exhaust themselves with worldy interests.

Situated on a hillside overlooking the dramatic Maui coast, the Hana-Maui has a garden plunge, a fine pitch and putt golf course

ATLANTIC PALMS

For you who appreciate the luxury of quiet dignified apartment living in a serene atmosphere, the beautifully decorated and centrally heated Atlantic Palms apartments is the answer to your needs. These beautiful spacious apartments, in charming landscaped surroundings are located in the north section of Palm Beach and noted for their accessibility. One and two bedroom apartments twin-bedded, furnished with maid service, available for season from November 1st thru April 30th.

Under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Goessel

220 Atlantic Avenue, Palm Beach, Florida

WE INVITE YOU

TO

Home Federal SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION OF PALM BEACH

316 ROYAL PALM WAY • PALM BEACH, FLORIDA • TE 2-3738

Complete Facilities

For Savings and Home Financing

$3\frac{1}{2}\%$

Current Dividend

OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS

CHARLES B. FULTON, President and Chairman
WADE D. KEY, Executive Vice President
BILLY B. BURNS, Vice President
JAMES K. SIEBRECHT, Vice President
JOHN H. COUSE, Treasurer
MARY A. BENTLEY, Assistant Secretary
WILLIAM LAMAR ALLEN WILLIAM E. BIPPUS JAMES R. BRANCH, Jr.
WILLIAM E. FEEK JOHN STETSON KIRK SULLIVAN

Member Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation

Finest Name in Fragrance

MARY CHESS

A tradition among discerning women . . .

At home or away -- you can rely on Mary Chess for the ultimate in perfumes, toilet waters, sachets, bath preparations and cosmetics. At the best shops only.

TEQUESTA

on the LOXAHATCHEE

PROGRESS REPORT

Everyone likes to hear a success story! Since the beginning of this unique Country Club community on Florida's climatically ideal east coast, Tequesta has enjoyed gratifying acceptance and international interest. More than a third of the homesites are sold and many homes are completed or under way.

Tequesta itself is the result of the vision and ability of those who made the Jupiter Inlet Beach Colony such a notably successful residential area and the Country Club community is managed by men of known integrity and experience.

The championship course, mentored by PGA Champion, Dow Finsterwald, has been rated among the South's top three layouts. The waterfront community has blossomed into quite a well-known "place to live" with homes dotting the fairways and the meandering Loxahatchee River.

May we offer our advice to you? Plan a visit to Tequesta before the active season starts if you have even the slightest dream of living where sun and fun abound.

Many choice homesites remain for as little as $5200.

Come and SEE Tequesta.
WALTER F. LATHROP, President
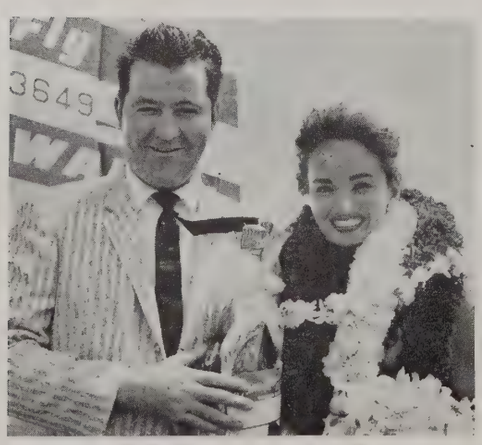
TEQUESTA, INC.
Jupiter, Florida

Brochure "PL" on request, or telephone Jupiter 4501

Lew Ayres, movie and TV star, on the lawn of the Halekulani; second Igor Sikorsky, President of the Sikorsky Aircraft, at the Halekulani; third Mr. and Mrs. Clark Gable (left) and Mrs. Robert Butterfield Jr., on the pitch and putt golf course at the Hotel Hana-Maui; fourth, Deputy Secretary of Defense Thomas Gates and Mrs. Gates on the grounds of the Hana-Maui; fifth, TV star Gary Moore and Mrs. Moore at the Halekulani.



Mr. and Mrs. James McNulty, she is the former Ann Blyth, on their arrival at the Hana-Maui via Hawaiian Airlines. The town of Hana on the island of Maui is one hour by air from Honolulu.

at the door, and a string of horses for riding along the beaches and into the mountain reaches. There is a beach right on Hana Bay in front of the hotel, but even better still is Hana-Maui's own Hamoa Beach, ten minutes distant, with station wagons running to and fro. This is the morning gathering place for sun-soakers, and a buffet luncheon is set up every day for guests who wish to linger all the day through.

Distinguished guests from the world of business, theater, and society, have proven Mr. Fagan's philosophy to be right, for each year more and more discerning travelers are finding their way to this paradise of the Pacific -- heavenly Hana.

Robert Butterfield Jr., (left) Vice President and General Manager of the Hotel Hana-Maui on the island of Maui in the Hawaiian Islands chats with Edwin K. Hastings, internationally popular and renowned hotelier on his visit to The Hani-Maui.

Diamond Head Terrace of the Halekulani Hotel where guests meet for sunset cocktails and listen to old Hawaiian songs at water's edge on Waikiki beach.

De luxe Hanahou suites at the Hotel Hana-Maui face the pitch and putt golf course. All have enclosed living lanai, separate bedroom and dressing room.

La Marick — South's Largest and Leading Beauty System

A Coiffure just for you by La Marick's

Trained Staff of Stylists

Featured in our Salons:
La Marick Permanents and Shampoos — among the world's finest

We use only professional and nationally advertised products: Helene Curtis, Roux, Clairol, Revlon and La Marick.

Belk's Department Store

Belk's La Marick Beauty Salon

305 Clematis St. Phone TE 3-1609

West Palm Beach

WORRELL'S

FINE FURNITURE • INTERIORS

Interpreters of your own Good Taste

For over 20 years we have catered to the most discriminating clientele the length of Florida's east coast.

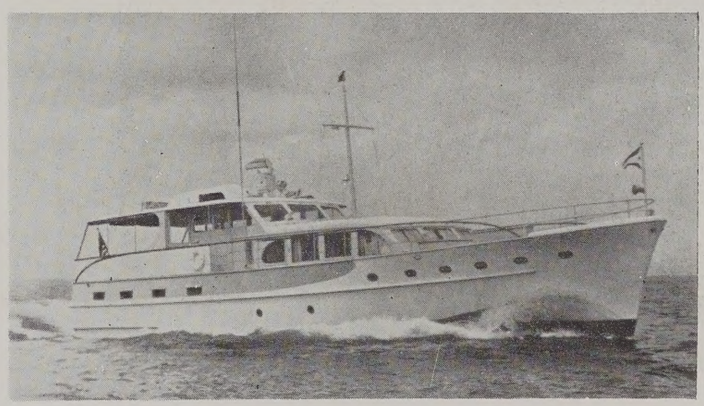
For References

"Ask your neighbor"

Our New Location

301 ROYAL POINCIANA PLAZA

TEmple 2-4183



SALES - CHARTERS

NATIONAL COVERAGE

Inquiries regarding your yachting requirements are earnestly invited.

William G. Hobbs Yacht Sales

205 — 6TH STREET P. O. BOX 1206
WEST PALM BEACH, FLA. PHONE TE 3-1643

Member Southern Yacht Brokers Association

The Belmont Spring Ball

The Belmont Spring Ball, held at the John S. Phipps estate in Old Westbury, L.I., again benefitted the Lenox Hill Neighborhood House, 331 E. 70th Street, in New York City, for the second consecutive year.

Mrs. Joseph Walker Jr., was general chairman of the Ball. Mrs. Charles N. Breed Jr., and Mrs. Jackson Burke were co-chairmen of the dinner committee, Mayor and Mrs. Robert F. Wagner, honorary chairmen of the patrons and patronesses; Mrs. Joseph A. Meehan, chairman of awards; Mrs. Edward C. Lord II, chairman of decorations; Harcourt Amory Jr., and Mrs. Edward H. Gerry, program co-chairmen; Mrs. Thomas M. Bancroft Jr., and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry Jr., junior committee co-chairmen.

Other members of the dinner committee included Mmes. Charles E. Brown, R. Thornton Wilson Jr., Cortright Wetherill, Anthony Villa, James Butler, Arthur O. Choate Jr., Daniel G. Van Clief, Alfred Corning Clark, J. Averell Clark Jr., Walter C. Teagle Jr., Alan L. Corey Jr., John McNamee Sullivan, George P. Denny Jr., Robert E. Strawbridge Jr., Charles W. Stitzer Jr., Anthony M. Del Balso, Winston F. C. Guest, James M. Snowden, Gerard S. Smith, Walter M. Jeffords Jr., M. Wing Kerr, George C. Sherman Jr., Robert S. Salant, John O. Needles, Edward M. McIlvain and John A. Morris.

All Photos—Bert and Richard Morgan Studio

Mrs. Thomas Bancroft Jr., and Henry Platt; Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Salmon Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Morris (she is the former Edna Brokaw); Mrs. Stephen Sanford dancing with Winston Guest; Mr. and Mrs. Guilford Dudley Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Garrett; Mr. and Mrs. George Zauderer; Mr. and Mrs. Winston Guest; Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Stevens II; Mrs. Molly Netcher Bragno and Albert C. Bostwick Jr.

Former Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith dancing with his daughter, Mrs. William L. Hutton, the former Virginia C. Smith; Mrs. James Snowden with John W. Hanes, president of the New York Racing Association; Miss Dorothy Lunken and T. Dennie Boardman; Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Shirley Sr.; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Leas (she is the former Fernanda Wanamaker.)

FOR FINEST FOOD AND FROLIC

YOUR ENTERTAINMENT HEADQUARTERS

the YANKEE CLIPPER — A GILL HOTEL • FORT LAUDERDALE

Directly on the Ocean — Completely Air Conditioned

PRIVATE POOL — PRIVATE BALCONIES EVERY ROOM

FREE TV IN EVERY ROOM

The POLYNESIAN ROOM
Exotic South Sea Island Revue. Dining, dancing and entertainment.

The GALLEY COFFEE SHOP
Informal come-as-you-are dining from breakfast through late supper.

The WRECK LOUNGE
Amazing replica of a sunken galleon on the ocean floor. Cocktails and entertainment.

The CLIPPER ROOM
One of the world's truly great gourmet dining rooms, high in the sky, overlooking the Atlantic. Nightly entertainment.

the Escape — A GILL HOTEL • FORT LAUDERDALE

At the Beach — Completely Air Conditioned

PRIVATE POOL — FREE TV IN EVERY ROOM

9 HOLE PITCH 'N' PUTT GOLF COURSE

The NASSAU DINING ROOM
Excellent American cuisine. Winter season entertainment.

The NASSAU LOUNGE
Finest cocktails and nightly entertainment in the area's favorite late-evening rendezvous.

The OUTDOOR BALI BAR
Snacks and cocktails. "Cook-outs" and special parties. Dancing and entertainment under the stars.

the JOLLY ROGER — A GILL HOTEL • FORT LAUDERDALE

Directly on the Ocean — Completely Air Conditioned

PRIVATE POOL — FREE TV IN EVERY ROOM

The ROGUE'S ROOST LOUNGE
Revel in the pirate past in this unique lounge. Entertainment nightly. Dinner served until 11 p.m.

The ANCHOR DINING ROOM
Finest American specialties.

The CROW'S NEST
Perfect spot for sun, snacks and drinks on the Jolly Roger roof.

And for a Vacation with a Foreign Flavor, It's the

The British Colonial — A GILL HOTEL

COMPLETELY AIR CONDITIONED

TWO PRIVATE BEACHES– PRIVATE POOL

FREE TV IN EVERY ROOM — 9 HOLE PAR 3 GOLF COURSE

Nassau's Center of Fun and Night Life!

LA CAGE SUPPER CLUB • HONG KONG ROOM

THE BRITANNIA BAR

Incomparable food and cocktails.
Dancing and entertainment nightly.

The COFFEE HOUSE — Moderate Prices

GILL HOTELS • NASSAU, BAHAMAS • FORT LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA

Mr. Douglas with his Lincoln Premiere Landau—and the new Douglas DC-8 jetliner

"Design is the vital thing– and Lincoln proves it beautifully,"

says planebuilder Donald Douglas, chairman of the board, Douglas Aircraft Company.

World pioneer and already legendary leader in aircraft production. Dynamic designer and engineer. Rugged individualist. Sportsman. This is the man who directs Douglas Aircraft. The kind of man for whom we planned and built the magnificent 1959 Lincoln.

A man who responds to Lincoln's classic, dramatically simple lines. And who can fully appreciate the luxurious spaciousness provided in this distinctive design. A spaciousness that lets you step in and out with ease. That gives you more head room, more leg room and foot room than any other car in America.

And Lincoln furnishes its spacious interiors with unparalleled elegance. You sit in seats the height of a fine armchair. You are surrounded with specially loomed fabrics, handcrafted leathers and superb coachwork.

Donald Douglas, a man accustomed to the finest, is quick to recognize value and distinction and refinement. We invite you to do as he did—compare Lincoln with any of the other fine cars. We feel sure that you, too, will find this is the year to change to Lincoln.

Donald Douglas seated in his office with models of two of his most famous planes, the DC-3 which made aviation history—and the DC-8 jetliner, another Douglas masterpiece of design and construction soon to be introduced.

Lincoln

Classic beauty...unexcelled craftsmanship

LINCOLN DIVISION • FORD MOTOR COMPANY